Coming Sunday

Of particular interest to all those who like good stage entertainment is the announcement of the engagement for Sunday only of the "Darktown Scandals" at the Craterian theater.

Starring Ida Cox, blues singer with the distinction of having made more records than any other colored singer, the "Scandals," with a company of 50, is the largest all-colored show on the road today.

Singing numerous "blues numbers" Miss Cox has been "bringing down the house" with her rendition in particular of "Real Estate Papa," a song written especially for anyone talented in singing in blues style.

Darky comedians, dancers, harmony singers, a Victor Recording orchestra and a line of dusky dancing girls are included in the show.

On the screen will be Ann Harding's new picture "Enchanted April," from the best-seller and stage play of the same name. Frank Morgan and Reginald Owen are also featured.

At Dreamland

Eddie McKean, a featured stage and radio artist, is director, master of ceremonies and baritone vocalist of Fred Wolcott's Californians, playing at Dreamland tonight.

Philo Vance

"The Dragon Murder Case," the latest of the murder mystery dramas from the pen of S. S. Van Dine, opens at the Roxy today.

The picture is said to be the most bizarre as well as the most baffling of all the novels of the famous author, involving as it does a series of mysterious crimes apparently committed by some prehistoric monster. Warren William has the role of Philo Vance.

Studio Western

In a bitter battle against great odds to establish his innocence of a trumped-up murder charge, Ken Maynard blazes his way through gun fights to redeem his honor in the eyes of the girl he loves. This is the background of "Smoking Guns," now at the Studio theater.

Gripping Drama Now at Rialto

Gripping, suspenseful drama is the keynote of "Rendezvous at Midnight" at the Rialto theater for today and Saturday, as Ralph Bellamy, in the starring role, is called upon to solve a murder that has implicated his own sweetheart.

Unique and powerful, "Rendezvous at Midnight" is a drama of modern life and politics. An ex-police commissioner is murdered after he has resorted to underhanded methods of obstructing an investigation of his regime. Joking, the new commissioner's sweetheart calls him and informs him that she killed the man.

When the girl realizes her joke is a serious affair, the commissioner is forced either to arrest her or find the slayer, and with a silver fox dress as the only clue.

Fred Evanson to Portland—Fred Evanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Evanson of this city, left by train this morning for Portland, where he will stay for several days.

Return from Ashland—Mrs. Charles Clause and John Clause returned Wednesday to their home in Medford after spending two days in this city with friends. They are former residents here.—Ashland Tidings.

Teaching in Alaska—Mrs. J. P. Banish of Medford received word from Alaska, where her husband has been since last August 2, that Mr. Banish has accepted a position teaching at the Indian school at Hamilton. He will fly in from Anchorage, west along the Yukon. With Mrs. Banish in Medford are his three daughters, Joyce, Ruth and Carol.

Mrs. Brewer in Portland—Mrs. C. M. Brewer is spending a few days in Portland, having left last night by train.

From Hay City—Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Williams, who make their home at the Medford Hotel, returned this morning on the Shasta after spending a week in San Francisco. They report excellent weather in the bay city.

SCREEN REVIEW

By Dick Applegate.

"Broadway Bill," the picture which so delighted Medford fans when it played its northwest premier January 30, has returned to the Craterian theater, and crowds are flocking to see it, some of them for the second time.

With a splendid cast, the picture is full of delicious humor, drama and suspense. As a man whose heart is in the horse racing game, Warner Baxter, who plays the lead, finds himself manager of a paper box factory, a job which he doesn't relish. He kicks over the traces finally, and leaves with his horse "Broadway Bill" for the tracks. His wife, daughter of the owner of the box factory, refuses to accompany him, but her sister, Myrna Loy, who is in love with the independently thinking Baxter, follows him to the track, and the rest of the story deals with their difficulties in finding enough money to enter the horse to the big derby.

Probably he best touch in the show is where Baxter, broke, goes to dinner in a large hotel with an old race track tout, hoping to borrow money. Since the tout is there for the same reason, a delicate situation arises as to how they will pay the check. How they get out of doing so leaves most of the audience in the able.

Directed by Frank Capra, the man responsible for "Lady for a Day," and "It Happened One Night," the picture has proven an instant box office success all over the country. "Variety" offers in this headline:
