

GOLFERS PAIRED FOR EAST, WEST CITY TOURNAMENT

Captains Thorndike and Phythian Lead Forces in Sunday's Inaugural of Annual 'Rose Bowl' Tilt

The "Crimson Tide" of the east side of town, led by Captain George (Dixie Howell) Phythian, will roll and surge on Rogue Valley golf course Sunday against an opposition of some 37 golfers from the west side captained by Gene (Bobby Grayson) Thorndike, in the first annual "Rose Bowl" tournament held in Medford.

The players will make the rounds in foursomes, and the tournament will be conducted without stymies. It was decided at a meeting last night of the two coaches, several members of the teams and the advisory committee, composed of: East, H. H. Pringle, George Phythian and R. B. Hammond; West, Harry McMahon, A. F. Mansfield and Leland Clark.

The players have already been listed and paired off, but Pro Jack Hueston announced that if anyone wishing to enter the tournament has been overlooked in the lineup, he may secure a position on his respective team by calling the golf club. Also, if some of the players are not able to take part Sunday, it is requested that they notify the pro.

The trophy, to be presented annually, has been donated by Shirley Temple, the youthful film star, and will be inscribed as follows: "Shirley Temple Rogue River Valley East-West Golf Classic, won by _____." George Hunt, responsible for the novel trophy, said it is expected to arrive Saturday morning.

It is expected that the tournament will result in many close matches, but the advisory committee has ruled against all unruly demonstrations of enthusiasm, out of respect to the donor of the championship cup. Members of the west side team will have tough opposition in the Crimson Tide, including the "300-yard" drive by Captain Phythian—150 yards up in the air and 150 back down again.

The pairings are as follows, with handicaps and starting times: 9:30 to 10:00—Ed Simmons, 4, vs. Henry Pringle, 4; Leland Clark, 4, vs. Donald Clark, 6; Earl Tunny, 9, vs. R. B. GRANGE EMPHATIC HE MEANS TO QUIT

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Harold ("Red") Grange, one of the greatest football players of all time, is again announcing his "retirement" as an athlete. The former University of Illinois star declared today he will make his final appearance on the playing field Sunday when his team, the Chicago Bears, meets the New York Giants, champions of the professional football world.

Grange, however, has "retired" as a player on previous occasions, but this time he was emphatic in saying he will quit the game. "Link" Lyman, left tackle for the Bears and a veteran of the pro ranks, also announced Sunday's game would mark his final appearance in a football uniform.

PRO GRIDIRON LEAGUE PLANNED IN CALIFORNIA

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Under sponsorship of the Los Angeles county council of the American Legion, a six-club professional football league will be formed in southern California this fall. Later, two cities in northern California will be taken into the circuit, Harry Meyers, representative of the council, said.

Hot beds in which early vegetables are grown for planting should be kept at temperatures ranging from 50 to 65 degrees, official tests show.

HUSKY CAGERS DEFEAT BEAVERS

Although Palmberg, Oregon State College forward, slipped by Chuck Wagner, No. 17, University of Washington guard, to make this basket, the Huskies put on enough steam to whip the Beavers for the first time of the season. SONS CANCEL TILT WITH SWEDE QUINT AS PRO TAIN T SEEN

ASHLAND, Jan. 25.—(Spl.)—No game with Olson's Terrible Swedes next Monday night, is the announcement Coach Howard Hobson brings back from Portland.

Skirmishes with the A. A. U. in which the Swedes came out on the short end of the stick, have been responsible for the cancellation of the game. Amateur Athletic Union officials have proven that the traveling team is of professional status, and that college or independent teams who play them would lose their amateur standing.

Amateur cards and traveling cards, good only for 21 days of continuous moving about, must be carried by the touring outfit, and the Swedes cannot conform with the requirements. Hobby states that he and his boys refused to jeopardize their standing with the union by going through with the game.

