

TWO SENT TO PEN; THREE WILL HEAR FATE TOMORROW

around the country, when you should have been home trying to do something for your family."

James Hudson, classified by the court as "another wanderer," pleaded guilty to larceny of a suitcase belonging to David H. Canfield, superintendent of Crater Lake National park, was sentenced to an indeterminate term not to exceed two years in state prison. Hudson tried to sell the contents of the suitcase in Ashland, where he was arrested.

Hopes of parole, after serving minimum terms were held out to both Hudson and Chadwell.

W. J. Frey, 32, for the past three years a resident of Central Point, Grants Pass and this city, who pleaded guilty to passing close to $100 in forged checks, was granted a suspended sentence, "so you can go back to your family in Portland, and try to get them off relief."

"The officers report you have been something of a common nuisance," the court told Frey, "but it seems to have been due to incompetent efforts to support your family." He is the father of four children.

Ivan Myers, 20, of Grants Pass, who told the court he passed forged checks on Montgomery Ward Co., and the Grand Hotel in this city, "because my mother and sister were hungry, and I lost my head," had his case taken under advisement.

The Red Cross is making arrangements to send his mother and sister back to Fayette county, Illinois, where the mother owns a small farm.

Myers told the court the trio came to Josephine county last June from Illinois because "my mother heard it was easy to make a living in Oregon." The family has been on Josephine county relief.

Stanley Friend, 18, and his half-brother, Louis Pool, 17, pleaded guilty to passing bogus checks totaling $20 upon the J. C. Penney Co., and the Safeway store, signed with the name "Frank M. Amy." They admitted they committed the crime "to spend for shirts, and a dress for mother."

The district attorney reported the two were former members of a CCC contingent and had been paroled at Stockton, Calif., for the theft of a pressure pump.

The court took final disposition of their cases under advisement. "There is an epidemic of check forgery among young men," the court said. "The Oregon law makes no provision for taking care of these youthful offenders, or consideration for stress of the times. It's either a parole or the penitentiary. There should be an intermediate ground."

Girls' Community Club Organizes Bridge Class. The Girls' Community club is organizing a contract bridge class, to be under the instruction of Mrs. O. A. Eden. The class will meet every Thursday at 7:30 p.m., at the club rooms on North Bartlett, and will be for girls out of school.

All girls interested in the class are welcome, and are urged to attend the first meeting tomorrow evening.

Menu Planning to Be Roy's Ann Unit Subject. Roy's Ann extension unit will meet Friday, February 8, at the Grange hall for the first discussion of menu planning. Mrs. Mabel Mack, county home demonstration agent, will have charge of the discussion. Members are asked to bring a covered dish for luncheon.

Parent Education Chairman To Visit Medford P. T. A. Mrs. Mabel Mack, county home demonstration agent, announces that a request has been made of Miss Alice Sowers, national chairman of parent education for the Parent-Teachers' congress, to stop in Medford February 21 after attending the home interests conference in Corvallis February 12 to 16.

Medford P-T-A city council held a special meeting Tuesday to make arrangements for an all-day session in honor of Miss Sowers' anticipated visit, to be held at the courthouse.

Miss Sowers is a nationally known educator and has written many articles on parent education for the national Parent-Teachers' magazine. She was one of the speakers in the national P-T-A convention held recently at Seattle and will be remembered by those who attended from Medford.

Mrs. Carl Bennett, city president, appointed committees to arrange for the reception of Miss Sowers. A covered dish luncheon will be served, and all are asked to bring table service. The council feels very fortunate in having an opportunity to bring Miss Sowers to Medford, and urges parent teachers throughout the county to attend. All home extension representatives and members, members of college women's clubs and members of other organizations interested in parent education are invited. A complete program for the session will be announced soon, Mrs. Mack said.

At the Tuesday meeting, attended by Mrs. Bertha Young of Eagle Point, Jackson county P-T-A president, Mrs. Sween, vice-president of the city council, was elected to attend the home interests conference at Corvallis as a delegate from Medford. All presidents of local units are planning to attend, as is Mrs. Mary E. Chaney, leader of parent education in Medford.

