Impressive Service Marks Installation Of D.U.V. Leaders

Edna Duell Hubbs tent No. 11 of Medford, Daughters of Union Veterans, held its annual installation of officers on Friday evening, January 11. After the regular business session and initiation of two candidates, the doors were opened to a number of invited guests, who were present to witness the impressive ceremony of installing the officers for the ensuing year.

Mrs. Ora Cox was commissioned by the department president as installing officer, and assisted by her staff, gracefully and perfectly conducted the installation. Mrs. Nina Craig was installing guide. Representatives from several patriotic orders of the city were guests of the tent. Comrade J. C. Woods, representing the G. A. R., was the only Civil War veteran able to attend. His remarks were interesting and touching, paying high tribute to the Daughters, whose sole aim and purpose is to commemorate the memories of their fathers and grandfathers, veterans of the Civil War.

Mrs. Ethel Weed, president of the Women's Relief Corps, responded pleasantly to the invitation for remarks. Mrs. Weed is a daughter of a Union Civil War veteran, but not a member of any tent, as is also Mrs. Spilner, regent of the D. A. R., who made a short, impressive talk. Other words of appreciation from guests for the evening were made by Comrade Young, commander of the Spanish-American War Veterans, and by Mrs. Paxson, president of the Spanish-American Auxiliary, also by Mrs. Parker, who represented the American Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. J. C. Woods complimented the Daughters on their services to the comrades and their families. After the meeting, light refreshments were served.

Mrs. Edna Kindred, retiring president, has been elected president for the coming year. Other officers for 1935 are:

Senior vice-president, Grace Guyer; junior vice-president, Carrie Averill; chaplain, Margaret Hubbard; treasurer, Ella Rogers; council member No. 1, Frances Campbell; council member No. 2, Maggie Edwards; council member No. 3, Ora Cox; patriotic instructor, Dorthea Nelson; secretary, Grace Seaborn; press correspondent, Minnie Albright; guide, Ione Kindred; guard, Lucille Scheffel; assistant guard, Forest Dale; musician, Elsie Penwell; color bearer No. 1, Joan Guyer; color bearer No. 2, Della May Dale; color bearer No. 3, Maxine Guyer; color bearer No. 4, Lucille Kates.

Owing to the untiring efforts of Mrs. Kindred and her staff the past year has been one of the most successful in the history of the tent. It was pointed out at the meeting.

Social Card Party Tomorrow for Club

Mrs. Mary Zundel will be hostess tomorrow afternoon to members of Wessons club, at her home, 113 Vancouver avenue. The meeting is to be the club's regular social card party.

Mrs. James Hoy entertained P. T. A. Mrs. James Hoy proved a delightful hostess when, assisted by a group from Washington unit, she entertained the Medford council of P. T. A.

For place card a large basket of dainty concealed fruit was used as a centerpiece on small tables about the room.

Mrs. Carl Bennett presided at the business session that followed.

Interesting reports were made of work done in the schools represented.

The Junior high invited the council to be their guests at the home of their historian, Mrs. Maybelle Church, 309 East Jackson street, February 19.

During the afternoon the women worked on small garments to be given to the nursery school being conducted in the Junior high school. The garments when presented will admit the donor to the nursery school to visit and see their equipment.

Count was taken of those planning to attend the "Home Interests" conference. Several are planning to attend. The conference will be held in Corvallis February 12-16. Each school is urged by Mrs. Mabel Mack, local home demonstration agent, to send the presidents and as many others as possible.

The work this year will be especially interesting and instructive to Parent-Teachers. Mrs. Mack announced that Mrs. Wm. Kietzer, state P. T. A. president, has assisted in planning the program.

Tickets on sale For Ashland Concert

Tickets have been put on sale at the Tugger for the piano and voice concert next Friday evening at the Southern Oregon Normal school at Ashland. Delbert Fradenburg, lyric tenor, will appear in a joint recital with David Campbell, widely known pianist. Prices for the tickets are very reasonable, and many from this city are taking interest in the presentation and planning to attend.

Delbert Fradenburg, who has been described as America's youngest outstanding tenor, received his training in New York, and made appearances both in light opera and in the movies at Hollywood. His voice is of exceptional range, exquisite sweetness and appeal, meeting with the highest approval in all his concerts. Although his name is distinctively German, Delbert Fradenburg is almost wholly of Irish blood, and the loved songs of Ireland are a feature on his programs.

