Ye Smudge Pot
By Arthur Perry
The Depression will end next June or July, according to 'Hell and Maria' Dawes, former vice-president of the land.

PRAY, THAT SHE MAKES IT.
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 12.—(INS)—Virginia Cherrill, estranged wife of Cary Grant, film star, will have to live on a paltry $107.60 per week instead of the $1000 per month she asked, it appeared today.

RESOLUTION ASKS PRESERVATION OF HIGHWAY TIMBER
The resolution favoring the designation of the area as the Will T. Grieve Memorial park was accompanied by a petition, containing a number of signatures. Grieve in his lifetime was manager of the Rogue River holdings in this county, and active in the preservation of the scenic value of the section.

PERALS OF POETRY.
I am glad I am a little child,
Am not a little dog,
I am glad I am a human,
And was not made a hog.

The Price of Peace

IF Mussolini should be assassinated tonight, and if the assassin should be caught and prove to be a resident of Jugoslavia and a member of some Jugoslavian secret society, what would happen?
War, of course. Nothing short of a miracle could prevent it. Such an act would be the spark applied to the powder magazine of Central Europe. Italian troops would cross the border within 24 hours and the fat would be in the fire.

BUT as this is a purely hypothetical case let us assume something more. Let us imagine the League of Nations were properly implemented to stop war,—with an international army and navy at its command, to immediately apply force to any militaristic aggression.
What would the situation be then? Very different. War would then be outlawed. The use of force internationally would then have the same status that the use of force now has, internally.

WE can talk all we wish against war, pass resolutions against it, form peace societies to fight it, but until civilization reaches a higher plane of development than it has reached, only one thing will stop war as we see it, namely: the formulation of an international police force to maintain peace and PREVENT war.
Impossible! It looks that way at the present writing. But this much is certain. Until world opinion including our antiquated ideas of nationalism, reach the point where the nations are ready to pay the price of peace, there will be no chance of eliminating war.

It is a heavy price, but compared with the price of war, it is dirt cheap. One of these days it must be paid.

"Canned Heat"

THE death of 22 persons in Portland from drinking denatured alcohol is a shocking holdover from prohibition days, when death, insanity and blindness were common occurrences. Then persons who imbibed "bottled lightning" knew they were taking chances. . . . With the repeal of prohibition, however, everybody thought such conditions could no longer prevail. Legal liquor, even of the poorest quality, at least would be made under sanitary conditions and would not be lethal, it was reasoned.

The fact is that drinking "dehorn," "canned heat," and other dangerous concoctions has continued more or less, generally, among the poor — classes, especially in the slums of large cities. The relative cheapness of these preparations, compared with the cost of legal liquor, is responsible. Portland police were told that several druggists openly sold denatured alcohol at the low price of 20 cents a pint. A pint of alcohol, regardless of what kind, goes much farther than a pint of 90-proof legal whiskey. And the cheapest legal whisky now for sale in Oregon costs 65 cents a pint.

The denatured alcohol was purchased from a paint store, and was manufactured strictly for industrial purposes. Used as a beverage, it was so deadly that it is really remarkable that any of the imbibers survived. . . . It would be futile to blame the hopeless alcoholics and human derelicts for drinking such stuff. Usually, persons of this type are past redemption. This does not excuse the sale of poison to them, however, for the few pennies of profit involved.—Dallas Chronicle.

Chambers Interested.
The Klamath Falls, Grants Pass, Ashland and Roseburg chambers of commerce were represented at the meeting. The Bend, Marshfield and Eugene chambers of commerce sent messages stating their endorsement of any action taken at the meeting. The Shasta-Cascade Wonderland association also endorsed the resolution. The Diamond Lake and Lake of the Woods recreational spots were also represented.

Canada Shows Births Increasing.
OTTAWA, Ont.—(UP)—Births and marriages in Canada increased during October in 1934 compared with the same month in 1933, while the number of deaths remained practically unchanged, a government report here shows. Registrations from 70 cities and towns in the Dominion showed that births increased by five per cent and marriages by 10 per cent.

Strip Plan Proposed.
Procuring of a strip 300 feet wide on each side of the highway was advanced as a solution. Some argument was made that this would constitute a wind and fire hazard, but the Mail Tribune wants ads.

Personal Health Service
By William Brady, M.D.

Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene not to disease diagnosis or treatment will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Letters should be brief and written in ink. Owing to the large number of letters received only a few can be answered. No reply can be made to queries not conforming to instructions. Address Dr. William Brady, 265 El Camino, Beverly Hills, Cal.

