ALLEN SELECTED VICE-PRESIDENT OREGON DEALERS

W. W. Allen, automobile dealer of this city, was elected to the office of vice-president of the Oregon Automobile Dealers' association, at a meeting in the Multnomah hotel in Portland Saturday. Two other vice-presidents chosen at the Portland meeting were Harry Walthera, of The Dalles, and C. E. Francis, of Portland. Douglas McKay of Salem will head the dealer's association for 1935. H. W. Roberts of Portland was named treasurer, and A. B. Smith of Portland was re-elected Oregon director for the National Automobile Dealers' association.

"The two hundred automobile dealers from every section of the state, attending the Oregon automobile dealers' association's convention, went on record against any increase in motor vehicle license fees," Allen said yesterday upon his return to this city. "The dealers expressed themselves in favor of a readjustment of truck fees, however, and pledged their support to the Oregon state recovery act now before the legislature. So that the interests of the automobile trade and the motoring public might be safeguarded, as the dealers view it, a legislative committee will be appointed for the dealer's association," according to Mr. Allen.

Townsend warmly defended his plan under questions and said that "what we plan to do is have universal prosperity."

"When prosperity is universal then it is safe, fair and just to say to all individuals—now you have access to good means of livelihood and it is your duty to pay your share of the cost of government, and we're going to see you do it."

"This isn't a revolving fund, is it really?" asked Hill in referring to the claim that the $2,000,000,000 monthly required, for the pensions would be in the nature of a total revolving fund of that amount.

"I don't see why not," replied Townsend, "it revolves from the government back to the community."

"What is your definition of a revolving fund?" asked Hill.

"My definition is an amount of money collected by the government and a like amount dispensed to the people."

"What distinguishes that operation from any other tax fund?" Townsend blazed on the table.

"It's the same as distinguishes John Jones from Sam Jones. Hill then quit questioning.

want to do is to get money into circulation."

Hill asked if the 2 per cent transaction tax provided for in the Townsend bill as a means of raising old-age pension funds would apply to a farmer who sold a pig or to a housewife who sold eggs.

"Of course, it would apply to any transaction," Townsend replied calmly.

Gaviotti, Vanee and Ehrlich. I tried to calm the club attendants and told them not to take Major Ross seriously about anything as he was only kidding. But they insisted on throwing him out."

Manhandling Claimed In the scuffle that followed, police were told, Major Ross was thrown down the stairs. Major Easley led the club attendants "followed us out into the street and further manhandled Major Ross by kicking him. He collapsed and we took him to our car to the hospital, where they told us he was dead."

Gaviotti is well known in local night life circles, is reputedly wealthy and lives at a fashionable downtown hotel.

Major Ross leaves a widow and two daughters, one of whom lives in Washington, D. C. A native of Michigan, he had been in the army since 1918 and for several years was a member of the general staff school in the national capital. He was assigned to duty with the Thirtieth Infantry in the Presidio here six months ago. Informed of the tragedy, officers from the army post visited the night club a few hours afterward, and Colonel Douglas Potts, commander of the regiment, said he would name an inquiry board today.

WILL ROGERS SEES DAUGHTER'S DEBUT

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Will Rogers would call it "ornerly," and undoubtedly Broadway witnessed its "orneriest" first night when it saw his 19-year-old daughter, Mary, make her New York stage debut in "On to Fortune."

Money received by Virginia tobacco growers for the portion of the 1934 crop sold prior to December 1 totaled $18,000,000 in contrast to $7,000,000 received at the same time in 1933.

FORGERY SUSPECT LODGED IN JAIL

Another alleged forger was lodged in the city jail this morning when Raymond Chadwell, 23, was arrested after having passed two checks upon the Rialto cigar store here.

Both checks were made out to Raymond Jones for the amount of $10, signed with the name John Temwell and a K. D. by a man signing his name J. W. Dwyer. Police are searching for Dwyer.

Chadwell has been living at the transient center here, under the name of Raymond Jones, and claims he has a wife and small son living in Corbin, Kentucky. He has never seen his son, he told police.

Chadwell is the fourth arrested on forgery charges in two weeks here. Police Chief McCredie pointed out several discrepancies in the checks, the main one being that the peculiar formation of the letter "R" on the face of the check, supposedly made out by the man Temwell, appeared that of Raymond Jones. Another peculiar feature was that the checks were both made out to "Mr." a thing that seldom happens in real checks, McCredie pointed out.

One of the forged checks passed by Stanley Friend and Lewis Pool last week carried an indorsement, and gave the address as route 7, box 701 a route and box which do not exist.

McCredie said that most "phony" checks are passed on Saturday afternoon, after the banks are closed, and warned local merchants against taking checks from strangers at such a time.

Follies Stars In Vaudeville Coming To The Craterian

Headed by internationally famous stars, as well as performers from the Ziegfeld Follies and Earl Carroll Vanities, the "Hi-Boy Revue" will be on the stage of the Craterian theater for tomorrow only.

On the screen will be an unusual mystery drama, "The White Cockatoo," with Ricardo Cortez, Jean Muir and Ruth Donnelly in the featured roles.

One of the most popular teams of American vaudeville today is that of Bob Stickney and Lilian Aylin, who are featured in the stage revue, "Stickney and Vanities," which has rightly earned the claim of "The Longest Comedian in the World." Everybody has seen comedians on the stage, but few have seen one on stilts. Stickney does his entire routine atop high stilts which add much to his clowning. His beautiful partner, Miss Aylin, is recent Texas beauty contest winner. He is not only an accomplished performer, but likewise a skilled musician.

De Counte and Marie, who first won fame on the continent, will dance the famous French Apache dance exactly as given in Paris. This daring number has created comment everywhere and has won the act much applause.

Another star is Alvira Morton, who holds the distinction of being the only prima donna of the 1933 Century of Progress.

Tom Mills, whose comedy talents are given versatility with his prowess on a bicycle, adds much laughter with his cycling antics.

Heretofore stage units that have played here have offered acrobatic dancing, but always by girl performers. Cleve La Monte, with his talent for twisting himself into unbelievable positions, offers something different to add a touch of novelty to the show.

Other stars who appear with the "Hi-Boy Revue" include the Three Dancing Sweethearts, Octette Powell, and the Men of Music, a novelty stage band.

The unit will be at the Craterian theater for tomorrow only, playing on both matinee and evening shows.
