Western Feature on Rialto's Bill

One of the most popular child stars of yesterday, Jackie Coogan, now grown to a six-footer, has one of the featured roles with Randolph Scott and Evelyn Brent in "Home on the Range," taken from Zane Grey's "Code of the West," and starting a three-day run at the Rialto theater today.

HUMAN FLY WILL SCALE JACKSON

"I fly through the air with the greatest of ease," would probably be a suitable theme song for D. D. Roland, human fly and acrobat, who will scale the Jackson hotel here Friday at 8:30 in the afternoon and again at 7:30 in the evening. Having just climbed the 16-story city hall at Oakland, Roland will come to Medford with a little more than 19 years' experience. The Oakland climb, however, is far from being his highest. He climbed 42 stories of the L. C. Smith building in Seattle and 74 stories of the Chrysler building in New York, and during all his dare-devil feats he has had only one fall, this of 52 feet of the court house at Bloomfield, Iowa.

Besides scaling the walls of the Jackson hotel, Roland will perform many gravity-defying stunts on the cornice of the building. He will balance on chairs, and will do a blindfold walk along the edge with his feet, featured in the act, on his shoulders, reading to him from a newspaper.

SCREEN REVIEW

(By Dick Applegate.) Once in a long time a truly exceptional picture is filmed, one that people talk about for months after. A picture that has everything; a good story, an exciting name, a fine cast, unusual photography, and that indefinable something known as "box-office appeal." Such a picture was "It Happened One Night," and while of an entirely different kind, such a picture is "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer," which opened for a four-day run at the Craterian theater yesterday.

If you miss this picture don't blame me if you are left out of most of the freetide conversation for the next few weeks, because obviously enough the picture is going to be talked about.

With Gary Cooper in the leading role, and Franchot Tone and Richard Cromwell in only slightly less important ones, excellent acting is given and the other members' names read like the social register of the camera world, with Sir Guy Standing, C. Aubrey Smith (I like him), Monte Blue and Kathleen Burke.

The story widely differs from the Francis Yeats-Brown novel from which it was taken, but that is understandable, and the picture suffers in no way for the difference. Four years were spent in the production, and the results justify the time.

One of the best pictures of the year.

LeRoy Williams, arrested Tuesday on a charge of having driven through a stop street, was fined $10 in city court this morning by Judge Allen D. Curry. The arrest was the first step in the new campaign being launched against violation of the traffic laws of the city in an attempt to check the mounting number of auto accidents here.

A warning was issued by city police that those found violating the laws, even the minor ones, will be dealt with severely.

"I Had Awful Hot Spells" says Mrs. Harry H. Price of 304 N. Harrison Ave., Kankakee, Illinois. "The Vegetable Compound puts me into me and makes my work easy."

"What they need is a dependable medicine like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."
