representations agreed between themselves today to insist on the continuance of the principles of the Washington naval treaty of 1922.

The representatives of the United States and Great Britain met together and decided to ask the delegation from Japan, the third party to the conversations, for a further explanation of why the Asiatic island empire thinks it should have as large a navy as either the United States or Great Britain.

Both the Anglo-Saxon delegations made it clear that they had no intention whatsoever of granting Japan the tonnage equality which she demands.

(Under the Washington treaty of 1922 Great Britain, the United States, and Japan agreed that the first two nations should have navies equally large while Japan's navy could be 80 per cent as big as either of the others. This 5-5-3 ratio is the fundamental principle of the Washington treaty and one to which the Japanese object as inadequate, Japan claiming the need of as large a battle fleet as the other two nations.)

Following the American-British meeting it was stated that no common front had been decided upon on any formal basis that the delegations were equally opposed to the Japanese demands.

This will make a total of $2000 worth of bonds that have been retired in the past eight months, and the drawing will mark a step further in the program of financial betterment and membership increases that has been underway at the Medford temple during the past year.

Two hundred and fifty were present at the meeting last night, when more than 50 "Baby Elks" initiated into the Royal Order of Buckhounds received their final diplomas as full-fledged lodge members. A turkey treat, in which many fine birds were disposed of followed the Buckhounds' "field meet."

Secretary Ernest Scott announced there will be no lodge session on Nov. 29, which is Thanksgiving, and that the Dec. 6 meeting will be the next on the winter's schedule. Announcement of new members will be initiated about Dec. 12, Scott said.
