

FIGHT TO ABOLISH FISH NETS, TRAPS OPENED IN SENATE

ion counties, was passed in the house today and goes to the senate.
Other bills passed in the lower house include one providing for the rotation of names on ballots when two or more are candidates for the same office.

SALEM, Feb. 7.—(AP)—The flood of bills which has deluged the house of the Oregon legislature the past week was halted temporarily when the legislation and rules committee announced today there would be no new proposals introduced until Monday. All the measures now for the lower house must go through the committee.

A series of measures, declared to be more than 30, would be introduced later sponsored by the American Legion, it was learned today. In addition, scores of other proposals were set in the offing dealing with court procedure and other matters. The senate today saw a group of measures which would make slight changes in the administration of the motor vehicle department of the secretary of state's office.

The hard-fought excise tax bill, eliminating the property tax offset from corporation excises, was reported out of the house taxation committee with a favorable report. The bill probably will be placed on the calendar tomorrow.

Monday night a hearing on changes in the state liquor control act to permit wider dispensation of wines with larger alcoholic content will be held at the state house. Beer and brewery regulations will be heard by the house committee at a public meeting Tuesday night.

Both houses today had many minor bills up for final passage and, while the houses went to work, Governor Charles H. Martin called a conference of leaders in his office urging adoption of his budgetary control bill, which still lies in the house administration committee. It is known as house bill 3.

With eight negative votes and five absentees, the house late yesterday memorialized congress for the immediate payment in full of the adjusted service certificates, commonly known as the bonus. Voting against the measure were Representatives Farnham, Haight, Hamilton, Krier, Lynch, Rodman, Sluder and Wallace. The absentees were Representatives Fuhrer, Hill of Lane, Magruder, Martin and Norblad.

Need Conference Committee
The first need for a conference committee appointment during the present session of the legislature arose in the senate, when senate bill 82, providing for more strict regulation of the sale of poisons, came back from the committee with the recommendation that the senate should not concur with amendments imposed on the measure by the house.

The bill passed in the senate as written but upon reaching the house was amended by adding the section providing that "nothing in this act shall require the authorization of the licensing or regulation of the sale of economic poisons."

The state board of higher education would be authorized to levy and collect from students in the state institutions of higher learning an associated students' fee, not to exceed $5 per term, under provisions of a bill introduced by Senator H. C. Wheeler. The proceeds from the fee collections would be used for development and promotion of student activities.

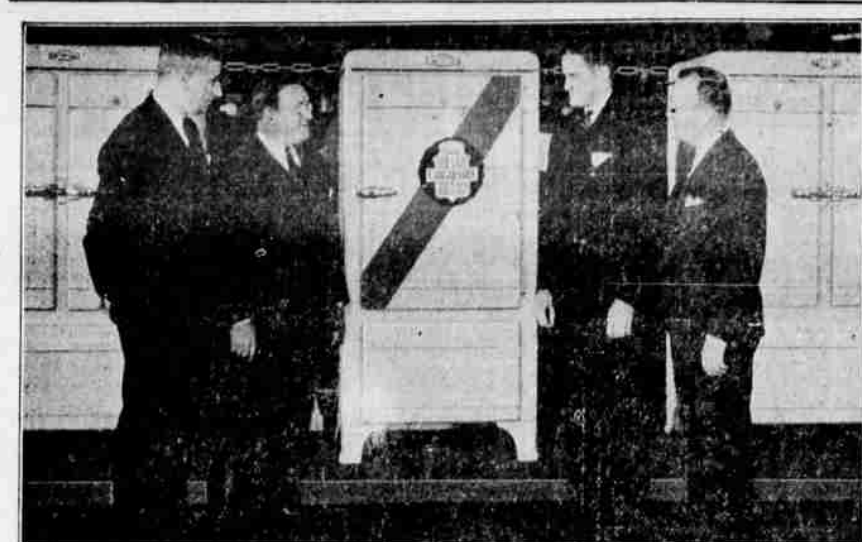

Another bill by Wheeler would empower the board of education to award scholarships in the state institutions of higher learning, not to exceed 2 per cent of the enrollment.
Senator E. A. McCormack introduced a measure to enable county courts to fill vacancies in the office of state senator or representative.

Less Snow at Union Creek—Officials of Rogue River national forest, in a telephone communication to Union Creek this afternoon, reported that only one and a half feet of snow remains in that area, and that rains during the last several hours has softened the surface considerably. If the weather does not turn much warmer, however, it is believed good skiing will be afforded over the weekend.

Frigidaire On Its Fourth Million

An historic incident in man's everlasting battle to defeat the health and life destroying activities of poorly protected and preserved meats and foods occurred several days ago in Dayton, Ohio, when the 3,000,000th Frigidaire came down the assembly tracks, starting this General Motors division on its fourth million. Greeting the 3,000,000th Frigidaire were: left to right, C. A. Copp, general sales manager, and E. G. Biechler, president and general manager, who were members of the pioneer Frigidaire force, H. W. Newell, vice president in charge of sales, and Frank R. Pierce, sales manager.

Dionnes Are Dazzled By Chicago Night Life

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Olivia Dionne got their wish—they visited a night club. From the glitter of the floor show to the champagne corks that popped in their honor, the Dionnes, to whom the stark brought five-fold fame, seemed to relish their first venture out among the bright lights. And they stayed until an early hour today, this Colander, Ont., couple on their first visit to a big American city. It was after one o'clock when the Dionnes wearily went back to their luxurious suite in a Michigan avenue hotel.

No spangled evening frock for Elaine Dionne, the famous mother on her first "night out." She wore a simple dark silk dress and a dark hat, while her husband watched the floor show in a dark business suit.

