

North Division of County Schools Open Cage Schedule Friday

PROSPECT PLAYS AT SAMS VALLEY, E. P. IN BT. FALLS

Twelve Games Scheduled for Division of Secondary Quints — Meet South Champs in Playoff Mar. 8

Two games are scheduled for next Friday night between schools of the northern division of the Jackson county secondary high school basketball league, whose conference is opening this week with a schedule of 12 games, to determine the contender with the southern division winners for the county championship, and the right to contend for an entrance in the state "B" class tournament.

For the opening title prospect will travel to Sams Valley to meet the Sams Valley Farmers and Eagle Point, and to Butte Falls for a game with the Butte Falls Woodcutters. Following these games the schedule will be run off in rapid fire order to bring the northern division into shape for representation in the league playoff on March 8.

The northern division is composed of teams from Butte Falls, Eagle Point, Prospect and Sams Valley.

Butte Falls, coached for the fifth year by Roscoe Larsen, won the conference championship in 1933, placed last in 1934, and is not considered a strong contender for 1935 honors.

Eagle Point team, handled by Floyd "Pat" Barrett for the fourth season, tied for but lost the championship playoff in 1934 at Sams Valley. Pre-conference gleanings from the dope bucket give the Cheese-makers a good chance for the 1935 championship.

Handicapped by the smallest athletic body in the county, Ray Zobel, Prospect's coach, nevertheless always places strong teams on the floor.

E. W. Empey is grooming the Sams Valley team this year for the first time, being a newcomer to Jackson county, but is expected to turn out a team capable of repeating last year's championship record.

Advance dope on the games next Friday indicate that Eagle Point and Sams Valley hold the edge. These two schools also have "B" class quintets to conform to the new classification of teams on an age-weight-height basis, for participation in preliminary contests.

The complete schedule is as follows:

January 18, Eagle Point at Butte Falls; Prospect at Sams Valley.

January 25, Butte Falls at Prospect; Sams Valley at Eagle Point.

February 8, Eagle Point at Prospect; Sams Valley at Butte Falls.

February 15, Butte Falls at Eagle Point; Sams Valley at Prospect.

February 22, Butte Falls at Prospect; Eagle Point at Sams Valley.

March 1, Prospect at Eagle Point; Butte Falls at Sams Valley.

March 8: play-off with winner of southern division. Winner to play Ashland or Medford for county championship and to compete with the other county champions in the Medford district for the right to go to Salem and enter the state "B" class tournament.

G. P. MAN BREAKS LEG WHILE SKIING

GRANTS PASS, Jan. 15.—(Sp.)—As a result of skiing Sunday afternoon at the summit of Sexton mountain, Charles Hampson of this city is a patient in the Josephine General Hospital, receiving treatment for a fracture of his right leg just above the ankle.

Hampson fell when one ski went under packed snow, and the other remained on the surface. It was reported, his ski was harnessed to his boots. First aid was administered by tying a cloth tightly over the high boot. It was not at first known the leg was broken.

G. H. Grover brought Hampson to Grants Pass shortly after the accident.

The attending physician stated Monday that Hampson will be confined to the hospital for only a few days, as the parts of the broken bone were not badly separated.

Residents who drove to the summit of Sexton mountain Sunday reported nearly 20 carloads of winter sports enthusiasts were there by the in the snow.

FENTON HOG-TIES WRESTLING FOE

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Red Fenton, "hog tied" Oils Clingman in the ropes and then applied a body slam for the deciding fall in their wrestling match here last night.

Fenton, a Canadian middleweight, survived a bad battering and took the second fall with a crab hold after losing the first to the Oklahoma City grappler on a series of deadly counter-berth butts.

Three Jansen, the Elkton fisherman and Ben Sherman, ex-animator king, wrestled to a furious draw, each taking a fall.

Robin Reed, headmaster, took two falls in big time from Sammy George of Portland.

FEW HOME GRID GAMES SCHEDULED FOR SONS; SUPPORT NOT RECEIVED

ASHLAND, Jan. 15.—(Sp.)—A tentative 1935 football schedule for Southern Oregon Normal school was drawn up in Portland Friday night, at a meeting of athletic officials of the Northwest conference, attended by Coach Howard Hobson.

Ashland may only get two or three games out of the nine listed, due to lack of support shown the team by fans in 1934. In order to come out on top financially, "Hobby" will be forced to take most of his games out of town.

A contest with Pacific university in Klamath Falls will start the season off, October 5, with a game two weeks later with Albany college in Grants Pass. October 26, the SONS will play Linfield college in Roseburg. Chico State will furnish the opposition November 2 in Chico.

Other teams to be played, with the dates and locations yet to be decided upon, include Monmouth, Humboldt, Eastern Oregon Normal (probably at Bend), Oregon frosh, and Oregon State frosh.

The only possible games to be played in Ashland are with Humboldt, and the two college freshman outfits. The Monmouth game will be staged either in Monmouth or Portland.

