Has Novel Deskmarker—Karl Janouch, supervisor of Rogue River national forest, has a deskmarker attractively carved from yew wood, which has been sent him from the Zigzag CCC camp in Mt. Hood national forest, as a remembrance of Janouch's recent visit. Janouch says the work was done by boys of the CCC camp, who have formed a class in wood carving and make forest signs and other articles under the direction of one of the camp officers. Janouch was also sent a wooden forest service shield, as an example of the inexpensive but attractive work that can be done free hand by members of the corps for use throughout the forests.

I Sell Anything

A comedy drama that travels far from the beaten path in its riotous fun making is promised in "I Sell Anything" which is scheduled as the feature attraction at the Biato theater beginning tomorrow for a three-day run.

The story is one of swift action, snappy dialogue and unusually amusing situations. It is unusual, in humorous vein, the business of manufacturing fake antiques and the method of auctioning them off to a credulous public.

While the story is largely comedy, there is an underlying romance in which Pat O'Brien, Ann Dvorak and Claire Dodd, as the principals of the all star cast, form the three sides of the love triangle.

"College Rhythm" Is Lively Comedy. Plot! Right down in the middle of a stirring football season comes a giddy and scintillating comedy, "College Rhythm," now at the Craterian theater, to show just what can be done with football, properly talked with girls, music, Joe Penner and a whole variety of stars.

Appearing in his first featured picture, Joe Penner, together with Goo-Goo and his famous floopy hat, is supported by a cast that includes Lydia Ross, Jack Oakie, Helen Mack, Lyda Roberti and Mary Brian.

The story opens with "Love and Kisses" (Jack Oakie) streaking up the field with State's winning touchdown, while Mary Brian exits and Lanny Ross, who plays a piccolo in the band burns. Both the boys are in love with Mary.

Their college feud is carried over into the business world when the two boys, together with Penner, keep their two team's mascot duck, go to work in State's department store. Chuck full of ideas from their college training, they transform the store.

State's, staid and decorous institution, is transformed into a college jamboree with banners, chorus girls, band and a real football team. Naturally their competitors follow suit, even down to the football team. And soon the Stacey team is challenger by the Whipples to a game for the individual store's honor.

This game is Lanny Ross' discovery that it is his little secretary, Helen Mack whom he has loved all the time, and Oakie, now free to propose to Mary Brian, becomes his most valued friend.

Every department of the picture, girls, music, comedy, have been so well executed that there is never a dull moment.

"Man, too, emerges from his darkness by establishing a line of communication with God, the Great Light from Above. To plant the seed is the work of the gardener, but to produce spiritual birth is the work of God, coincident with man's prayer of repentance and faith.

"Culture cannot make a tree grow fruit. If it is not a fruit tree to begin with. Neither can man, in his sinful condition, achieve kinship to God merely by his own effort. There must be the importation of life by God. God's way of making a Christian is to let Christ down into his life.

"His presence in your life insures against disaster. The disciples' bark could not sink with Christ aboard. If you have taken passage with the King of Kings your life's voyage will be safe."

HURD AND BYINGTON BUY 'CHEV' AGENCY. Announcement was made today that C. M. Hurd and H. D. Byington of this city, have purchased E. A. Calkins' interest in the Rogue River Chevrolet company of Medford.
