marks, about $500, when he arrived in Germany just before his death. He had nothing else of value, he said.

The defense had sought to show that Fisch had considerable money when he left the United States in December, 1933. It also charged that Fisch had left with Hauptmann for safekeeping the $14,600 ransom money found in Hauptmann's garage.

Edward J. Reilly, defense chief, on cross-examination elicited the information Fisch's family had engaged an American attorney after his death.

"And did you and your family submit to the New York lawyer the following list of assets: furs, pelts, stocks, a restaurant company and a bundle that was hidden?"

"No," said Miss Fisch and the interpreter told the jury what that meant.

The defense rested its case shortly before the noon recess after surprise testimony that the Lindbergh kidnap ladder was on the back of an automobile near Hopewell twenty hours before Baby Lindbergh was kidnapped and slain—and that a man in the auto was not Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

The state immediately launched its rebuttal attack on the defense's alibi and other witnesses.

PLEMINGTON, N. J., Feb. 8.—(AP) Bruno Richard Hauptmann today rested his case against the charges that would send him to the electric chair for the kidnaping and murder of Baby Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.

The defense case ended at 12:10 p. m. after sensational testimony designed to place the Lindbergh kidnap ladder in the possession of a man other than Hauptmann 24 hours before the crime.

The defense also used two practical lumber men to dispute the testimony of a state wood expert that part of the kidnap ladder came from Hauptmann's Bronx attic.

One of these was the last defense witness.

Defense Rests
Edward J. Reilly, chief defense counsel, waited for the polling of the jury after a brief recess, then announced loudly:

"The defense rests!"
The state began rebuttal with Joe J. Faber, a New York insurance man, on the stand. His testimony was sought to refute that of a defense witness who said he saw Isador Fisch leap over a Bronx cemetery wall where and when the $50,000 Lindbergh ransom was paid.

Used 51 Witnesses
The defense used, in all, 53 witnesses, many of them alibi witnesses, and required 11 court days to give its answer to the state's charges.

operation of the state with the federal government in re-employment projects, and would appropriate $12,000 for this work, the sum to be matched by the federal government.

Salary Bills Passed
The state senate passed a measure increasing the salary of the Deschutes county treasurer from $1,900 to $1,500 a year, and a companion bill by Senator N. G. Wallace reducing the salary of the Jefferson county sheriff from $2,200 to $1,800 annually. Both measures originated in the senate.

Senator Douglas McKay of Marion county objected to the salary increase in Deschutes county on the grounds that Marion county on a much larger population only paid its treasurer $1,500 annually.

Senator Goss answered McKay's objection with the statement that the salaries could not be compared because, due to lack of assistants, such an officer in the smaller county would be loaded with more work.

A third bill by Senator James Huxley, cutting the bond of directors of irrigation districts from $5,000 to $1,000, also received a favorable vote.

Change Doctor Exam Date
One measure already passed by the house, changing the date of examination for physicians and surgeons from the first Tuesday of January and July of each year, and leaving the date of examination up to the discretion of the board of examiners, was passed in the upper house.

A joint memorial introduced today would petition congress to provide for construction and maintenance of transmission lines by the United States government, on the Bonneville dam project.

A bill sponsored by the Oregon Social Hygiene society and having as its purpose the reduction of venereal diseases, was also passed. In explanation, representative Hannah Martin, Marion county, said it was not designed to curtail the sale of appliances through legitimate channels, but would eliminate the sale of inferior and unreliable appliances in cigar stores, service stations and by house-to-house canvassers.

To Curb Auto Thefts
Aimed at the increase in crime by youths who steal automobile parts and sell them to men engaged in the business of wrecking automobiles, another bill met with approval in the house.

Three bills were killed by indefinite postponement. One would permit cities to adopt as parts of ordinance printed codes containing rules and regulations applicable and governing matters pertaining to the public safety and health; appropriating $600 for the removal of dead eels and salmon from the Clackamas river, and one providing for an audit of books of account and records of corporations by the demand of 10 per cent of the stockholders.

DEFUNCT BANK WOULD PAY DELINQUENT TAX
A petition asking authority for the payment of delinquent 1932 taxes amounting to $12,500, by the Citizens National bank of Ashland, now in liquidation, was filed in court today by the state banking department. The parcel of land is part of assets of the bank. Authority is also asked for continued payment of taxes.

MOVES TO AMEND WORK RELIEF BILL ARE BEATEN BACK

Philippines and Nye (R., N. D.), who has been busy with his munitions inquiry. Just how they voted was not announced.

Nye lost an amendment, 10 to 9, to prohibit any of the money being used for building naval craft in private yards. He announced afterward President Roosevelt had assured him none of the money would be used for that purpose.

The committee eliminated the Philippines from the bill, confining its benefits "only in the United States and its territories and possessions."

Stelwer Amendment Lost
Senator Stelwer (R., Ore.) lost, by 10 to 9, an amendment which would have regulated all public works projects to be carried out under the direction and supervision of the permanent government departments concerned with the various projects.

Another amendment rejected, 10 to 9, by Senator Copeland (D., N. Y.) would have prohibited government engaging in any competitive enterprise in any community where the existing private industry was working under normal conditions. This proposal was advanced by the National Association of Furniture Manufacturers.

Senator McAdoo, explaining elimination of the bill, said the islands should not have been included in the bill "in the first place."

"They have a special status," he said. "They have more of a separate government of their own (under the independence act) and really have no relief problem."

Unmarried Mother Receiving Offers Of Home for Babe

DENVER, Feb. 8.—(AP)—A 13-day old baby boy, child of a 12-year-old unwed mother, posed at nurses in the Denver General hospital today while scores of letters from as far away as New York, from persons seeking to adopt him, piled up in juvenile court.

The young mother has never seen her baby and by order of her own mother, she never will.

The father of the infant, convicted of a morals offense against the young mother, was sentenced to prison for 20 years.

PETE AGREES TO GRAPPLE KAPLAN

Promoter Mack Lillard announced that with his ire mounting to the boiling point because of the fact that he and Hal Rumberg of Spokane have not yet received pay for their match last night at the armory which ended in a no-contest flat fight outside the ring, Pete Belcastro, belligerent Italian grappler, has very nearly agreed to meet Abe Kaplan next Thursday night in what will practically amount to a grudge match.

Lillard withheld Belcastro's and Rumberg's money because of their refusal to confine their scrap last night to the arena, and both boys are in grumpy frames of mind today.

Although the grudge may seem to be one-sided in favor of Belcastro, who has wanted to get his hands on Kaplan for some time, the "Jewish Gent" generally develops a high-powered grudge himself for any opponent, as well as any referee.