SNOWMEN SKIERS PLAN BIG PARTY

The Rogue Snowmen, local skiing enthusiasts' club, will hold a big skiing party Sunday at Russell camp in the Siskiyou, it was learned today.

All members and their friends are urged to be present. Hot dogs and coffee will be served during the afternoon, and a great time is anticipated by everyone. Ski events for the afternoon will be in charge of a committee, of which Howland Hubbard is chairman, with Sam Jennings and Dale Flowers also serving. They expect to feature ski jumping, races, obstacle races, and other snow events.

The refreshment committee will be composed of Ralph Green, chairman, and Dick Kay, Lee Allen, Dolph Guay.

Snow conditions are said to be excellent, with the runs well broken in, dry, and fast.

SHASTA CAGEMEN TO MEET TIGERS HERE ON FRIDAY

Medford high school's basketball team will not meet the Klamath Falls five here Friday night as had been announced, according to Coach Burgher.

The Klamath team asked to be released from their contract so that they could play the Oregon frosh, a team that has several Klamath stars on its roster this year. The arrangement was satisfactory to Burgher, in that he immediately arranged for a game with Mount Shasta high school for that night. The red and black will meet Klamath on Feb. 15.

Mount Shasta boasts the best team in years, a fact not surprising when it is known the members have been playing together for four years, and have won two northern California championships, with a good chance of adding another this year.

Three years ago, when the team last played here, saw a hectic over-time game, in which Medford emerged winner by the narrow margin of two points, 29-27.

Among other tough games played by the California squad this year, are the ones with Klamath Falls in which the Pelicans won 32-30, the game with a fast Redding outfit which Shasta won 40-25, another win over Yreka, 43-18, and a beating handed to Chico Normal school. Chico had previously drubbed Sacramento junior college, so the evidence points to a good ball team at Mount Shasta.

On Saturday the Burghermeisters engage with an unknown quantity in the form of Dunsmuir high school here. Dunsmuir is reported as having a good team, they having dropped a close game to the powerful Ashland quint.

WARNING AGAINST TRAVELING QUINTS

A warning was issued yesterday by Aaron M. Frank, president of the amateur athletic union of the United States, for all college, high school, and independent basketball teams in the state to be wary of playing barnstorming professional casaba artists from the east, stating that not all such teams have their A. A. U. traveling permits.

In a telephone message to acting City School Superintendent C. G. Smith, this morning, Frank expressed the wish that southern Oregon teams be on their guard in this respect.

The Southern Oregon Normal school at Ashland has already played one of the squads on Frank's taboo list, the New York Harlemites, it was pointed out.

Other teams which are said not to possess A. A. U. traveling permits are Mexico Masked Marvels, Olsen's Terrible Swedes, House of David, Chicago, House of David, Indiana, Lafayette Stars, Lafayette, Indiana.

GOLFERS WILL VIE FOR CUP GIVEN BY SHIRLEY TEMPLE

George Hunt, manager of the Craterian and Hiato theatres and one of the instigators of something new in golf circles—an East-West "Rose Bowl" tournament—today received a telegram from Shirley Temple, America's "big little girl friend" of the movies, warmly approving of the idea and saying that she will sponsor a cup for the affair so that it may become annual.

Hunt started negotiations with the little film star as soon as the tournament was announced, but had kept his plan secret until assured of its success. Miss Temple will send a silver cup which may bear her engraved picture, Hunt said, for the championship award each year.

With the enrollment for the affair already reaching into the sixties, the sponsors believe the East-West tournament will become the largest local golf event ever staged. A field of more than 100 players is expected to be lined up by the time the first tournament tee-offs are made a week from next Sunday.

Captain Gene (Bobby Grayson) Thorndike of the West today announced the enrollment of George Henselwood to strengthen his lineup against Captain George (Dick Howell) Phyllis's squad from the East.

GOVERNOR SALARY ARGUMENTS OPEN

SALEM, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Arguments of attorneys in the suit brought by Edward Jory of Salem, to test the validity of the state laws under which the governor's salary was increased from $1500 to $7500 a year, were to be heard by Judge L. G. Lewelling in circuit court here today.

Jory contended that the state constitution provided a salary of $1500 annually for the governor, and that the legislature exceeded its authority when it voted the increase.

Ralph Moody, assistant attorney general, will act as defense attorney.

SPORT SLANTS

In less than a week after Carl Hubbell's contract had been mailed to him in Meeker, Okla., the New York Giants announced that he had signed up for the 1935 season.

That's just the way Carl has handled this business of signing contracts for the six seasons he has been with the Giants. He has always been among the first to return the signed documents.

Hubbell wants to pitch for the Giants, and judging by the fact that the terms of his latest contract seemed to satisfy him, the Giants want him to pitch for them. No need for dilly-dallying over the matter.

One of the reasons Carl offers for the hurried signing is that he is anxious to get that formality over with so he can go about getting into shape for the coming campaign unhampered by the worries accompanying contract squabbles.

