

NEGRO CLOSELY GUARDED AFTER TENNESSEE RIOT

The fury of a mob bent on lynching E. K. Harris, 22-year-old negro on trial for assaulting a 14-year-old white girl, brought death, fire and destruction to Shelbyville, Tenn. At top, guardsmen are shown surrounding Harris after rioters had stopped the mob's assault on the courthouse, which later was burned. Below is shown an outburst of tear gas from troops which were rushed to the scene to quell the disorders. (Associated Press Photos)

PAINTER ADMITS SLAYING NEW YORK GIRL, MISSING SIX YEARS

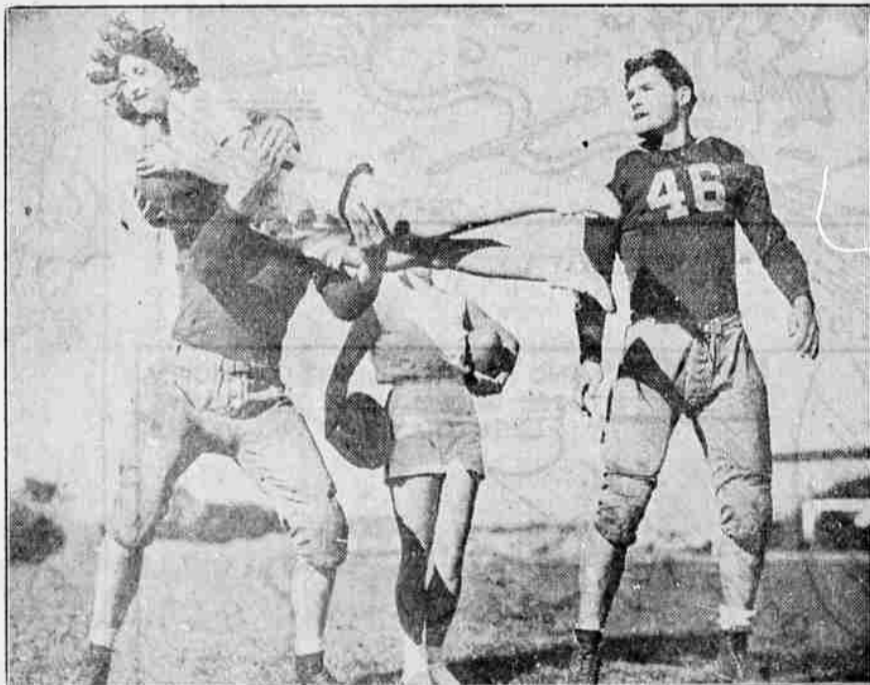

Solution of a six-year-old New York kidnaping came when Albert H. Fish (right), 65-year-old house painter and father of six children, led police to a deserted house near Elmsford, N. Y., where the butchered body of Grace Budd (left), 10-year-old girl who disappeared in 1926, was found. Fish, after mocking the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Budd (center), by mail since the crime was committed, was captured through the letters he sent. "The blood lust seized me," said Fish, who was charged with homicide and kidnaping. The girl's body, which had been butchered with a meat cleaver, was found in three parts. Fish had lured the child from her home on the promise of taking her to a birthday party. (Associated Press Photos)

Singer Visits U. S.

Kira Kazarinoff, the Russian singer, was an attractive subject for the ship photographers when she arrived in New York for her first visit to the United States. (Associated Press Photo)

SHE FLIES THROUGH THE AIR—WITHOUT TRAPEZE

This daring young maiden, Letitia Warren, helps Jim Barber, All-Pacific Coast tackle of San Francisco university, and All-Coast Center Larry Stiering (right) mix pleasure with the business of training for the East-West Shriners' charity game to be played in San Francisco. (Associated Press Photo)

'IDENTIFIES' FIGURES IN TRAGEDIES

Mrs. E. Gooden Hill, operator of a tourist camp at South Langhorne, Pa., is shown in the Carlisle, Pa., police station looking at death masks of three little girls whose bodies were found in a mountain woods. She identified the girls as members of a family which had stopped at her camp. They were Norma, Cordella and Dewilla Noakes of Roseville, Cal. (Associated Press Photo)

TUGWELL AND WIFE RETURN HOME

After several months in Europe, Dr. Rexford Guy Tugwell, called the "best dressed new dealer," returned to the United States with his wife to resume his post as undersecretary of agriculture. (Associated Press Photo)

She Wins A Cup

Miss Betty Dell, a show girl, won a silver loving cup in a "beautiful skin" contest in New York. Wouldn't you agree with the judges' verdict? (Associated Press Photo)

WOMAN JOINS 'LITTLE CABINET'

The first woman to be appointed to the new deal "little cabinet," Miss Josephine Roche of Colorado, is shown conferring with her new boss, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau. As assistant secretary of the treasury, Miss Roche will be concerned with matters of public health. (Copyright Harris & Ewing—from Associated Press)

Rules Manchoukuo

His dual appointment as commander-in-chief of Japanese forces in Manchoukuo and the Japanese sovereign's ambassador to the court of Hsinking made General Jiro Minami, former Japanese minister of war, the defacto ruler of Manchoukuo. (Associated Press Photo)

LINKED IN MARRIAGE RUMORS

A report that Mrs. Anna Dall (right), daughter of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, would marry John Boettiger (left), former member of the Chicago Tribune's Washington staff, met neither affirmation nor denial at the White House. Mrs. Dall's secretary said there was "nothing to say." Both Mrs. Dall and Boettiger are divorced, and both have children. (Associated Press Photos)

THE SHELL GAME—WITH TRIMMINGS

As though the adornment of sea-shells wasn't enough, added to a "thorough going job on the part of Mother Nature, Betty Wilcox, one of a bevy of beauties giving vacationers at Miami Beach, Fla., an eye-treat, took time out to employ a lip-stick for the finishing touch. (Associated Press Photo)

Inspires Cadets!

Mary Lou Bagby of Vinita, Okla., provides inspiration for student cadets at the University of Kansas. She's their honorary colonel—shown here in full regalia. (Associated Press Photo)

HELD IN ALLEGED DYNAMITE PLOT

Clarence E. Townsend (left), a conductor, and Kenneth L. Mayes, a motorman, both on strike in the Los Angeles street car labor difficulty were arrested on charges of possession and malicious use of dynamite. Their bail was set at $50,000 each. Police reported they found a case of dynamite and fuses in their automobile. (Associated Press Photo)

To Direct Saar Vote

Miss Sarah Wambaugh (above), former Cincinnati woman, internationally noted as an expert on plebiscites, is one of four members of the Saar commission designated by the League of Nations to organize the January vote which will decide the fate of the Saar valley. (Associated Press Photo)

FOUND BODIES ON GALAPAGOS

Manuel Rodriguez (left), fish captain, and Capt. William Borthen, skipper, of the tunaboat Santo Amaro, returned to San Diego, Cal., and related their story of having found two mummified bodies, later identified as Trygve Nuggrud and Alfred Lorenz, on Marchena island in the lonely Galapagos group. (Associated Press Photo)