Led by Bill Lemmon who scored 13 points, the Bearcats kept even with the lemon-yellow throughout the game and led at half time 24 to 23.

CORVALLIS, Ore., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The Union Oil basketball team of Portland defeated the Oregon State college hoopers 32 to 31, tonight in a speedy, thrill-packed game decided in the last quarter minute of play.

A week ago the Oilers defeated the Beavers, 38 to 30. But tonight Coach Army T. "Slats" Gill's Staters were better organized and piled up a commanding 19 to 11 half time lead.

But the lead was not enough to withstand the forceful, brilliant comeback the talented Oilers made.

At the start of the second period the Oilers scored 20 points while holding the Beavers to three.

Then Folen and Palmberg scored to start a rally which brought the Beavers abreast the Oilers at 31-all with but 18 seconds left to play.

But Folen, Beaver center, fouled the massive Greiner, Oiler center, who dropped in a free throw for the winning point. Folen made a frantic effort to tie the score when he obtained the ball, but his bowitzer shot from mid-floor missed the net just as the gun ended the game.

Trojans Win.

SEATTLE, Dec. 22.—(AP)—The University of Southern California Trojans raced to a 49 to 24 win tonight over the Washington Huskies, evening up their two-game pre-season series, but the triumph may be costly as Lee Guttero, Trojans' star center, injured his leg in the last few minutes of play and was carried from the floor. Washington won last night, 30 to 30.

Guttero, star of the encounter, dropped in nine baskets for 18 points, shooting with either hand from almost any position near the basket, until he collided with Bobby (Goose) Galer, Washington captain, with only four minutes to play. He was helped from the floor, with his right leg doubled up under him.

A few minutes after the game was over, however, Coach Sam Barry of the Trojans announced from the dressing room that Guttero had suffered only a bad bone bruise, but would be kept out of competition a short time.

The Trojans leaped to the front as the game began, starting with Guttero's opening basket, and ran the count to 9 to 1. Galer tallied for the Huskies, but with Guttero driving his mate ahead and tallying 12 points himself the first half the Trojans ended the half in front, 21 to 13.

The new style of play of tossing the ball in from the sidelines after each basket, being used in the southern division of the conference this year, speeded up the game a great deal.

JEFFERSON PREXY GIVES DATA UPON HIGH COST STARS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Elaborating on his decision that Washington and Jefferson college subsidize no more athletes at a potential annual overhead of $800 each, President Ralph C. Hutchinson has some figures to show what the once mighty grid squads cost his institution.

During the days when the Presidents met the best there was in football, Dr. Hutchinson said yesterday, the college gave its players free board and room, tuition and books.

On the basis of education costs, each man was worth $900 a year, he said. There were usually 50 of the school's 500 students on the squad and that made the total $45,000.

Wash-Jeff reached its height in 1921 when it played California to a scoreless tie in the Rose Bowl. For more than a decade after it was rated with the best, however.

Tuesday, Dr. Hutchinson made the formal announcement that W. and J. is stepping out of big time competition.

BOESCH TO MEET KRUSE THURSDAY

In a long-distance telephone call last night from Portland, Promoter Mack Lillard announced he has secured four of the best wrestlers in the northwest to tangle in an all-star grappling card next Thursday night at the armory.

Paul Boesch of Brooklyn, famous for his drop-kicks and scientific tendon twisting, will take the spotlight against Bob Kruse, Oswego Broccoli King, in the top match of the evening.

For the semi-final, Tony Capalino of Italy will match his might against Joe Hubka, former University of Iowa athlete and protégé of the ex-world champion, Joe Stecher.

In securing Boesch, Lillard believes he has done more than well by his trip to Portland in search of some good talent for the Brooklyn boy is noted for his spectacular matwork.

He weighs about 225, or 15 pounds heavier than the Broccoli king, and is known as one of the most hard-knocks of all wrestlers. His drop-kick is considered as deadly as Jumping Joe Savoldi's, and he wrestles with much the same technique that Savoldi uses. In several weeks of main event appearances at Portland, he has taken the best of them as fast as the promoters can line up opponents. Bob Kruse is well known here. He is a master of the wrist lock and in the ring.

Both Capalino and Hubka are new to the armory arena, bringing the promoter's promised new talent. Capalino wrestles with a rough and tumble technique that is hard to stop, while Hubka prides himself in a complete knowledge of the finer points of the profession.
