chief of the state police, is located, apparently for questioning.

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Surrounded by guards and troops, Senator Huey P. Long reached Baton Rouge, seat of his dictatorial empire, at 8:35, an hour and a half after he arrived at New Orleans by train from Washington.

He did not tarry more than a few minutes in New Orleans and sped up the highway with a cavalcade of followers.

He swept into Baton Rouge, now under martial law, with 700 soldiers and an undetermined number of state police, both in uniform and plain clothes.

He reached Baton Rouge in the midst of a tense atmosphere and with the town people subjected to eleven drastic martial law orders, one of which prohibits more than two people to congregate on the streets and prohibits newspapers from printing anything derogatory to the state administration.

Reports had Long prepared to take an active part in the prosecution of charges against a group of citizens of a plot to assassinate him. After that Long was known to be considering the calling of a special session of the legislature and perhaps a constitutional convention to rewrite the constitution of the state.

Long went direct to the Hotelberg hotel here. After a few minutes he came out and under armed guard went to the statehouse which was surrounded by officers. The state police closely guarded the governor's office.

When Long arrived in New Orleans his chief bodyguard, Joe Messina, assaulted Leon Trice, Associated Press staff photographer, as he took a picture of Long leaving the train.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Huey Long arrived in New Orleans today from Washington and got off the train at the railroad depot surrounded by a throng of bodyguards whose first act was to beat up a news photographer and smash his camera to pieces on the concrete floor of the railroad shed.

The photographer was Leon Trice of the staff of the Associated Press, who had taken a picture of Senator Long stepping off of the train from Washington.

As he snapped the picture, Joe Messina, Long's chief bodyguard, struck Trice in the mouth with his fist. Trice, who was no match physically with the husky bodyguard, dropped his camera.

Long, who was looking on, shouted: "Give it to him, Joe! Do anything you want to with him!"

With that, Messina struck the photographer with a blackjack on the back of the head and knocked him down. The bodyguards then destroyed the camera and stalked off with the senator. The cameraman was struck with the blackjack as he leaned over to pick up his camera. It came without warning as the bodyguards had not said objection would be made to pictures. Trice was taken to a hospital where his wounds were dressed.

Senator Long declined to say anything bearing on the military-political state of affairs and hurried off to his hotel surrounded by a group of guards and followers.

He was expected to go to Baton Rouge later in the day.

Chinese Pirates Seize Ship After Slaying Guards

HONGKONG, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Two Russian guards aboard the S. S. Tungchow, carrying American, British and Scandinavian school children, were killed by pirates, according to a report today from the China Navigation company agents in Shanghai.

The British second engineer of the ship, which is under British registry, K. McDonald, was reported wounded. The casualties were presumed to have occurred during the battle for possession of the ship.

The British naval intelligence in Shanghai was advised that the vessel headed for Junk bay, Shanghai, after its release and was due to arrive late tonight.

The Shanghai agents for the China Navigation company, owners of the Tungchow, refused to divulge any information concerning the vessel's seizure, but asserted that all the passengers on board were unharmed.

Word of the steamer's safety came while British war vessels combed the China coastal waters in search of the craft, 36 hours overdue at Chefoo, its destination.

The children on board were returning to the foreign mission school at Crefoo after a seven weeks' holiday.

France and Britain Will Affirm German Arms Equality Right

LONDON, Feb. 1.—(AP)—French circles reported today a communique has been drafted reaffirming Germany's right to arms equality within a system of general security, and will be issued at the conclusion of the Anglo-French ministerial conference tomorrow. The British foreign office declined to comment.

The British intimated, however, that an official statement may be expected tomorrow indicating how the British and French intend to proceed in their efforts to ease the tension in Europe.

It was understood also that Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, and Pierre-Louis Flandin, French premier, will have an opportunity to discuss stabilization at a week-end party given by Sir Gomer Berry, London publisher.

The premiers and foreign ministers closeted themselves at Number 10 Downing street today for a conference the British hope will make an important contribution to the stability of Europe.

Tomato Glass Deal Will Expire March 15th Says Bowler

On March 15 the California Conserving company's special free offer of six decorated tomato juice glasses will expire, according to announcement made yesterday by M. E. Bowler, sales supervisor for that company in the northwest district. Mr. Bowler was in Medford on a brief visit, conferring with dealers in the Medford area.

The combination of eight bottle tops from any C. H. B. condiments, or labels from cans of C. H. B. tomato juice, or wrappers from C. H. B. Worcestershire sauce will entitle the housewife to a set of six tomato juice glasses. Due to the fact that the present stock of C. H. B. tomato juice has been exhausted in this territory, the labels from C. H. B. spinach, or an extra cap from any other C. H. B. product will be accepted in this free offer, according to Mr. Bowler.

Mr. Bowler expressed satisfaction over the success of the special deal here and stated that many southern Oregon housewives have taken advantage of the opportunity to secure a set of the attractive crystal blown glasses with fluted bases, and embellished with a colorful tomato motif.

Due to the demand for these sets, glasses are being rushed to houses-wires who send in the necessary C. H. B. caps as quickly as possible. Use Mail Tribune want ads
