

POOR BOY NOW MAYOR OF LONDON

A poor boy's dream came true when Sir Stephen Henry Molyneux Killick (left), once a messenger boy paid five shillings a week, became lord-mayor of London amid pomp and splendor. Hundreds of thousands turned out in a drizzling rain to witness the traditional ceremonies.

Debutantes Model-- Mannequins Protest

Professional fashion models in New York raised a storm of protest when Park avenue debutantes including such comely "amateurs" as Mrs. Perry Osborn (above), turned mannequins for a fashion show. They threatened to steal the deb's boy friends if the procedure didn't stop. (Associated Press Photo)

PRESIDENT SAYS TVA POWER IDEA WILL SPREAD

In what was considered a significant extemporaneous speech at Tupelo, Miss., President Roosevelt declared that the experiment for cheap power and human rehabilitation in the Tennessee valley "is going to be copied in every state in the union before we get through." The chief executive is shown as he spoke in Tupelo, the first community to buy power from the TVA. At left is an excellent closeup study of the President in gay mood for his Thanksgiving holiday. (Associated Press Photos)

LIBBY GOES BACK TO BROADWAY

Libby Holman soon will leave the $25,000,000 legal battle for the fortune of her late husband to be settled by the North Carolina courts. She's going back to Broadway in a new show. (Associated Press Photo)

LAFOLLETES WIN IN WISCONSIN

On the basis of incomplete returns it appeared that Wisconsin's voters had elected Robert LaFollette, Jr. (left), to the United States senate and had named his brother Philip (right) governor by a narrow margin. The LaFollette brothers, both of whom ran on the progressive ticket for offices they previously had held, are shown extending mutual congratulations. (Associated Press Photo)

PRESIDENT-ELECT OF MEXICO, FAMILY

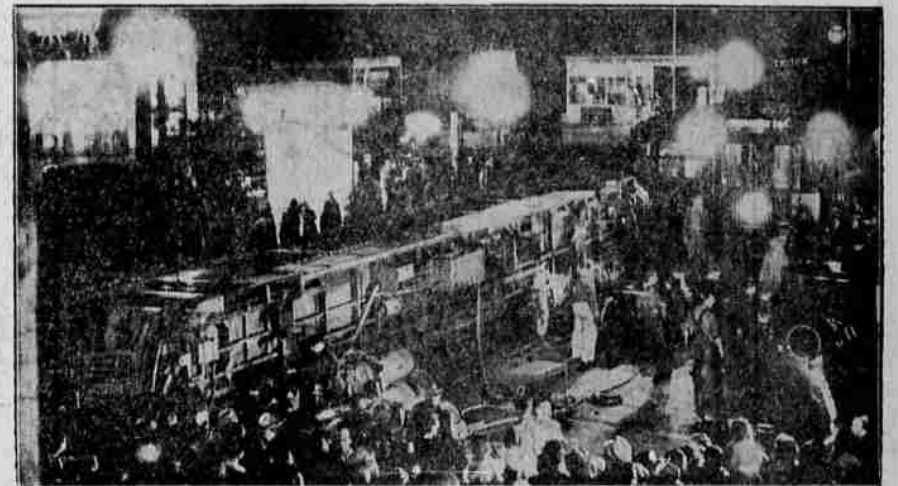

The next president of Mexico, General Lazaro Cardenas, with his wife, Amalia, and six-month-old son, Cuahutemoc, at their suburban home in Coyocacan. Cardenas, 39, will be the southern nation's youngest president. (Associated Press Photo)

Returned To Office

Key Pittman, president pro tem of the U. S. senate and chairman of the foreign relations committee, was reelected senator from Nevada on the democratic ticket. (Associated Press Photo)

STRIKERS OVERTURN LOS ANGELES STREET CAR IN CLASH

Violence flared in the Los Angeles street car strike when more than 100 strikers tipped a car over at an intersection, tying up more than 50 trolleys and automobile traffic for more than two hours. Passengers were ordered off the car before it was overturned. (Associated Press Photo)