It was the floor show that seemed to strike the most amazement from the Canadian visitors. The dazzle held them speechless for a few moments. Then Papa Dionne expressed himself volubly; Mama Dionne more quietly in her French patois. The glare of publicity followed them on their excursion, as it has since they started seeing the city from stockyards to the old world's fair grounds.

Today they were scheduled to visit the Chicago "jinx" in hospital from which the first human milk was dispatched by plane to their Canadian home shortly after the quintuplets were born.

VALLEE TAUGHT WIFE TO DRINK CLAIMS FATHER

"Vallee's chauffeur took my girl out and brought her home dead drunk," Webb continued. Testimony that Mrs. Vallee was "a neuroathetic type—high-strung, nervous and emotionally unstable" was given by Dr. David B. Hill, who frequently treated her.

Dr. Hill said that he and Vallee had conferred over her health. "Did Vallee tell you that his wife drank too much?" asked counsel. "Yes," replied the witness. Dr. Hill said that once when Vallee came to his office while Mrs. Vallee was in California he seemed nervous and upset.

"Do you think this was due to the fact that his wife would not come home?" Bushel asked. Dr. Hill said he thought it was. A conditional threat that Mrs. Vallee would start divorce proceedings charging adultery against her estranged husband, was made in court. Thomas I. Sheridan, counsel for Mrs. Vallee, who is seeking to have invalidated a separation agreement giving his client $100 a week, voiced the threat.

"We will do this," he said, "Mrs. Vallee's action in California will be discontinued. We will bring a divorce action in a New York court—in this court—charging adultery."
He turned to opposing attorneys and added, "If you agree to set aside the separation agreement."
"Oh, no!" chorused Vallee's attorneys.

And so the proceedings, which recessed for lunch in a wild welter of gavel pounding, fist pounding and the calling of harsh names, continued on its turbulent course.

TWO WITNESSES YET TO TESTIFY LAWYER REVEALS

Dr. E. M. Hudson, amateur fingerprint expert of New York, testifying three important, incriminating nail holes in the ladder were not in existence when he examined it.
The defense also sought to recall Hildegard Olga Alexander, the Bronx dress model who testified for the state that she saw Hauptmann shadowing Dr. John F. Jafese Condon in the Bronx during the period of the Lindbergh ransom negotiations. Dr. Condon was the intermediary for Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

Witness No Help
Henry Uhlig, close friend of the late leader Fisch, gave the defense little help in its effort to show that Fisch, not Hauptmann, got the $50,000 ransom money. The defense contended he was a hostile witness. Another alibi witness, also testified for Hauptmann. Walter Manley, a Bronx painter, said Hauptmann was in a bakery in the Bronx on the evening of March 1, 1932, when the Lindbergh baby was stolen more than 60 miles away at Hopewell, N. J.

The defense's plane demonstration was given by Stanley Seal, a young pattern maker.
Falls to Qualify
The defense failed to qualify Hugh Orr, an architect of Brockton, Mass., as a wood expert and his examination was brief.

Charles J. de Blasechop, a contractor of Waterbury, Conn., told the court in examination of his qualifications, that he had matched grains in wood for cabinet makers. He also raised trees, he said. The defense had him testify he had examined the rail in the ladder which the state charged came from Hauptmann's attic, and then allowed the state to cross-examine him as to qualifications before asking his direct testimony.

A man in the audience fainted and was carried from the room. He was Alfred Budeau of Yonkers, who is expected to be a rebuttal witness for the state.
Mrs. Bertha Hoff testified for the defense that Budeau and Fisch called upon her late in 1933, Fisch carrying bundles. She was not allowed to go further in her testimony, and the defense announced it had intended to show that Fisch was trying to leave ransom money.

CROP LOAN BILL GOES TO ROOSEVELT'S DESK
WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(AP)—The house today completed congressional action on the Jones bill authorizing a $60,000,000 appropriation for crop production loans to farmers during 1935.
The bill which now goes to the White House, also provides loans for feeding livestock.

CUBE BUTTER DIPS ON MANIPULATION

PORTLAND, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Once again there was a lower price for cube butter on the produce exchange, following the recent manipulative trend here and throughout the country. Prices in the United States were boosted to such a high point that butter from all parts of the world were attracted to this country with resulting congestion of supplies and finally sharp lowering of values.

The latest decline of 1/2 lb. in the cube price was the official price for all Oregon and placed extras at 34c and standard at 33 1/2c. At the same time the official price on butterfat was lowered a full cent a pound.

Trading in the local egg market was generally without material price change for the day. Receipts continued to increase and selling pressure was gaining in spots. General trading in the live chicken market was firm. There was a slight surplus only of colored hens.

GAS OFFICIALS HERE TO START EXPANSION OF PLANTS IN REGION

J. A. Ward, D. E. York and G. Davies, all of San Francisco, officials of Southern Oregon Gas Corporation, arrived in Medford today to take up business in connection with the expansion project of the company preparatory to installing petroleum natural gas in Medford, Ashland, Grants Pass and Roseburg.

Mr. Ward is president of the corporation. Mr. York, vice-president, will take full charge of construction work, assisted by Mr. Davies, company engineer. J. B. Brault, of Medford, general manager of the organization, stated today that construction work will be started immediately in Ashland.

Officials expressed hope that the four cities now served with manufactured gas, will be in a position to benefit from the installation of the new facilities within the next three months, when construction work will be entirely completed under present plans.

The extensive expansion program will enable the company to reduce rates, officials pointed out, as soon as the systems are installed, and this reduction will be followed by an additional reduction conforming with popular demand for the product.
