SANDEN ASSIGNED AS RURAL CARRIER

Payne, will be permanently occupied by G. O. Sanden, instead of W. L. Wilson, who has been substituting on the route since Payne's resignation.

PARENTS CANNOT HOLD GIRL AFTER MARRIAGE

DON'T BLAME BRAND FOR HEAD NEXT DAY

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—(UP)—Don't blame the brand of whiskey if you have a "morning-after" headache. It's yourself, not the whiskey that probably is to blame.

San Antonio, noted as the most wide open city in a dry state, has found that Dr. Warren T. Vaughan of Richmond, Va., knew what he was talking about when he told the Southern Medical association here about whiskey and headaches.

Rye whiskey in small quantities might cause a headache for some drinkers who could drink the same amount of Scotch, Irish, or corn whiskey without ill effect. All taken to excess, however, produce the hang-over as local drinkers agree.

FLAMING GASOLINE SEARS WORKER ON IRRIGATION FLUME

Isaac Cowan, 43, of 424 Benson street, is at the Sacred Heart hospital suffering from severe burns, received yesterday afternoon when his clothing became drenched with gasoline and caught fire. The accident occurred as Cowan was working on a flume near Lake Creek, for the Medford Irrigation district, of which he is an employe.

Although Dr. James C. Hayes, attending physician, said last night his condition was very serious, hospital attendants stated today that Cowan is improved, and that no complications have as yet set in. Almost his entire body, arms and head were burned before fellow workmen were able to beat out the flames.

According to the story told by Cowan and men who brought him to the hospital here after the accident, which occurred about 1:10 p. m., the burns were received when Cowan attempted to throw a burning gasoline container out of the flume in which he was working. Some of the liquid spilled on his clothing, and the fire enveloped him.

The men had been burning gasoline to heat a tar preparation in the bottom of the flume, which they had cleaned, when the flames spread to the container. Cowan picked up the burning can, and in trying to throw it away from himself and fellow workmen, the liquid saturated his clothing.

MUSIC WITH MILKING QUIETING FOR COWS

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—(UP)—Milk-ming time is melody time at the Geo. H. Twelhaus dairy barn, near here. Streams of milk flow musically into pails, to the accompaniment of orchestra strains on the radio.

"If music hath charms for the savage breast, why not for a dairy cow?" mused Twelhaus one day. So, he installed a radio in the dairy barn.

On slow and melancholy cows, Twelhaus turns the dial to something with more snap to it. Skilled hands of the milkers work faster and the buckets fill quicker.

Cows, which have been inclined to be fractious, even to the extent of kicking over a milk bucket or now and then, placidly chew on their ends to the latest dance tunes now.

Other officers elected and installed were: E. E. Schuler, deputy master; Fred A. Purdin, principal conductor of the work; A. H. Thompson, treasurer; George Alden, recorder; O. O. Horner, chaplain; L. C. Stewart, captain of the guard; John Halston, conductor of the council; V. A. Norris, steward, and W. H. McDonald, sentinel.

Following the meeting it was announced that Feb. 5 is the date set for conferring the super-excellent degree, at which time all who have not received the degree are eligible to do so.

San Antonio, noted as the most wide open city in a dry state, has found that Dr. Warren T. Vaughan of Richmond, Va., knew what he was talking about when he told the Southern Medical association here about whiskey and headaches.

Artists and Models Maxine Doyle Star

Revue at Craterian Picture at Rialto

There's music, mirth and beauty on the screen of the Rialto theater. "Student Tour," one of the most hilarious musical comedies that have come out of Hollywood in several seasons, is the attraction. It opened yesterday.

"Student Tour" is "different" musical entertainment. Scoring elaborately staged revue specialties, it tells an engaging story in a straightforward manner, pausing along the line to introduce a bevy of new song hits, and giving ample time for the delightful footlambing of the featured comedy stars, Jimmy Durante and Charles Butterworth.

It introduces a new team of screen sweethearts who are destined for success. They are Maxine Doyle, a lovely Irish lass with a twinkle in her eye, and an entrancing voice, and Phil Regan, a handsome new singing star. They have the romantic leads, sharing them with Florine McKinney, Fay McKenzie, Betty Grable, Bobby Gordon, Mary Loo and others.