There is none of that temperament so often found in star players, in Carl Hubbell's makeup. Easy to handle, no player in the game is more willing and ready to sacrifice himself for his team. He's always ready to start a game—in turn or out, and just as willing to assume the humble, though important, role of relief pitcher. In short, he'll do anything in his power to win a ball game.

While his spirit is commendable, it is hardly fair to the great left-hander to impose on his good nature as the Giants have for the past two seasons. His ineffectiveness in the latter part of the 1934 season can readily be traced to overwork. The year before he practically pitched the Giants to a National League pennant single-handed. He topped off that remarkable season by stopping the Washington Senators in the world series, and was voted the most valuable player in the National League.

When he tried to repeat the stunt last season he found that the ironman stuff had seeped his vitality. As long as he retains his strength, Carl rates a place alongside any pitcher the game has known.

Hark back to the all-star game in New York last summer, and take another peek at Hubbell on the mound, facing the American league's greatest slugger. He struck out Ruth, Gehrig, Fox, Simmons and Cronin in succession. What a grand exhibition of pitching and courage! There was no room for argument at that moment—he was a great pitcher, if not the greatest.

Even though Jerome "Dizzy" Dean holds top position among National League pitchers in the popular mind, there is the little matter of official records—and they show that Hubbell's earned-run average is better than the older Dean's.

Dean did win 30 games while Carl was turning in 21 victories, but "Dizzy" was pitching for the stronger team, and enjoyed better support at bat and field.

Manager Bill Terry is convinced that it was a mistake to make such excessive demands on Hubbell's strength, in asking him to pitch so often. He feels the left-hander can be restored to his former effectiveness by the more lenient pitching schedule he hopes to put into effect this coming season.

REVOLTA, GHEZZI TO PLAY OFF TIE FOR LOS A. TITLE

By BRIAN BELL (Associated Press Staff Writer.) LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15.—(P)—Two of golf's younger set, John Revolta and Victor Ghezzi, went back to the links today to decide the Los Angeles open title.

For the first time in the 10 years' history of the championship, the regular 72 holes played failed to decide a winner yesterday. Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., and Revolta, from Milwaukee, Wis., finished all square at 185 for the competition and 18 holes were left for today to close the issue.

Revolta and Ghezzi were tied at the end of the first round, with sectional scores of 85. Ghezzi moved out in front, 139 to 140, at the halfway mark and Revolta was five shots to the good after three rounds. The Wisconsin youngster held this lead through the 67th hole but saw his lead slip away in the home stretch.

Revolta was called on to make a great shot from a trap at the second hole to save the tie when it seemed he was about to fall back into the runner-up position.

Ghezzi had played the morning round with an indifferent 73 while Revolta, finishing with two birdies, burned up the course and turned in a superb 69. It was a different story in the afternoon, for Ghezzi came back on his game and toured the course for the fourth round in a highly creditable 71.

MacDonald Smith, four times winner of the event, fired a snappy 69 into the picture in the closing moments and took third place with a score of 287. Smith was nine strokes behind Revolta starting the final round.

Gene Sarazen and Willie Goggin, with 72 holes scores of 286, tied for fourth. They played together and had a ding-dong battle. Sarazen started the last round one up, but Goggin got it back on the final 18.

Don Erickson, Los Angeles, public links star, won the amateur honors and took third place with a score of 300. Baker won the toss and took the runner-up place through the flip of the coin.

Grayson's Mother Vetoes Proposal For Ring Career

PALO ALTO, Cal., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Even if Bobby Grayson, Stanford's all-American football star, has been offered $50,000 to become a professional boxer, he is not going to take it, his mother said here today.

"The story first appeared in New York papers," Mrs. Grayson said, "but we don't know how it happened to be published. Robert hasn't been offered any such work, and besides he has another year at Stanford."

"Well, even if he had been promised that much, you wouldn't be interested, would you, Mrs. Grayson?" she was asked.

"Absolutely not," she replied.

ELKS' FIGHT CARD WILL BE FIRST OF SERIES IN WINTER

The first of a series of five boxing cards to determine the championship of the Medford CCC district will be held Thursday night at the Elks temple, immediately following regular lodge session. Business to come before the lodge at this time will be brief, according to Secretary Ernest Scott, to allow brothers to settle down for the first evening of fist-cuff entertainment in what promises to be a really big program of smokers.

Elks only may attend and will be given a free feed and beer right after the boxing card. One of the largest turnouts of the year is expected, as five bouts promising plenty of "hot leather" have been lined up.

A series of preliminary cards have been staged throughout the district for the purpose of determining the best fighters in each camp. One card was recently held at Grants Pass, resulting in three knockouts, three technical kayos and several decisions. Thursday night's card will be the first of the main series of elimination bouts, all to be held at the Elks temple for Elks only. The championship match will be held in March.

The CCC fighters will be brought to Medford Thursday morning for weighing in and matching, under the supervision of First Lieut. Henry F. Phelan of Camp Oak Knoll. Captain William C. Ryan of district headquarters is cooperating with officials of the Elks lodge in making possible the boxing program.

The smoker is gaining considerable interest among lodge members.