IDENTIFY THREE GIRLS IN TRAGEDY

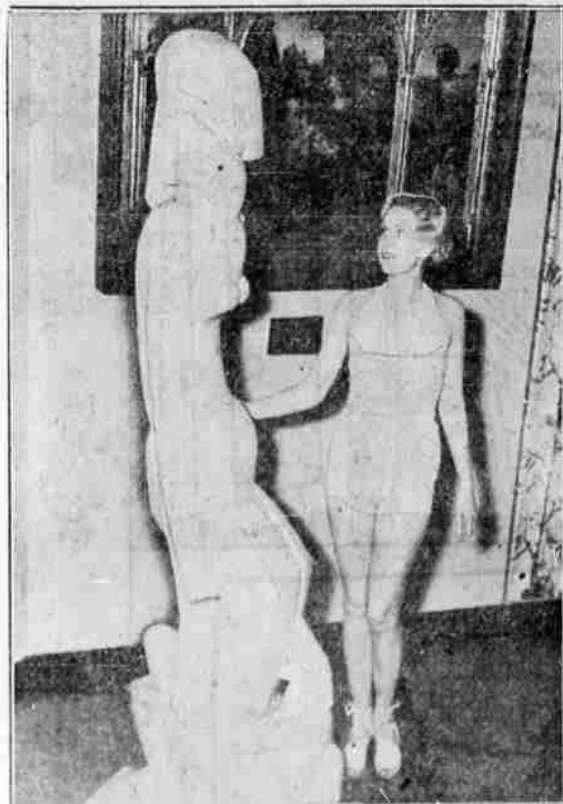

The bodies of the three "little babes in the woods" found murdered near Carlisle, Pa., were "positively identified" as the daughters of Elmo J. Noakes of Roseville, Cal. Noakes body and that of his 19-year-old niece, Winifred Pierce, were found near Duncansville, Pa., about 100 miles distant. Identification was made by Capt. Charles J. La Porte of California and Pennsylvania authorities. Left to right: Norma, Gordelia and Dewilla Noakes as they looked about a year ago. (Associated Press Photo)

NEW CHIEFS OF NATIONAL LEAGUE

Here are the three men chosen to guide the destinies of the National league after their election by club owners in New York. Left to right: Ford Frick, 39-year-old former newspaperman who becomes president of the league; John Heydler, who resigned the presidency and was named chairman of the board, and Harvey Traband, former secretary to Heydler, who becomes the league's secretary and treasurer. (Associated Press Photo)

IDEAS ABOUT VENUS CONFLICT

This is Jacob Epstein's conception of Venus, but to the Model's guild which demanded its removal from the art forum in Rockefeller Center, New York, it is "an insult to our profession" and "indecent." Besides the status is a modern American Venus, Serena Martin, who stepped forth in a bathing suit to illustrate the difference between a "real" Venus and a symbolic one. (Associated Press Photo)

LEAVES JOB IN FLAG ARGUMENT

Miss Esther De Lee, 21-year-old teacher of 12 rural school pupils at Pompey Hollow, N. Y., gave up her efforts to hold her job after she learned her superintendent had taken sides with a trustee in an argument over her substitution of a small American flag for a large one. She contended the large flag hung too close to an oil stove in the classroom. There were indications that an appeal to the state department of education would be taken in her behalf. (Associated Press Photo)

'GOSH ALL FISH-HOOKS!'

This four-foot fish hook was designed by a Miami, Fla., Isak Walton league to catch the "Rhineodon typhus," more commonly known as the whale shark, but even a shark wouldn't mind if this young University of Miami co-ed, Miss Roxy Lewis, did the fishing. (Associated Press Photo)

'OLD FOX' CUTS A BIRTHDAY CAKE

Clark Griffith, silver-thatched "Old Fox" of baseball, is shown in his Washington office as he cut a birthday cake in celebration of his 63th birthday and his 48 years in baseball. At left is Stanley "Bucky" Harris, recently hired by Grif for the second time to manage the Senators. At right is Col. Billy Smith, assistant business manager of the club. (Associated Press Photo)