sent inside a negro cook, who had been working there. He returned in a few minutes with the news: "They are all dead."

None of the department of justice agents was injured. The federal men then entered the house.

LA SALLE, Ill., Jan. 16.—A running gun fight through three counties ended today with the capture of three bank robbers and the suicide of a fourth.

A 13-year-old boy, Norbert Maas of Leonore, Ill., who had been held as a hostage by the robbers, was wounded and captured in a field near McNabb, Ill., by a force of state, county and city police.

The robbers, who fled after an unsuccessful attempt to rob the Leonore State bank of Leonore, Ill., were surrounded and captured in a field near McNabb, Ill., by a force of state, county and city police.

LIONS SEE SHRINE CIRCUS NUMBERS

Several acts from the Shrine Circus being presented this week at the armory were a part of the program given this noon at the regular weekly luncheon of the Lions club.

The Hood Sisters, contortionists and acrobats, did their clever twists and stunts in one act. Bob Henry entertained with some of his fancy juggling in another, and Pete Heaton completed the program with several numbers on the piano.

A general discussion was held relative to the National Safety campaign, and members agreed to cooperate with local authorities in minimizing traffic accidents.

FIFTY COUPLES ENJOY 40-8 DINNER DANCE

Fifty voyageurs and their lady guests of Medford Vulture No. 155, 40 and 8, attended the second annual dinner dance at Bonney's grill, members making the trip from this city, Ashland and Grants Pass despite bad weather.

The dinner was described by those who attended as good, and dancing was afterward enjoyed until 2 a. m. Lee Garlock, chef de gare of Medford vulture, was in charge.

pipe, a 22-caliber shell, bloodstains on the trail, and the place where Fanta's body lay 240 yards distant.

It was near Mayer's cabin at a point on the river where the ingenious hermit had constructed a cable crossing.

Another map, showing relative position of landmarks, was accepted as evidence, but not to indicate county lines. The defense has intimated it might claim the shooting occurred in Curry county.

Foray's said that on Mayer's arrest December 5 the hermit evinced surprise, but soon admitted the shooting.

Mayer, the officer said, told him he had intended to get Fanta's surprise, but was unsuccessful. The hermit shot him where he was.

ASHLAND PAVING WIDENING STARTS

ASHLAND, Jan. 16.—(Sp.)—Work on the PWA paving project near the Southern Oregon Normal school was started yesterday with the grading of each side of the black-top highway in preparation for the 10-foot strip of concrete that will be constructed on each side of the present road.

Fred Lindsay of the Mountain States Construction company in Eugene is supervising the work of four men engaged in the grading with the use of a motor blade.

Nine inches of dirt must be removed from the entire 1188-foot strip of new road before the concrete is poured, which is expected to start next week.

After the forms are built and the grading completed, the crew will be boosted to between 12 and 15 men for the actual work of paving. A row for the old highway surface will also be done.

The widening job will extend from the west end of the Normal school campus to the curve by the junction with the Bellview road, where the new Siskiyou highway will meet the present route.

EX-MRS. CROFTON SEEKING DAMAGES

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—(AP) Ailing defamator of character, Mrs. Y. Crofton, former wife of James N. Crofton, sportsman, today had on file in superior court a cross-complaint to the $100,000 allegations of affections suit filed by Mrs. Rose Yarnell. Mrs. Crofton asks $100,000 damages and $25,000 punitive damages.

Last October, Mrs. Yarnell accused Mrs. Crofton of alienating the affections of her husband, Ira Yarnell, filing the $100,000 suit.

The far west buttoned up its overcoats and shook out its umbrellas as a new storm boomed down from the northwest today.

Snow was piled higher in the mountains. Northern California rivers swelled, but kept below flood stages because freezing temperatures in the snow belt held back the runoff.

However, central California saw a snow thaw that threatened inundation of a block of ranch homes south of Madera as the Fresno river and Cottonwood creek overflowed a hundred square miles. Families and stock were moved to higher ground.

Washington saw a light snowfall generally over the state. Temperatures fluctuated with the freezing mark in the western section. Spokane had eight inches on the ground; Yakima an inch andinch valley, at Mount Rainier, 134 inches.

Snow-in Portland melted before a cold rain. Sub-zero temperatures were general in Oregon. Farmers

TOLEDO Snaps—Kills Climber. POLEDO, O.—(UP)—An abandoned telephone pole which Chester Henning, 64, climbed in the rear of his home, away perilously as he reached the top, then snapped at the base and plunged him to his death. When the pole broke, Henning clung to it, neighbors said. He had climbed it to fasten a wire at the top.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Sewards whisper. Chef consult pastry men. Pastry men consult bakers. Bakers consult confectioners. It's a secret. Nobody knows, not even the captain. And then—

"SURPRISE!" Without warning we slip up with a birthday cake—a big festooned cake with a dozen number of candles—for our passenger's table.

How do we find out about birthdays? Well, friends usually tell us and the plot begins. We surprise hundreds of children each year, too, with parents as part of the conspiracy.

And it really isn't much, this secret cake baking of ours. We wouldn't have mentioned it at all except it's a nice way of telling you about our quiet interest in you personally when you travel Panama Pacific. To us, you're an individual, not a state-room number. We're going to see that you have the time of your life on a trip you'll never forget.

CENTRAL CALIFORNIA SNOWFALL THREATENS TO FLOOD WIDE AREA

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Senator McNary, (R., Ore.) today quoted President Roosevelt as favoring the establishment of a Columbia valley authority to supervise development of the Columbia river and its tributaries in the Pacific northwest.

McNary indicated that in connection with establishment of a supervising authority the president was considering the construction of a high dam at Grand Coulee, on the Columbia central Washington, for power and irrigation purposes.

At present a low dam, for power generation only, is under construction. The ultimate development calls for a high dam for power generation and to provide water to irrigate approximately 1,200,000 now arid acres in central Washington.

Washington saw a light snowfall generally over the state. Temperatures fluctuated with the freezing mark in the western section. Spokane had eight inches on the ground; Yakima an inch andinch valley, at Mount Rainier, 134 inches.

Snow-in Portland melted before a cold rain. Sub-zero temperatures were general in Oregon. Farmers

OREGON STATE GETS MORE SERA FINANCE

PORTLAND, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Allotment of $15,000 for additional building construction and repairs at Oregon State college was announced by the state emergency relief administration today. A large part of the money will be used for remodeling of Klinger hall.

Other relief work approved today included general county road improvement in Klamath county; sub-grade work and surfacing on Washburn way, Klamath county, and a municipal inventory, mapping and indexing survey at Astoria.

Barking Dog Saves Five. CINCINNATI.—(UP)—Five persons were saved from possible death in a fire by the barking of a dog here, Mrs. Jeanette Menke, 38, trapped by flames, leaped from a second story window and suffered a broken leg.
