Fine Cast in Craterian Picture

With Mary Boland and Charlie Ruggles as the parents and Frances Lederer and Joan Bennett as the "bundling" pair in love with each other, "Pursuit of Happiness" which introduces "Bundling" to the screen, is at the Craterian theater for today and Monday.

"Bundling," of which there were two varieties—the first as a simple domestic makeshift arrangement arising from the necessities of a new country and the shortage of beds, and the second as between a man

MELON, TOMATO MEETING SLATED

Plans for 1935 will be discussed in a series of meetings to be held between growers and members of the control board of the Oregon-Washington melon and tomato marketing agreement in the various districts throughout Oregon beginning January 2.

"It is the desire of the board that growers give, frankly, their opinions regarding the agreement whatever they may be," said Morton Tompkins of Dayton, Ore., chairman of the agreement's control board. "Production control, better methods of enforcing the act, and conditions which may be peculiar to any single com-unity will be covered in these meetings between producers and those directing the agreement." Meetings will include Medford, Friday, January 4, at 1:30 p. m.

James Cagney in Rialto Film

Rough and ready James Cagney comes to the Rialto theater for today and Monday in "St. Louis Kid," said to be one of the most riotously funny as well as thrillingly dramatic productions in which he has appeared.

The story revolves about a milk trust war which Jimmy has, all unknowingly, started by knocking a milk magnate colder than the proverbial wedge. The milk war leads to a score

'Catherine the Great' at Studio

"Catherine the Great," production which opens at the Studio theater today, is Alexander Korda's successor to the highly successful "Private Life of Henry VIII."

It marks the American debut of Elizabeth Bergner, the most-talked-of actress of the European stage and screen.

Co-starred with Miss Bergner in "Catherine the Great" is Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., playing the erratic Peter III.

The story covers the events of Catherine's life at the Russian court from the day of her arrival to her triumphal march to the throne.

Roxy Installs New Earphones For Deaf

Another step in the Roxy theater's policy of constantly adding new equipment for the entertainment and comfort of its patrons is the installation of earphones for the hard of hearing. The new phones have been thoroughly tried out and people who were unable to enjoy talking pictures are now able to hear them almost perfectly.

The phones are detachable and the patron asks for them at the door. There is no extra charge for this added service, according to the management.
