44 DRUNK DRIVERS FORFEIT LICENSES HIGH BROTHERS PROMISED COIN FOR DEED, CLAIM

SALEM, Jan. 8.—(AP)—An unusually large number of automobile drivers suffered the penalty of having their operating licenses revoked during the month of December, most of which were the result of driving while intoxicated. It was shown in the report of the motor vehicle division of the state department, released today.

Forty-six drivers lost their permits during the month, 44 due to intoxicated driving. One was revoked on a hit and run case, and another for failure to give his name and address after an accident.

Ten license suspensions were listed, mostly for reckless driving.

of Ashland, realtors, testified Monday afternoon relative to the sale of the property. Vernon B. Weaver, who lived across the road from the barn, and Butler Walker, another nearby resident, testified to discovering the fire about 11:15 o'clock on the night of January 4, 1933. Walker said he was the first to reach the fire, and the barn was in flames when he arrived. He testified a short time afterwards an auto containing two people drove by.

The jury hearing the case is as follows: Gertrude Bales, Ashland; Jonas Wolf, Medford; Cordelia G. Blake, Ashland; Fred W. Green, Talent; John E. Roberts, Phoenix; William C. Rookard, Medford; Mary A. Stenner, Medford; C. F. Quackenbush, Central Point; J. M. Whipple, Rogue River; Ella Pennington, Medford; Loren Damon, Lake Creek, and Ralph Shirley, Medford.

The witness testified: "I wanted to wash my hands of the thing, and asked only for my hotel bill and a $10 check I had issued."

Before burning the agreement Holland said, he had consulted Attorney Frank DeSouza of this city about the agreement and DeSouza doubted its legality, as it was not witnessed. He testified the paper was in Attorney DeSouza's possession, and that George High, when apprised of this fact, said:

"It will cost us $1000 to get it loose from a lawyer."

Holland said when George High insisted upon the return of the agreement, he told him first it was in a safety deposit box. He said when the paper was requested from Attorney DeSouza, no delay was experienced.

A carbon copy of the agreement was introduced as evidence provided by the defense.

Holland late yesterday testified that late in November, 1932, he came to this county, and attended an auction when George High purchased the property upon which the barn was located on a bid of $5200. He said George High and himself had conducted a butcher shop at Seaside, Oregon, in the summer of 1932, and at the close of the business he signed a note for $340 owed to George High.

Holland testified that he came to this city late in December, 1932, and registered at the Jackson hotel, and made one trip to Ashland to set the fire, but returned to this city, "because I had no way to get to the barn." He then asserted he called up "Babe" High at Klamath Falls, by long distance telephone, and asked "Babe" to come over for a talk. "Babe" High and Martin arrived next day, and Holland alleged that the plans for the fire were then made.

The witness testified that several telephone calls were dispatched to George High at Astoria, urging him to come to Ashland.

The state introduced hotel register cards, and phone call records to corroborate Holland's testimony. Holland also testified that en route to the barn from this city, "Babe" High stopped at "his parents' home in Ashland and got a flashlight."

Martin, the witness testified, "used it to see if there was any stock in the barn before setting the fire."

Defense cross-examination of Holland, by Attorney George M. Roberts, was under way this afternoon. Tell of Fire Discovery. Walter A. Jones and A. M. Beaver whole court stray. His name was not distinctly called and few knew who he was. He came to the stand, a small, gray man, dressed in a gray suit. He was almost paled in his movements.

Wienitz opened his examination by asking him what he saw on the afternoon of March 1, 1932.

"He looked as if he had seen a ghost," he objected to the old man's comment, but Wienitz urged him on, asked him if he could remember the man he had seen. The aged witness trembled, said "yes," and immediately raised his shaking arm to point to Hauptmann.

"That man there next to the trooper," he declared.

An acute accident heightened the drama of the old man's declaration—five ceiling lights, suspended on long chains, were suddenly extinguished.

Stated Communication of Beames Chapter, O. E. S. Wednesday evening at 8:00 o'clock. Followed by installation of officers. HATTIE M. ALDEN, Secy.

Brighten up with ALL-BRAN! You've had days when you've felt discouraged and low. Nothing seemed to go right. Frequently these dreary days can be traced to common constipation, due to lack of "bulk" in your meals.

Laboratory research shows Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to aid elimination. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and food-iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN resists digestion better than the fiber in fruits and vegetables. It is gentle—and often more effective. Isn't this natural food better than taking patent medicines—often harmful?

Two tablespoonsful of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. With each meal, in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.
