'BROADWAY BILL' FILM FOR BENEFIT SHOW, CRATERIAN

'Broadway Bill', the picture starring Warner Baxter and Myrna Loy which has stormed through the east breaking records in box offices in almost every large city on the Atlantic seaboard has been secured by George Hunt for its Pacific northwest premier on the evening of January 30 for the Roosevelt benefit party.

It has been the idea of Mr. Hunt for some time to put on a theatre party to aid in the president's party's control movement, so that those who do not care to dance may contribute to the cause by this means. He is giving the use of the theatre free of charge, and the employees are contributing their time in a generous move.

The picture will go directly into the theatre, 70 per cent of which will be returned to the community from which it is collected, and 30 per cent staying with the president's fund.

SEEK NEW TRIAL FOR KYLE PUGH

A motion picture new trial for Kyle Pugh, under a 10 year sentence in state prison, conviction under the Oregon criminal syndicalism law, was denied yesterday by Circuit Judge H. D. Norton. Pugh, claiming Josephine county as his residence, was specifically charged with the "sale, distribution, and possession of literature" advocating the overthrow of the American form of government, "by agitation, crime and force."

The first public library in North Carolina was established at the town of Bath in 1790.

When you argue with a fool, he is doing the same thing.

ANTI-COMMUNISM DRIVE LAUNCHED BY ELKS LODGES

Calling for "the flaming spirit of a crusade," Michael F. Shannon, grand exalted ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of the United States of America, has launched a memorial to congress for legislation deemed necessary to eradicate communist and other subversive influences in the country.

This determination came with full knowledge that subversive interests are being allowed to grow and spread unchecked by official action of our federal government and that corrective bills of two sessions of congress have been permitted to die in committee.

- 1. Investigation of all legislative activities by the department of justice with ample funds provided to furnish personnel and cover expenses, with discretionary authority to publish reports concerning individuals or organizations seeking to overthrow the government by force or violence.
2. Outlawing organizations having for their purpose the overthrow by force or violence of the American constitutional government.
3. Making it a felony to advocate, promote or encourage such overthrow.
4. Denying use of mails to publications advocating such overthrow or affiliated with outlawed organizations.
5. Prohibit interstate transportation of such publications.
6. Making certain deportation of aliens seeking the overthrow of the United States government.
7. Denying entry into the United States of aliens known to be out of harmony with American form of government.
8. Providing for revocation of naturalization of naturalized citizens advocating overthrow or change of government through force or violence.

The petitions from all communities will be assembled at the Elks' National Memorial building in Chicago on February 22, Washington's birthday, and there grouped by congressional districts and taken to Washington for formal presentation to the United States senate and to the house of representatives.

H. N. Butler, exalted ruler of Med-Elks' Lodge No. 1168, has received an allotment of petitions with instructions for local handling.

Wallace Beery in Craterian Hit

The life of "The Mighty Barnum" held its share of romantic affairs—and the bearded lady was not one to begrudge herself a chance to capture the heart of the great showman, as portrayed by Wallace Beery in the picture, "The Mighty Barnum," starting a three-day run at the Craterian theater today.

The film play follows the rise of one of the most colorful characters this country has ever produced—a man who started out with a small side show of freaks and built it to a peak of eminence no other man has ever reached. It shows the human side of Barnum and, with Beery in the title role, there is much comedy.

As he fights with his family when they oppose his entering the show business and, after entering, when they continually keep pecking away at his attempts to attract revenue to his show.

Through the many trials and aches, the triumph and glories he experienced, the life of Barnum was an amazing adventure that was always colorful and filled with numerous hilarious complications. Adolphe Menjou as Bailey Walsh heads the supporting cast, which also includes Virginia Bruce, Rochelle Hudson and a veritable side show in itself of freaks and oddities such as Barnum exploited.

factory program, and the picture that followed made it a perfect performance. No one who saw Joe Morrison in "The Old Fashioned Way" and heard him sing "We'll Keep Rolling in Love" needs to be told what a fine singer he is, and this quality, added to good acting by a good cast, presented a rare picture for an enthusiastic crowd.

Jack Mulholland, who has been mysteriously absent from the cinema for a long time, put in a brief appearance in this picture, and was welcomed by old fans.

So, as I said in the first place—one of the best double-feature shows in a long time. A real long time.

'RICHEST GIRL' PLAYS EXTRA DAY AT STUDIO

Follow the life and love of "The Richest Girl in the World" half-way around the globe, and you'll find absorbing entertainment in her endearing eccentricities!

But do it at the Studio theater, where this picture is being held over an extra day. With Miriam Hopkins in the leading role, and Joel McCrea as the object of her romantic conquest, the show is a superb piece of entertainment. It presents a novel interpretation of the age-old maxim that money can't buy everything.

Never a wrong that paid, nor one that didn't promise to pay.

The TRAIL BEYOND ADAPTED FROM JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD'S "Wolf Hunters" WITH NOAH BEERY NOAH BEERY JR. VERNA HILLIE

Rialto Friday

Following the footsteps of his famous father, young Noah Beery, Jr. comes to the Rialto theater for tomorrow and Saturday in an important supporting role to John Wayne in "The Trail Beyond," a James Oliver Curwood novel of the north woods, originally titled "The Wolf Hunters."

And there is not one Beery in the cast, but two, for the elder Beery also makes an appearance in "The Trail Beyond" cast. Starred for several years in serials and westerns, the younger Beery shows much of the histrionic ability of his illustrious father, and his uncle, Wallace Beery. The story concerns Rod Drew, played by Wayne, who is sent into the north to find a missing girl, and to discover what became of the girl's father. On the train, Rod meets Wabi, a college friend, and rescues him from a group of gamblers who planned to frame him on a murder charge. Fugitives from justice, the two youths leave the train and head into the wilderness, where they discover, in a deserted cabin, one of the clues of Wayne's quest.

All appreciate appreciation.