The big reason why Hobby is so particular about his team's Simon-pure character, is the possibility of an invitation to the national A. A. U. basketball tournament in Denver in March. Correspondence between the Southern Oregon Normal and the tournament officials has indicated that the Sons have an excellent chance to be chosen as one of the 32 teams of the country to get the chance to enter the tourney.

The recent conquest of the best hoop squads of Portland boosts the Sons' chances mightily, and they're not going to risk the faint of professionalism by playing the Swedes or any other doubtful team.

Hobby's mighty proud of his boys after they licked Multnomah club, 34 to 32 last Saturday night, and Union Oil 35 to 20 on Monday and 33 to 30 on Tuesday night, although he said the Sons played "fairly good ball."

He gave a fine tribute to the Ollers by saying they formed the best independent team he had ever seen, with eight three-year varsity men from Oregon, Oregon State, Washington and Idaho.

STEELE KNOCKS OUT JOE GANS IN THIRD

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 25.—(AP)—A third-round knockout was the answer of Freddie Steele, ranking Pacific northwest fighter at his weight, of Tacoma, to the challenge of "Baby" Joe Gans, Los Angeles. Steele weighed 154½, and Gans 153½.

Punching viciously, Steele floored Gans for a nine-count in the second with a left hook to the chin, and finished the battle in the third with a lightning right to the jaw.

The six-round semi-final saw Billy Gray, 140, Tacoma, punched out a decision over Young Harry Willis, 140½, Longview.

EXPECT HUGE CROWD FOR PORTLAND GAME

PORTLAND.—(Spl.)—Indications point to a capacity crowd filling the Multnomah stadium on Sunday, February 3, when the New York Giants, professional world's champion football team, plays the Coast All-Stars, led by "Iron Mike" Miskaik.

The game is sponsored by the Portland Rose Festival and will net proceeds of the contest will go to help finance the 1935 Portland Rose Festival.

Every seat in the stadium is reserved. Tickets are now on sale and mail orders may be sent to stadium ticket office, 1411 Public Service building, Portland. Phone A-2746. 1366.

ELKS FIGHT CARD FEATURED BY TWO TECHNICAL KAYOS

In the second of a series of smokera being held at the Elks' club, two technical knockouts and three decisions featured the continuance of the elimination contests of CCC talent in the fight card last night.

The scheduled three-round bout between Donovan of headquarters and Meyerhoffer of Spring Flat stole the show from the standpoint of excitement derived from many sudden trips to the canvas. Meyerhoffer stunning by a technical knockout in the third round.

In the last and main event of the card, Lener of Indian Creek won a close decision over Beal of headquarters, the bout going the full three rounds. Both men were fast and hard hitters, but according to the judges, Lener held the edge.

The first knockout of the evening came in the first round of the Moreno-Buddy Jack go. Moreno shot several stiff rights to the midsection of Applegate's fighter, sending him to the floor twice. The referee stopped the fight, giving the honors to Moreno of Hill.

In the second bout, Rosen of Hill defeated Butts of Carberry in a three-round slugfest, with Butts mostly on the receiving end. The curtain-raiser saw Dunbar of headquarters displaying nice timing and precision to win a decision over Hollywood of Spring Flat.

The fight card was officially opened when eight men stepped into the ring for a battle royal. Two colored boys seemed to be equally spent in strength and neither able to hurt the other, the honors going to a draw.

The smoker and feed was attended by a larger crowd of Elks than attended the first affair, many members coming from Ashland and other nearby lodges. All expressed satisfaction with the showing made by the CCC fighters of Medford district.

KEEPS PANTS CLEAN BUT PLAYS BIG ROLE ON W. S. C. GRID TEAM

PULLMAN, Wash.—(AP)—A football player who has never had his suit soiled, who has never practiced with his team, and who is listed as a center but has never played the position, still is figured as an important cog in next year's Washington State college grid machine.