BROTHERS, CAN YOU SPARE A MINUTE?
From the intellectual center of these United States comes a message which should interest many of the medical brethren unless they are not capable of thinking until they get a shunt on the question from the omniscient boob-bah of the A. M. A.

To me it was a godsend. I was ruptured eleven years ago. This year I received the ambulant treatment from Dr. — of this city. I considered my rupture a bad one because I had always had difficulty in getting a truss that would hold. Frequently I had to lie down for a while to relieve pain. I could do nothing that was at all strenuous. I received these very simple treatments and found my condition corrected perfectly, and at moderate cost, too, compared with the expense of an operation.

The physician the correspondent names is a member of his county and state medical societies, and a fellow of the A. M. A. He had better watch out or the boob-bah will visit his town sometime, on one of his lecture trips, and tell the folks the ambulant method for treating hernia is not "accepted" or that it is "unscientific" or something. That's the attitude of the boob-bah in reference to any advance in medicine which has not first been submitted to his approval. That was his attitude in reference to the diasthemy extirpation of tonsils in the years when we were using that modern method on the public. Of course the boob-bah has been compelled by circumstances to change his attitude on the tonsil question, now that the better physicians everywhere have adopted it for at least a large share of cases.

I am not qualified to instruct any physician in the ambulant treatment of hernia. I believe a physician can learn the method only by receiving clinical instruction from a man who has mastered the technique. The best I can do for a doctor who desires to provide modern service for his patients is to tell him where he can learn the method. I am glad to do that for any regular medical man, not for any near-doctor, who asks for the information and incloses a stamped envelope bearing his address.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY
By O. O. McIntyre
NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Thoughts while strolling: That rue de Rivoli shopping paradise suddenly sprung up on Madison avenue. A modern—the bird—$323. A clock in Lalique glass $4,000. A few more hats than anybody. Ben Lahr secured in 1911. And no everybody is imitating him again.

Another of the perpetual international gadsabouts is Tommy Millard, quondam war correspondent and traveling journalist, who moves swiftly from Shanghai to San Francisco, New York, London, Paris and all world capitals, like a leaf on the wind. Born in a Missouri village back of beyond, he is now around the world so often he quit counting. Unlike most seasoned travelers, he does not go lightly. A dandy, he carries a brace of wardrobe trunks that provide everything from full regalia for an embassy ball to tweedy tops for a hunt breakfast.

Beavers Stole Fence Wire.
SPRINGFIELD, N. S.—(UP)—Beavers here are adopting more modern methods in building their dams. One citizen reports that he left a quantity of wire beside a fence. The next day it had disappeared. Investigation, he found that a band of beavers had carried it away and were using it to hold the logs of their dam in place.

packing negligence. It was Walter Rothacker, I believe, who was a deck chair neighbor of an ambassador. In the informality of shipboard Rothacker indulged the usual—can you handle it—garrulous digressions. The ambassador pointed to his throat and replied with pencil and pad. One day he fell asleep in his chair, his face folding up like an accordion. Rothacker then knew his secret. He had forgotten stickum for his dental plates.

COMMUNICATIONS
To the Editor:
It is quite true that on first thought the Townsend Old Age Pension plan does not appear practical. This proposal to say $200.00 per month to eight million people would require twenty billion dollars a year. Now, since the total yearly production of the United States is only fifty billion dollars per year, this would leave only thirty billion dollars for the remaining one hundred and twenty million inhabitants of the United States. In other words, this plan seems to offer about ten times as much to each person above sixty as it does to each one below this age.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Furry Etiology in High School.
Our physiology teacher, Mr. — says that when food passes from small intestine to the large intestine it passes over the appendix opening and if any undigested particles such as fruit seeds drop into the appendix inflammation is set up, and this is how appendicitis occurs. — L. P.
Answer—There is a misunderstanding on your part of your teacher's. In health the appendix admits no particles of foods, seeds, or foreign bodies. But when the appendix is already damaged by disease, it is likely to admit such foreign material. Fruit seeds as in berries, grapes, figs, rather tend to prevent appendicitis and never cause it.

Editorial Comment
Governor Is Commended.
Believers in law observance throughout the state welcome Governor Meier's decision not to pardon L. A. Banks, former Medford newspaper publisher, who has served 18 months of a life sentence for murder and whose wealthy relatives have been endeavoring to get him out on a promise that he will be taken to Cleveland, Ohio, to live.
