

PANICKY FRENCH VOTE HUGE FUND FOR MUNITIONS

ing came after the chamber finance committee had pledged itself to vote whatever the country needed for defense.

The war budget voted is nearly $30,000,000 francs less than that of last year, but there was no emergency appropriation then such as that granted today. Last year's war budget was 5,974,188,000 francs (at that time approximately $358,000,000.) Navy and air budgets are separate matters from that of war.

Russia Offers Aid
A budget reporter informed the French parliament today that Russia had offered France its huge army in the event of conflict with Germany, although government officials termed his description of the circumstances as "exaggerated."

The announcement of an "offer" was made by Leon Archimbaud, the reporter for the finance committee, in presenting France's war budget to the legislature.

"Russia has a strong and well-equipped army which she offers us in case of conflict with Germany," stated Archimbaud.

"Reichsteuher Hitler of Germany does not observe the (Versailles) treaty."

"Russia gave us the first warning and an understanding is arranged between us."

He pictured Russia's huge military machine working with France as "the only means" of maintaining the peace of Europe.

Russia Gives Warning
Col. Jean Fabry, former minister of war, asserted that France's knowledge of German rearmament, the details of German troops, and information regarding the secret manufacture of arms and airplanes in Germany came from Russia.

Archimbaud said he regretted that "twenty years after the war we are obliged to go back to the old system of European 'equilibrium' but a well-defined union with Russia alone can stabilize Europe and assure peace."

Louis Germain-Martin, minister of finance, told how Marshal Petain, former minister of war, had sought to avoid the necessity for France's two-year military service by spending more money on armaments and swelling the army's ranks by voluntary enlistment.

Archimbaud said that some army chiefs had impeded reenlistments, which Deputy Chouffet suggested, because they sought to make increased compulsory service imperative.

White King Adds New Health Soap To Popular Line

Women everywhere will welcome the recent announcement of the White King soap company of a new toilet soap designed to meet all the needs of the active modern-day life.

Word of this new product was brought to Medford today by Leonard Fish, representative in this section of Oregon for the White King Soap company.

A-Plus Health soap is the name of this new product, and according to its makers it is distinctly different from any other health soap now on the market. Made from entirely new materials, formerly considered unusable in the manufacture of soap, and containing such ingredients as aromatic oils that are imported for soap making exclusively by the White King Soap company, A-Plus is the first new departure in soap making in many years.

Months were spent in gathering scores of new materials never before used in soap making, and new processes were tried until a proper method was developed that would produce the desired results. All of the analytical resources of chemistry and manufacturing ability were called upon before A-Plus was considered ready for presentation to the public.

Mann Auto Service Adds New Industry Custom-Built Bodies

One of the rapidly growing industries of this city is Mann's Auto Service, owned and managed by Ed Mann and B. E. Adams. In the plant, established by this concern at 1729 North Riverside avenue, custom-built truck delivery bodies are manufactured, and already a staff of five men is maintained to handle the steadily growing business.

Truck bodies are completely built to exactly meet specifications of the owner of this Medford firm. Mann-built bodies are used by scores of southern Oregon firms, including Fuhrer's Bakery, Beck's Bakery, Carold J. Parker, and the Rogue River Meat company. Such firms as the Pacific Fruit and Produce company are also recognizing the quality of locally constructed truck bodies.

A fine new job is just being turned out by Mann's Auto Service for Carold J. Parker, and this smart new truck will be seen on the Medford streets in the near future.

CCC BOY'S HEART IS ON WRONG SIDE

ALBANY, N. Y. (UP)—There's no use trying to listen to Ansel Lavelley's heartbeats on the left side of his chest, because his heart is on the right side. The 18-year-old youth is one in 30,000, physicians said.

Dr. G. B. Randall was considerably surprised the other day when, while examining the Civilian Conservation corps recruit, he discovered the rarity.

Lavelley, a resident of Pittsburgh, N. Y., said he first learned that his heart "wasn't in the right place" approximately six years ago. Lavelley's case is congenital, Dr. Randall said. He added that the youth was in excellent physical condition.

Employment Gains During September

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(AP)—An employment gain of 380,000 workers from September to October was reported today by Secretary Perkins.

Part of the gain, but not all, was attributed by Miss Perkins to the end of the textile strike. In October the general employment level stood at the same point recorded for January, 1931.
