

MARTIN PROPOSES IRRIGATION MOVE FOR WILLAMETTE

(Continued from page one) The act, similar to that in California and Washington was hard fought in the upper house but was finally adopted last week. It approved today it go to the governor.

Other measures for final passage in the house include changes in the barbers code and the code for architects, the approval of the federal suggested NRA code for states, and corrective measures in the savings and loan associations and minor zoning provisions. The senate had but two bills on the calendar, both having to do with workmen's compensation provisions.

Zimmerman blocked The senate late yesterday, with an effective move, definitely sidetracked Senator Peter Zimmerman's bank bill, the issue upon which he conducted his campaign for election as governor. The vote was 28 to 2. Debate was conducted under special order of business on an adverse committee report.

In like manner senate joint memorial number 1, was postponed. The senate voted 17 to 13 to adopt the committee report recommending that the memorial do not pass.

The memorial called for amendments to the national banking laws allowing the state and sub-divisions to file their bonds with the federal government and receive currency in exchange.

Gag Rule Approved Application of the "gag" rule, limiting all oratory to five minutes with the provision that a member may "borrow" the time of another member, met with the unanimous approval of the house or representatives late yesterday when Speaker John E. Coater asked for an expression from the 60 members as to their desire to see a termination of the 38th assembly in the prescribed 40-day period.

New house bills introduced would place the state police under civil service with a board of three members; a tax of 10 per cent on the retail price of cigars and cigarettes and other tobacco products; and requiring all common carriers of passengers to equip vehicles with safety glass within 12 months.

The minimum monthly payment of old age pensions would be raised from $30 to $45 under provisions of another bill introduced in the house by Representative Olsen, Columbia county. Lesser residence requirements were also provided while some others were eliminated.

FISCH SEEN NEAR GRAVEYARD SAYS DEFENSE WITNESS (Continued from page one.) Edward J. Reilly, defense chief counsel, asked the agent Seykora if he knew of any report in existence which showed that Dr. Condon had been examined by alienists.

Denies Alienist Exam "I have never heard of any such report," the agent said. Attorney General David T. Wilentz denied that there was any such fact. "Did your investigation disclose that in the Bronx he was looked upon as eccentric?" Reilly asked.

"I wouldn't say so, generally," said Seykora. "As a general term, no. I am not qualified to say whether he is looked upon as being eccentric or not."

"Did your investigation disclose the fact that he sometimes dressed as a woman and masqueraded around the neighborhood?" "No, sir, it disclosed no such fact."

LONG ORDERS ARREST OF 'ENEMY'

Ernest Bourgeois (above), president of the Square Deal Association, principal foe of Huey Long's dictatorship in Louisiana, was ordered arrested by the senator upon his arrival in Baton Rouge to direct an inquiry into a "murder plot" Long said was designed to kill him. (Associated Press Photo)

VALLEE'S WIFE IS CALLED DISLOYAL AT COURT HEARING

(Continued from page one) that when Vallee found out how "disgracefully his wife had acted," he called east her father, Clarence E. Webb, police chief of Santa Monica, Cal., that Webb listened to the records and took his daughter away with him.

"We will show that Mrs. Vallee moved to obtain more money from her husband only when she fell in with a gang of crooked lawyers," Bushel continued.

Thomas I. Sheridan, counsel for Mrs. Vallee, responded to his fee with an objection and the reference was expunged from the record.

Sheridan told the court that he would prove that his client was induced to sign the separation agreement by "tricks and artifices," and that she did not have the advice of an attorney.

"We will show," Sheridan said, "that Rudy Vallee, a singer, for a period of years earned upward of $300,000 a year, that the $100 a week is clearly inadequate."

JACKSONVILLE MINERS RESUME AS DANGER OF CAVE-INS DISAPPEARS With an end to the rain and snow storms that soaked southern Oregon for several weeks, danger of more mine cave-ins in Jacksonville is considered passed at least for the time being and miners threatened no long ago by a series of slides have resumed activity in the historic town's numerous "backyard" diggings.

Since four of the shallow drifts caved in ten days ago, no new trouble has been reported, and although the ground is still soaked to a considerable depth there seems to be no indications of more land giving way.

Many of the mines have been timbered and all properties which caved in, some to depths of five or six feet in the small areas, have been filled. Most of the workmen, however, have gone back to their diggings with little apprehension of more trouble.

Barriers around the spot which sunk in the main street were removed as no further sinking became evident. It is expected that Jacksonville officials will take steps at the city council meeting tonight for the prevention of further tunneling under the streets, which has resulted in scores of drifts honeycombing the "day gravel" beneath the city.

$8,298,923 FROM 1934 TAX ON GAS SALEM, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Gasoline sales in the state of Oregon during 1934 amounted to 165,798,460 gallons, resulting in $8,298,923 in taxes to the state, the motor vehicle division of the state department reported here late yesterday.

Listing sales and tax receipts since 1919, the report showed that 1,853,846,800 gallons had been sold in the past 15 years, bringing in taxes amounting to $63,120,181.

Refunds since 1919 totaled $5,616,110, administrative expenses $150,513, and transferred to the state highway fund $56,871,145.

No Objection To Salem Night Radio WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—No objections were presented at a hearing before the federal communications commission today to the application of radio station KSLM, Salem, Ore., for full time operation at night.

At present, said Ben S. Fisher, who appeared for KSLM, the station is off the air at local sun-set time.

COLORFUL CANAL ZONE DESCRIBED BY DOCTOR AT ROTARY LUNCHEON

As a feature of an international service program at today's meeting of the Medford Rotary club in the basement banquet hall of the Hotel Medford, Dr. F. J. Moffatt gave an interesting talk on the Panama Canal zone. Dr. Moffatt, who served with the army medical corps for four years in the canal zone, gave a first hand description of that colorful section of Central America, filled with the romance of early exploration, discovery, and the adventures of the buccaners.

After describing the climate and the cosmopolitan types of people that make up the population of Panama, Dr. Moffatt told of the early French attempt to build the Panama canal, followed by the successful construction of that famous project by the United States. He then described the trip through the canal by steamship, and took the Rotarians on a verbal visit to the colorful canal zone cities.

Dr. Moffatt completed his very interesting talk with a description of the characteristics of the natives of Central America, and high lights on the historic old city of Panama.

As an added feature for today's meeting, Lee B. H. Oop entertained members of the rotary club, and guests, with a sketch of J. Edgar Hoover of the department of justice, and the interesting work of his bureau in the investigation of crime.

PHILADELPHIA: Imagine, if you can, a slice of the atmosphere a mile wide and a thousand miles long, colored bright blue. One edge is white, the other red. It would be easy to follow through the sky; wouldn't it? That, in effect, is your United States pilot's "roadway."

Only it is a "sound" band—a radio beam instead of a light beam. Your pilots "hear" their road. Not only that—if they drift to either "highway" edge the signal changes, says into their cars: "You're to the left" or "to the right." They just now let us listen in.

United pilots can tell where any particular beam is leading them because every few seconds it announces its special "call letters"—like seeing a highway sign every quarter mile!

RADIO "TRACK" IS STRAIGHT AS BEAM OF LIGHT