Wilentz, Reilly--Match Legal Skill and Wit in Battle Over Hauptmann

The clash of legal skill and wit between opposing counsel in the trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann at Flemington, N. J., for the murder of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., is being watched from one end of the country to the other by legal experts, and furnishes many of the highlights of the sensational case. Above are camera close-ups of the two principals in the opposing legal batteries—David T. Wilentz (left), dark and dapper attorney general of New Jersey, and Edward J. Reilly (right), ruddy-faced and sometimes pugnaclous veteran of many murder trials, who is determinedly fighting for the life of the German carpenter. In the center is a picture taken at an intermission in the trial when Wilentz (left) and Reilly posed together on the courthouse steps of the Hunterdon county courthouse. (Associated Press Photos) ed writings, but insisted "there was no discrepancy which indicated a different writer in all these documents."

His acknowledgement of differences between certain "D's," certain "A's," certain "R's" in the writings, and his admission that he did not, though he examined 8,000 papers in the case, compared two writings of the word "please," caused the prosecutor to ask him:

"Has anything been brought to your attention by opposing counsel which in any way changes your opinion on the writer of these documents?"

"No," Souder said.

The state considers the handwriting evidence one of its strongest weapons for placing Hauptmann in the New Jersey electric chair for the kidnaping and murder of Baby Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., who was stolen from his crib on March 1, 1932.

Experts Agree

The expert Osborn said shortly before the noon recess that he prepared the material for dictation to Hauptmann after his arrest. These dictated specimens were used by all the experts as a basis for comparison with the ransom notes.

Here is what the experts said:

Cassidy: "If Mr. Hauptmann wrote those request writings and standard writings, I feel compelled to say he wrote those ransom notes."

Souder: "If Mr. Hauptmann wrote the request writings and the admitted writings, he also wrote the ransom documents."

Osborn: "In my judgment, based upon these standards, Bruno Richard Hauptmann wrote all the ransom notes."

The defense, which is openly trying to implicate Fisch in the writing of the notes, bore down on the possibility that a clever penman imitated Hauptmann's hand in the notes. Fisch, who died in Germany of tuberculosis last March, was named by Hauptmann as the real owner of the $14,000 ransom money found in Hauptmann's garage.

BRITAIN PUSHES PLAN TO WRECK SLUM DISTRICTS

By HARRY FLOREY United Press Staff Correspondent LONDON.—(UP)—"Slums must be abolished," declares Britain's one-armed minister of health, Sir Edward Hilton Young.

So the national government, with the co-operation of municipal authorities, aims to pull down 280,000 slum dwellings in England and Wales during the next five years and re-house the 1,250,000 persons now living in them.

Slum clearance is the second point in the government's three-fold housing program. The first is the continuation of ideal conditions, namely, low interest rates and low building costs to enable private enterprise to build houses for the middle classes and higher paid working classes.

Slum Clearance Scheme

The slum clearance scheme is estimated to cost the national exchequer $278,000,000, spread over 40 years, and municipal authorities another $175,000,000 to $200,000,000.

Arthur Greenwood, minister of health in the last labor government, is the author of the slum clearance scheme which the national government has adopted.

It was only one part of Greenwood's housing program, as adopted by parliament in 1920. Briefly, it provides that the national exchequer shall pay a subsidy of either $12.50 or $16.25, depending upon the value of the land, for 40 years for each present slum dweller who is provided with adequate new accommodations.

In practice, the higher subsidy is paid in the largest cities, the smaller subsidy in other areas.

In addition, the municipal authority must contribute $16.75 per annum for 40 years for every dwelling provided for rehousing slum dwellers.

Theory and Practice

By means of the subsidy, rents of new accommodations, in theory, can be kept down. In practice, even with the subsidy, it has been found that cannot provide sufficient accommodations for the lowest paid workers at rents they can afford to pay.

So far, the slum clearance scheme, although it has been law for four years, has had no appreciable effect on building operations. During the six months ended September 30, 1934, only 959 dwellings were completed in England and Wales. The number of such slum clearance dwellings under construction on the date was only 19,331, while another 8767 had been authorized but not started. But 3649 areas, with a population of 300,000, had been "declared" for clearance.

UNIVERSITY JUBILANT OVER LIBRARY GRANT

EUGENE, Jan. 16.—(UP)—News from the Oregon congressional delegation that a grant of $350,000 for a new library had been granted the University of Oregon by the Public Works Administration, was received here today with elation by faculty, students and townspeople.

"Granting of the funds makes possible a hope we have held for many years," said President C. V. Boyer. "The university has needed a new library, for it has long outgrown the one that was designed for a few hundred students."