President Glen Friebick of the Rogue Snowmen, local ski club, has called a special meeting tonight at the chamber of commerce at 8:00 o'clock, and urges all members to make an special effort to attend.

Plans will be discussed for the forthcoming spring carnival, as well as for other events during the remaining weeks of skiing weather. Although the snow has melted rapidly from the Siskiyou and Greensprings, winter sports conditions are good in the Union Creek area, and it is expected that most of the club activity will be concentrated there.

Crater club, Medford's first booster organization, will hold a Valentine's party Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the basement dining hall of Hotel Medford.

Big Eruption H. D. (Johnny) Reed made the announcement, assuring members of the club that a fine banquet will be served.

SHEFFIELD, Eng., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Nine policemen were injured and 20 to 30 persons arrested today when several thousand persons clashed with police during a meeting of protest against the new organized dole system.

ALBANY, Ore., Feb. 6.—(AP)—C. C. Covert, 51, was killed, and William Faust, 22, was seriously injured today when a charge of dynamite exploded when struck by a drill which the two men were operating on a tunnel construction job.

The powder charge was placed yesterday, with several others, and had failed to explode.

Covert and Faust were working for the Olson Construction company on a Lima county road project in the Mountain Home district 29 miles southeast of Albany.

PLUMBER WITNESS SUPPORTS BRUNO'S ALIBI ON LADDER

ward J. Kelly, defense chief, asked Miller: "I looked at them, certainly, when I walked along," he replied.

"Your best recollection is that you didn't notice any board in August, 1934, that was missing?"

"No, sir."

Miller also supported Hauptmann's story of a leak in the closet, where Hauptmann said he stored a shoe box given to him by Isador Fisch.

Shoebox Rainsoaked. Hauptmann had testified the shoe box became rainsoaked, that he accidentally struck it with a broom, damaging it so that he discovered it contained money. This money—$14,000 in Lindbergh ransom notes — was found in Hauptmann's garage after his arrest. He did not count the money at once, he said, and he explained this was because it was wet and had to be dried.

Miller testified rain ran down a vent pipe from the roof of the house.

The defense fight to save Hauptmann from the electric chair for the kidnaping and murder of Baby Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., failed to get into the record testimony from another witness that would have shown Hauptmann's attorneys said that Fisch displayed gold notes in May, 1933.

Justice Thomas W. Trenchard ruled the defense would first have to prove the gold notes were ransom bills. The witness, Casey John Bruchmann, a taxi driver once employed by Fisch, left the stand after testifying only that Fisch displayed a large roll of money when paying for a taxi ride in May, 1933.

Much Unnoted in Attie. In cross-examination of Miller the prosecution made him acknowledge there was much about Hauptmann's attie he did not notice.

"What was in the attie?"

"I didn't know what was in the attie," he said.

Nor could he remember how far the attic floor extended or whether there was a radio and some rugs stored there.

STATE LIBEL LAW CHANGE PROPOSED. SALEM, Feb. 6.—(AP)—A bill which, it was stated, would make the libel laws of the state of Oregon conform with the federal laws, should be enacted, was dropped in the senate hopper late yesterday.

The measure, introduced by Senator Robert M. Duncan, would provide that if following the printing of any libelous matter, a retraction and apology were published within seven days, the defendant could not be made to pay any more than the amount of actual damage suffered by the printing of the matter.

Full state compliance with the NRA code was authorized by the house of representatives when the bill to this effect was approved by a vote of 40 to 16.

Blue Is Popular In Spring Dress Say Burelsons. Several shades of blue with navy the favorite continue to lead in the spring color chart, according to Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Burelson who returned to Medford this morning from San Francisco.

Gray with navy is featured prominently in fashionable dress shops. Other popular shades include beige and dusty rose. Suits and dresses with separate jackets and coats are important.

Mrs. Burelson spent two weeks in California, during which she attended the elaborate market week style shows in Los Angeles after joining Mr. Burelson in San Francisco. They selected an extensive stock of spring and summer merchandise for their store and some of the new apparel has already arrived in Medford.

J. Francis Hogan, portly Boston Braves catcher, has had the billiard room of his Somerville, Mass., home made over into a gymnasium in his determination to trim himself down to playing weight.
