Coming Sunday

On Sunday, the Craterian theatre will show a picture that has become one of the year's big box office hits, "One Night of Love," with Grace Moore, star of the Metropolitan opera, in the leading role.

With the glorious voice of Miss Moore heard in numerous selections, both popular and classic, music lovers are promised a real treat.

The picture recently closed a nine weeks engagement in San Francisco, and is now entering its third week in Portland with every indication of becoming a close competitor of the 22 weeks run of "It Happened One Night." Previewed at the Craterian theatre to a private gathering, those who were fortunate enough to see the film at that time were unanimous in praise.

HEXOL GERMICIDE
Will not burn the tissues. A teaspoonful to a quart of warm water effective, safe as a cleansing douche. Hexol has a pleasant odor. Ask your Doctor.

"Demon for Trouble" at Roxy

Bob Steele will provide the action at the Roxy theater Saturday in "A Demon for Trouble." It is said to be a cyclonic drama of love, laughter and slaughter in a land where blue steel glistens, bullets cracked and Death rears the trail!

Comedy and Music in "Merry Widow"

Gay Viennese music, continental joyousness, Parisian revels and charming old world romance blend with massive spectacle and glamorous locales in "The Merry Widow," Ernst Lubitsch's production of the Franz Lehár masterpiece, which opened yesterday at the Craterian theatre to capacity crowds.

Reuniting the triumvirate of Lubitsch, Maurice Chevalier and Jeanette MacDonald, the picture is staged on a spectacular scale, its whimsical comedy, gay humor and charming romance being back-grounded by gorgeous settings and hundreds of beautifully costumed players. The world-beloved music is presented on a scale never possible on the stage. The picture is in every way what might be termed a super-production.

Chevalier, who has always been at home in a uniform, has never been better than as the dashing, rollicking, fun-loving, romantically inspired Danilo whose madcap frolics almost bring a nation to ruin, but who grins everything up again with a grin and a sly wink. Miss MacDonald, stunningly photographed and wearing an array of Adrian-designed costumes which will make every girl in the audience catch her breath, is a brilliant selection for the enchanting Sonia, who proves that a widow can have her moments.

Together the romantic pair sing such famous Lehár hits as "Girls, Girls, Girls," "Tonight Will Teach Me to Forget," "Willis," "Widows Are Gay" and "Majesty of Laughter." And their rendition of the famous "Merry Widow Waltz" gives a new conception of this form of the dance.

The original Lehár romance was adhered to in the script, but was invested with those unmistakable Lubitsch touches of wit, satire and genial merriment.

The dazzling splendor and impressive size of the various palace scenes, the colorful brilliance and sparkle of the great Ambassador's Ball and the spectacle of the sequence at

Baffling Mystery at Studio

"Return of the Terror," one of the most unique and baffling mystery dramas ever screened, comes to the Studio theater today for a two-day run.

The screen play was suggested by the clearest of all the mystery dramas of the famous author, Edgar Wallace. The story concerns a series of crimes, the first of which is the killing of a number of patients at a private sanitarium for which the superintendent is convicted and confined in an insane asylum.

Lyle Talbot and Mary Astor head the cast. Bert Wheeler's "taking" ways lead him and Robert Woolsey to hilarious adventures in "Cockeyed Cavaliers," their latest starring joyfilm coming Sunday.

Laid during the Middle Ages, the story finds Wheeler and Woolsey burlesquing the era when peasant and knight-hood were in flower.

Maxim's cafe in Paris with hundreds of dancers and an orchestra of a hundred pieces—all bring about an illusion of grandeur and richness the like of which has not been seen on the screen in some time.

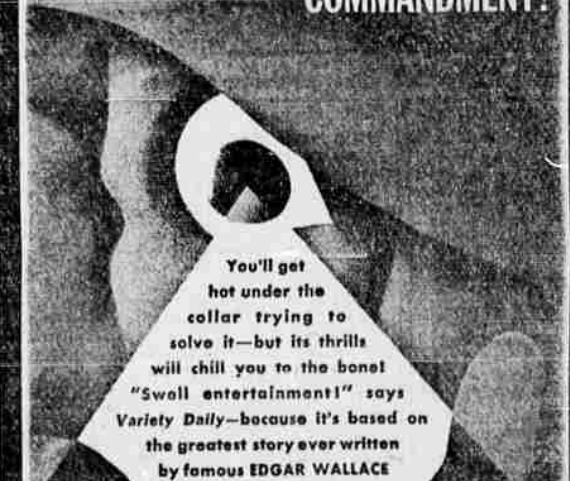

Visiting Today—Mrs. F. N. Morgan of Grants Pass is visiting in Medford today, having arrived by train.

momentous and far reaching importance in its picturing of one of the most colorful and dynamic periods of the world's history.

The picture is fictionalized history. It was inspired by the novel by the internationally famous author, R. H. Bruce Lockhart, who lived in Petrograd during the flaming days of the Russian Revolution, and risked life and liberty to battle in secret with three other young adventurers in a desperate attempt to prevent the Soviet from signing a separate peace with Germany.

While set in the bloody and chaotic background of days and nights of terror when Cossacks rode down and slew mobs of men, women and children, and when Bolshevik bombs blew up palaces and embassies with their occupants, the dynamic story never deviates from the passionate love drama of the British Agent and a beautiful and aristocratic Russian lady who has dedicated her life to the Red Cause. Here is a most unusual drama of love, with a man and woman hating each other's ideals, and yet drawn together by an unyielding and unquenchable passion.

Leslie Howard never gave a more powerful performance than as the British Agent, who knows the woman he loves is betraying him, and yet is unable to resist her charms.

Kay Francis, with her brunette beauty, is the embodiment of the fanatical Russian aristocrat whose love of her people so conflicts with her personal, womanly passion.
