Free Methodist Church. We are looking for a big day on the Lord's day. Sunday school begins at 9:45 a.m. and most of the Sunday school hour will be taken over by Rev. and Mrs. Haywood bringing a special message to the children and young people. We expect the Lord to meet us in this service. At 11 o'clock Rev. Haywood will deliver the morning message, and again in the evening at 7:30 the evangelistic service. Y. P. M. meeting at 8:30 p.m. Mrs. Haywood will give a very interesting account of the work in the Kentucky mountains. Special singing at both services. You are urged to be present.

While little Sally Cotillo, aged 6, does the sales work, Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of the President, contributes the first quarter for a birthday greeting to her famous son. The greeting, the world's largest anniversary message, will bear the names of those who, unable to attend the 1935 Birthday Ball for the President on Jan. 30th, nevertheless want to join in the nation-wide celebration and at the same time contribute to a national fund for war on infantile paralysis. Through an arrangement made with Clarence H. Mackay, chairman of the Postal Telegraph-Cable Company, the birthday greeting will be delivered with all names to the President. Postal offices throughout the nation will accept names at twenty-five cents each. All money raised will go to the infantile paralysis fund. 70 cents of every dollar being used for local rehabilitation of paralysis victims in the community in which the contributions are made, and the remaining 30 per cent for the President's Birthday Ball Commission for Infantile Paralysis Research, of which Col. Henry L. Doherty is chairman. Both Sally and Mrs. Roosevelt are active workers in the campaign. Besides making the first birthday greeting sale to the President's mother, Sally is the little girl who posed for Howard Chandler Christy's 1933 Birthday Ball poster. She is the daughter of Supreme Court Judge Salvatore Cotillo of New York City. Mrs. Roosevelt is not only the first to contribute to the birthday greeting, but is also honorary chairman of the Birthday Ball for the President at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York, at which she will have the box of honor.
