TRIO OF FORGERS GIVEN CLEMENCY AT COURTS HANDS

Stanley Friend and Louis Pool, 18-year old step-brothers who entered pleas of guilty to passing forged checks on local stores, were this morning sentenced to two year terms in state prison and paroled to their father, by Circuit Judge H. D. Norton.

Conditions of the paroles were good behavior and re-payment of the money procured. Ivan Myers, 29, who pleaded guilty to passing bogus checks was given a suspended sentence upon condition that he return with his mother and sister to Fayette county, Illinois, where the family has friends and a small farm. The Red Cross has made arrangements for their return. Myers has been living at Grants Pass since last June. They were refugees from the mid-west drought, and Myers told the court, "we heard it was easy to make a living in Oregon." They have been on Josephine county relief.

Myers told the court he cashed the bogus checks, "because my mother and sister were hungry and I lost my head."

The youth repaid the money he gained from the Grand Hotel and Montgomery Ward company of this city.

PARK SNOW DEPTH MEASURED BY U. S. SURVEYING PARTY

As part of a federal snow survey, extending from Mexico to Canada, three men today are measuring the snow depths in Crater Lake national park, under direction of County Water Master Clinton Smith.

The purpose of the federal snow measurement is to "get a better guess" on irrigation water and moisture conditions on the Pacific slope the coming season.

The Crater Lake party entered by way of Foot Klamath, and a report from the park said there was a light fall of snow there today.

Moisture conditions in this county are now normal but with no surplus, Watermaster Smith says. The water-table is rising and the soil is the wettest in several years. Watermaster Smith predicts more rain and snow and favorable water conditions the coming season.

Emigrant dam, the reservoir source of the Talent Irrigation district, is now about half full with a slow run-off. Hiatt lake is also filling slowly. At Fish lake, there is practically no run-off, due to freezing nights. The Fish lake drainage area, however, is well banked with snow, insuring a substantial run-off when it does start.

TESTIMONY IN TRIAL OF KYLE PUGH COPIED FOR APPEAL OF CASE

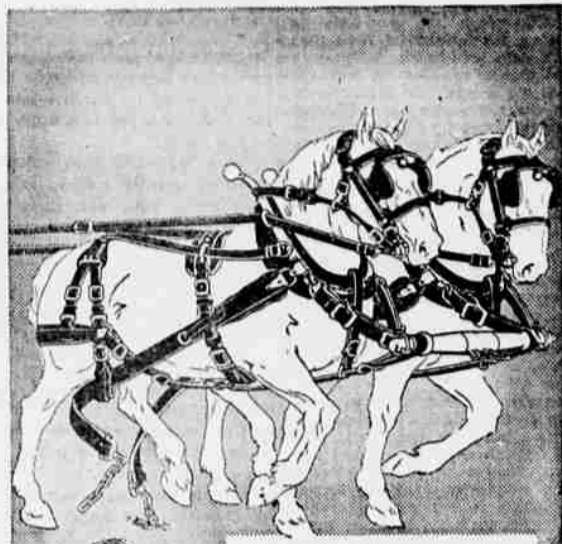

Transcript of the testimony in the supreme court appeal of Kyle Pugh, under a five-year sentence in state prison for conviction of criminal syndicalism, is now in course of preparation. Pugh, a resident of Josephine county, is still confined in the county jail. Efforts are under way to secure his release on $2500 bonds furnished by Portland friends, with which he was traveling over the country and which was impounded when Pugh was arrested, amounting to $15 for hay and keep since last September, has been presented to the county court. The donkey has been returned to Josephine county pastures.

Most of the evidence in the trial consisted of books, papers and pamphlets, the state alleged. Pugh was endeavoring to sell and distribute and which advocated overthrow of the American form of government, "by force, crime, and violence." Pugh was arrested near Central Point last September, by the state police.

Pugh is one of three men now under sentence for conviction of the Oregon criminal syndicalism law, Kirk DeJonge, Portland communistic agitator, is under a seven-year sentence, and Jack Denny, a minor communistic worker, was last week sentenced to two years in state prison. All have appealed to the state supreme court.