He is Mel Johansen, a specialist in field goal kicking. He is the ace that Coach "Babe" Hollingbery holds on the bench to rush into the game if opportunity offers for a field goal attempt, or if a critical try-for-point has to be negotiated.

He has never run signals or engaged in scrimmages. He turned out daily for practice—all by himself—with only a center to toss the ball back, and a lad to "set" it during the last season.

Johansen helped Washington State score important points on several occasions the last two years, but once he made his try he was rushed right back to the bench.

Captain George (Lammie) Theodoratos, 240-pound Washington State college tackle, won "iron man" honors on the Cougar team last season when he saw action for 395 minutes out of a possible 480 minutes in eight games.

In a basketball game with Notre Dame in the 1927-1928 season, Pittsburgh won, 24 to 22, although making only two field goals. The Panthers sank 20 out of 26 free throws.

COPPER GROCERY STORE REOPENED

BIG APPELDATE, Jan. 25.—(Spl.)—Having remained closed for a period of two months, the small grocery store at Copper has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Crow of Bakewell, Cal., and is open for business under the supervision of George Beck. The service station also is being operated in connection with the store, which was purchased by Mrs. C. A. Wiggins of Eugene, Mr. Crow, who operates a transfer line in California, expects to come here soon with Mrs. Crow to take charge of their store, which they have stocked with a complete line of groceries. The store, which has been in existence for several years, formerly being in charge of A. W. Meyer, serves the many residents of this remote section of the Applegate, and the reopening is a welcomed accomplishment in the community.

NO SMALLPOX IN JACKSON COUNTY

Although there have been over 100 cases of smallpox reported in the state of Washington, there have been none so far in this county, according to a statement made this morning.

Doctor Drummond stated that while there is little if any danger from that dread disease at the present time, it would be a wise move for those not yet vaccinated for smallpox to be treated at once.

Many of the rural schools have already been vaccinated, and the rest will be in the near future. The difference between the rash of chicken pox, (several cases of which have been reported in the county), and a mild case of smallpox is said to be slight. All cases thought to be either chicken or smallpox should be reported immediately, the doctor said.

PHOENIX BUZZARDS DEFEAT ROOSEVELTS

The Phoenix Buzzards, a town team, defeated the Roosevelt school team in a basketball game on Tuesday night at the Roosevelt gymnasium. The first round ended in five minutes, shortly after Catalano connected a hard job to Kent's bread basket, and the second fall was over in six when Tony Perastin with a choke hold.

Ray Frisbie was arbiter in both matches. Twenty-five separate families of Smiths are represented in the student body at the North Carolina State college and the Browns and Johnsons are tied for second place with 17 each.

LEATHERS PINS ALL FOR ONLY FALL IN HOURS GRAPPLING

Sad Sam Letthers, tall Texas grappler, probably saw the longest one minute of his life in the main event of the wrestling card last night at the armory, for he stuck it out for just about that length of time flat on the mat with "Gentleman" Al Karasick, Russia, clinch down on him with a Boston crab—and thereby won the match, by virtue of the fact that he had obtained the first and only fall in 55 minutes.

When the grapplers re-entered the ring for the last five minutes of the tussle, all Letthers had to do was keep his shoulders off the mat until the bell rang, but he found this pretty hard when Karasick, with only one minute to go, applied the devastating crab hold. The midjet Russian, failing to get enough leverage on Sad Sam's "rubber" leg, was unable to make his big opponent flat on the canvas, although Sam was badly crippled when the gong finally sounded.

There was plenty of action and plenty of comedy in the match, which was not only faster but more of a grind than the first time these two veterans met here, tugging and puffing to a draw. They wrestled on very nearly even terms during the first period, which ended when Limber Sam secured a double arm bar on the midjet and held him on his back for the count.

Karasick, 190½, displayed even more than his usual amount of energy, and Sad Sam, 208, also seemed in fine fettle, judging from the way the two scampared and rolled about, often ending up in comical tangles. One high light was a mixup with the ropes that put Karasick out of commission temporarily with his neck and arms well twisted up in the top two strands, after Letthers had tried to twist him out of the ring.

