Hearty of New York Arrives—E. W. J. Hearty of New York arrived on Tuesday at 2 o'clock by plane to visit his holdings in the valley. Mr. Hearty owns the Golden Crest orchards of Talent, where he is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Gardner. He also owns the Big Seven warehouse in Medford. Mr. Hearty leaves shortly for Portland and Wenatchee, Wash., where he has other orchard properties—Ashland Tidings.

James Carney, 36, transient arrested Sunday by city police on a charge of possession and passing of counterfeit five-cent pieces, is in the county jail on $1000 bond, awaiting action by the federal grand jury in Portland. The complaint was filed by W. S. MacSwain, of the United States secret service. Carney will be taken north by U. S. Marshal Leo McLain.

Carney, who is a self-admitted hood, stated, according to police, that he has never started more than a week in one town. He had 44 crudely fashioned "nickels" on his person when arrested. He tried to justify passing of the bogus coins by the fact that he had "only bought a little bit of beer" with them. The fake money was passed at the "Smoke House" bowling alleys.

Richard E. Boyles, age 38 and a resident of Beagle, passed away in a local hospital Wednesday. Mr. Boyles was born in Los Angeles where he spent his entire lifetime until coming here two years ago. BUTTER PRICES ARE STEPPED UP

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 31.—(AP)—Butter prices were shot higher during the late session of the produce exchange in face of the late weakness locally and the inability to sell cubes at full quotations. The advance was general with the exception of first grade, which was unchanged. All were 1/4c higher except extras which advanced 1c lb. The claim was made that the advance was due to the sharp advance in San Francisco. Output of butter within the local territory is reasonably liberal and a surplus is generally showing. However, the late advance in price was an aid to the dairymen inasmuch as butterfat buying price advanced 1c lb. Market for eggs was showing a loss here as a result of secret price shading for some days past. Weakness in the eastern markets appeared the chief contributing influence. Market for poultry continued to reflect a strong tone. Pioneer Dies FARMINGTON, Wash., Jan. 31.—(AP)—Richard A. Truax, 95, who drove with his wife by mule team to California from Reno, Nev., and then here in 1870 before the days of railroads, died. He was Whitman county's second sheriff. Lner Sticks in Mud BROOKLYN, N. Y., Jan. 31.—(AP)—The Munson liner, Pan-America, became stuck in the mud as it was moving up to its pier at the foot of Montague street at 9 o'clock this morning. The vessel did not seem to be in immediate danger.

Coming to Rialto

A highly exciting, suspenseful and tensely dramatic screen thriller, "Against the Law," comes to the Rialto theater tomorrow for a two-day run. In a series of swift-paced, thrilling episodes the film unfolds the tale of a redoubtable police ambulance driver who is innocently involved in a gangster feud through the implication of the interne assigned to his car. Johnny Mack Brown is the vindictive driver who decides to even the score when his interne-friend, George Meeker, is driven to suicide by the heartless "criminal machine." With the aid of Sally Blane, his heroic nurse, he traps the gangsters in a web of their own cowardice and thus accomplishes their undoing. "Against the Law" is a novel and heroic phase of a hazardous life that is little known to the public. The picture thrillingly reveals how ambulance crews have danger and death to give emergency aid to injured firemen under toppling, fire-swept walls; how gangsters regularly intimidate interne to perform illegal operations on gunshot wounds and the dramatic consequences that ensue.

Now at Roxy

Marion Nixon finally turns the joke on Chester Meria in the comedy, "Embarrassing Moments," now at the Roxy.

SCREEN REVIEW

(By Dick Applegate) Being one of those persons with the happy faculty of enjoying Will Rogers in anything, I enjoyed him in "The County Chairman," which opened at the Craterian last night. I thoroughly believe that if Will just walked across the screen, said nothing, and just grinned a couple of times, I would be apt to pronounce the picture one of the best of the current year. The rest of the fans at last night's show agreed with me, too, I believe. Excellent comment was heard on all sides after the performance.
