

GALLOPING GHOST DEFINITELY ENDS FOOTBALL CAREER

Failure to Score in Bear-Giant Game Disappoints Grange, Famous Star of College and Pro Gridirons

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 28.—(AP) That famous number 77, which flashed across collegiate and professional gridirons for a dozen years, was out of circulation today.

Almost without benefit of eulogy Harold (Red) Grange, galloping ghost of the Illinois and one of those who helped pioneer pro football, carried the pair of seven for the last time yesterday with the Chicago Bears as they trounced the New York Giants, 21 to 0.

So often has Grange made his famous announcement of retirement that no one took him seriously. But those who saw his valiant effort here yesterday were certain this time he meant it. Grange failed to score a touchdown when he was brought down after a 41-yard run.

Definitely Through
"I'm earned about it," said Grange later. "I'm through, definitely through, this time. The legs haven't got it any more. I'm thirty-one now and it's time to quit when a back gets that old. I'm getting out of the game before I get killed."

He said it with sad seriousness.
"If I had scored on that run, I would have grounded the ball behind the goal posts and walked off the field. I'm leaving the game with many regrets, but my failure to score on that run probably will remain as the greatest."

May Coach
"What will I do now? Coach, I hope, I am considering two offers and several promising business ventures, but I won't know definitely what my next move will be for several months."

Grange is taking away little of the hundreds of thousands of dollars the game gave him; most of it was made early in his career and lost early. He rose to the heights with C. C. Pyle, promoter, and went to monetary defeat with him.

Another great player, Link Lyman, tackle, also bowed out of the picture yesterday, after 15 years in the football wars. Lyman, a great lineman on Nebraska's famous teams of 1919-1920 and 1921, after 12 years of pro football, will return to his alma mater as line coach.

BOWLING

Piche's Hardware bowlers took two out of three games from the Mason Ehrman squad on the Elks alleys yesterday, despite a neat 595 pins turned in by Roy Pruitt. Hollywood Orchard and East Side Pharmacy took tonight.

WEST SIDE TEAM DEFEATS EAST IN GOLFING CLASSIC

Although 1935 was a bad year for the west in the original Josee Bow game at Passaden, Medford's own "Roosevelt" classic turned out in favor of the red and white Sunday when 25 players from the west side of town, coached by Gene (Bobby Grayson) Thordike, met and turned the "Crimson Tide" of the east side of town, coached by George (Dixie Howell) Puythian. The score in points was 59; for the west side and 35; for the east side.

Feeling of a fog so thick that it was necessary for the players to shoot ahead before making their shots, the two teams played on even terms and the outcome was not decided until the final match.

The advisory committee was deadlocked until this morning in making a decision whether or not the tournament should be called completed, or whether the 20 or 25 players who did not compete should be given a chance to play before the cup was awarded. It was decided that the event is over for 1935, the championship cup donated by Shirley Temple, youthful screen star, going to the west side team. The next tournament will be played on New Year's day, 1936.

Homer Marx, originally listed as a member of the west side team, was placed on the east side lineup, due to a shortage of players, and because he dropped his match three points to Maurice Spatz, the advisory committee was undecided at first whether or not the contest had legal status.

Captain Puythian won his match from E. Raymond Driver, three points, while Captain Thordike lost, 2 1/2 to 1 1/2, to John Cupp. Other colorful matches were the contests between Ed Simmons and H. H. Pringle, which Simmons won by three points, and the battle between George Hunt, who secured the cup from Shirley Temple, and A. F. West. West was winner by 2 to 1 points.

The final rounds of the tournament were played in clear, sunshiny weather, and several visitors enjoyed the tournament.

The trophy will be on exhibit at the Chamber of Commerce until the winners decide what to do with it.

The results were as follows, with west side players listed first:

Ed Simmons 3; H. H. Pringle 0; Leland Clark 1 1/2; D. S. Clark 1 1/2; Earl Tully 3; R. B. Hammond 0; H. Johnson 1 1/2; George Henselman 1 1/2; C. S. Newhall 0; H. B. Kellom 3; H. Bunce 3; George Hidding 0; Harry McMahon 1 1/2; Gordon Green 1/2; Ward Beeny 1; D. G. Tyree 2; A. F. Maszfield 3; T. S. Johnson 0; E. R. Driver 0; George Puythian 3.0; A. Bronder 3; Dr. Bunce 0; J. BEAVER QUINTET LEADS NORTHERN COAST DIVISION

The sharpshooting Beavers from Oregon State college, after handing Washington's title hopes a pair of sickening jolts during the week-end, were sailing blithely along at the head of the northern division Pacific coast conference hoop race today, while the rest of the league were pondering over ways and means of stopping them.

The Beavers landed heavily on the Huskies at Corvallis Friday, coming out on the best end of a 31-20 count, and then made an even better job of it the following evening with a 28-17 decision. The two games wound up the series between the two schools for the season, with each having won two and lost two.