Only once did Sam secure his favorite rocking-chair scissor, but Karasick proved his stamina by resisting it for four minutes until he was able to crawl under the ropes. Karasick surprised the tall Texan nearly out of his boots when, reversing Sad Sam's own favorite trick, he actually stepped out of a wristlock.

Agreeing with Letthers that the bout was real work, Karasick summed up his opposition afterwards with: "That man, he's best!" In a farce preliminary, Harry Kent, 235-pound ex-Oregon State athlete, won two straight falls on fouls from Tony Catalano, roughneck Italian, although the latter could have taken both tumbles had he been satisfied with straight wrestling.

Each time he applied what would otherwise have been a winning hold, the 219-pound mannie supplemented it with slugging and kicking. The first tumble ended in five minutes, shortly after Catalano connected a hard job to Kent's bread basket, and the second fall was over in six when Tony Perastin with a choke hold.

Ray Frisbie was arbiter in both matches.

TIGERS REVAMPED FOR INVASION OF G. PASS TONIGHT

(By Dick Applegate.) What probably will be revamped Medford high school basketball team will tangle tonight with the rapidly improving Grants Pass Covenants, in the northern city at 8 o'clock. The Burgher squad has been working madly all week to iron out weaknesses in passing and floor work, and extra stress has been put upon the completing of foul shots, to give the Tiger outfit a more lethal scoring attack.

With the best material the Climate City has boasted in years, they encounter Medford tonight with the intention of handing Burgher's charges a sound thumping if they can, naturally, but the Tiger defense should put a decided crimp in those aspirations. A different attitude on the part of his charges has been promised by Burgher, and a possible shift of the starting lineup. A better feeling among the players is being manifested, he said, and he expects to put the fastest scoring combination on the floor that he has shown to date.

Tomorrow night, Saturday, Weed high will invade southern Oregon to take a crack at the Tiger post in a game starting at 9 o'clock, at the high school gym here. Weed lost a close game to Ashland recently, and reports indicate that they have a good team.

While Luman and VanDyke will not be eligible for the game tonight, they will be for the Weed encounter, and Hinman and Stewart will see their last games for the Red and Black on Saturday, giving the Burghermesters a full strength squad for the Weed game for the only time this year.

The Medford squad has shown rapid improvement in every game so far this year, with the greatest strides forward having been taken during the past week. They seem to be pointing for the conference games, and also hope to get every bit of advantageous practice from the non-conference tilts.

Many local fans are planning on going to Grants Pass tonight, and the prospect of a fast game here tomorrow assures a large crowd.

When the 1935 football season rolls around at Notre Dame it's almost a certainty that Coach Elmer Layden will drill his charges on the importance of the point after touchdown. The Irish made 17 touchdowns last fall, but added only six extra points, and lost to Texas, 7-6, but the margin of the extra point.

BEAVERS AND HUSKIES OPEN CRUCIAL SERIES IN CORVALLIS TONIGHT

CORVALLIS, Ore., Jan. 25.—(AP)—With the coast conference basketball leadership at stake, Washington and Oregon State cagers begin a crucial two-game series here tonight.

The Huskies are leading the pack with three wins and one loss, while the Beavers are tied with Idaho for second place with three wins and two defeats.

The only other conference game to be played is between Idaho and Washington State at Pullman Saturday, Oregon resting before her two-game series with Washington at Eugene next Monday and Tuesday, occupied fourth place in the standings with three wins and four losses.

Should the Huskies take both games from the Beavers, they will have a substantial hold on first place with five wins and only one loss, with a percentage of .833. If the Beavers upset the hope and win both games, the Beavers will jump into the lead with a percentage of .714.

Five members of the Washington State college football team traded their molasses for basketball trunks at the start of the northern division Pacific Coast conference hoop race this season. Four were ends and the other a halfback.