Washington State's Cougars, who started out the season with five straight disastrous losses, served notice to the rest of the circuit Saturday that from now on they are no longer the pushover. The Cougars made three victories in a row with a 42-27 pasting to the Idaho Vandals.

Although out in front by a game and a half, the Beavers were in no spot yet to start thinking about clearing a place to hang the championship pennant. Three contests with Oregon, a pair with the greatly improved Cougars, this time on the Washington State floor, and four games with the dangerous Idaho outfit still faced them.

Washington and Oregon will tangle in a two-game series at Eugene tonight and tomorrow. A double win for either team will put them dangerously close to the Beavers, and a double loss will mean, for Washington a tie with the Cougars for the bottom spot, and for Oregon sole possession of the cellar.

Other games this week pit Oregon State against Oregon at Eugene and Washington State against Idaho at Moscow, both Saturday night.

The standings:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Oregon State	5	2	.715
Washington	3	3	.500
Idaho	3	3	.500
Oregon	3	4	.429
Washington State	3	5	.375

BEARS REVENGED BY 21-0 VICTORY OVER GIANT TEAM

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Chicago's Bears held a revenge victory over the New York Giants today, but their impressive 21 to 0 victory here yesterday failed to bring back the national pro title lost in New York city more than a month ago.

In a game that on occasion took on the aspect of a brawl, the Bears charged over and around their eastern foes for three touchdowns in the first half and then successfully stayed off every effort of the Giants to rally in the second.

With Bronko Nagurski leading the attack with his relentless crushing drives through the line, the Bears charged 84 yards to score shortly after the contest opened.

In the second period they resorted to speed and passes to cross the goal line twice more. Nagurski rammed through from the 6-inch line for the first touchdown after he and Beattie Feathers had taken the ball there.

Two passes, the first, Carl Brumbaugh to Jack Johnson, for 25 yards to the 3 and the other, Jack Manders to the same end over the goal line brought the second touchdown. Shortly thereafter, Keith Moleworth, 160-pound halfback, reeled 16 yards for the third touchdown.

PETE ANXIOUS TO GRAPPLE LEATHERS

Word from Promoter Mack Lillard indicated today that Pete Belcastro, the belligerent Italian, is looking forward to his main event bout here Thursday night with Sam Sam Letters of Texas, with the determination of giving the limber-legged southerner a thorough trouncing.

Pete is still smarting from a drubbing he received here several months ago from the man with the educated legs, who applied several of his devastating scissor holds and took two out of three falls from the Italian. Letters took care of all the roughness Belcastro had to offer last time, but Belcastro promises a far greater portion of drop-kicks and meanie tactics when the two meet again.

Paul Boesch, famous Brooklyn drop-kicker, will tangle in the other half of the double main event card with Abe Kaplan, the "Jewish Gent" of New York city.

190-FOOT LEAP TOPS SKI EVENT

GOVERNMENT CAMP, Ore., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Ski jumpers from the state of Washington walked off with most of the major prizes awarded at the ski-jumping tournament held during the annual winter sports here Sunday afternoon.

Jumpers from Washington won the first three places in both the class A and class B events.

Hermold Bakke of Leavenworth, Wash., turned in the longest jump of the day and was awarded 152.2 points for form and grace during his jumps to win first place in the class A event. Bakke leaped 190 feet. Second place went to Arnt Ofsod of Spokane, with a jump of 184 feet and 148.2 points, while the third place award was won by Ole Tverchad of Seattle, who leaped 182 feet and secured 146.8 points.

GIRLS' CLUB QUINTET WILL MEET TONIGHT

The class is enjoying an active season this year with the prospect of several more games and a party which the Community Club council has promised the girls.

TIGERS' SHAKUP STARTS QUINTET ON VICTORY PATH

If we are to believe all that we see and hear, the Medford high basketball quintet is going places. Something has snapped since the general shakedown last Friday night when Coach D. K. Burger sent in five raring cubs against the Grants Pass team.

Teamwork has come into its own in the Medford squad. Saturday night satisfactorily proved that when the Tigers, clicking at all times, sent the Weed, California boys home with a 28-16 defeat.

The last three minutes of play found Coach Kirtley's Cubs in the game, holding the visitors to one basket in that period of time. Possibilities are that the coaching staff will call up the entire first string of the Cubs, including Hicks, Baker, Johnson, Ayers, and Dickinson. This would enlarge the squad to fourteen members and strengthen the present reserve.

A certain dimension has been present among the members of the team and it was the opinion of Coaches Burger and Kirtley that the players were not putting forth their best, but the close defeat by the Cavenem proved to be an awakener, so to speak. The individual players seemingly realized just how tough the remainder of the schedule is going to be. The Cavenem series coming up next Friday and Saturday will prove a hard nut to crack if the Tigers are not on their toes. Grants Pass and Roseburg are to be met the following week end and Klamath Falls the next. The Ashland games will come February 22 and March 1st. After that the tournament will beckon one of three teams in the Southern Oregon conference, namely Grants Pass, Ashland, or Medford. Time alone will tell the outcome of the tournament elimination contests.
