The plight of the four-masted schooner, "Seth Parker" (right), owned and skippered by Phillips Lord (left), radio character, caused American and English naval authorities concern. Lord finally flashed an "SOS" which caused the H. M. A. S. Australia to make a second speedy run to the ship which reported itself endangered by capsizing in the middle of the Pacific. RETURN OF CHAOS SEEN IF PROGRAM IS ABANDONED NOW

Francis J. Gorman, organization director of the United Textile Workers said labor's faith in NRA had been shaken by a lack of code enforcement.

"For example," Mr. Roosevelt told congress, "child labor must not be allowed to return; the fixing of minimum wages and maximum hours is practical and necessary."

"The rights of employees freely to organize for the purpose of collective bargaining should be fully protected. The fundamental principles of the anti-trust laws should be more adequately applied."

"Monopolies and private price fixing must not be allowed nor condoned."

But in the case of such natural resources as oil, coal and gas, the president said the people "need government supervision" to eliminate waste, control output and stabilize employment so that the public will be protected from "ruinous price-cutting."

Jail Not Necessary

"In the development of this legislation," the president said, "I call your attention to the obvious fact that the way to enforce laws, codes and regulations relating to industrial produces is not to seek to put people in jail.

"We need other and more effective means for the immediate stopping of practices by any individual or by any corporation which are contrary to these principles."

The message heartily endorsed the emergency NRA which expires next June, saying it was the biggest factor in giving reemployment to "approximately 4,000,000 people."

"We must rightly move to correct some things done or left undone," it said. "We must work out a coordination of every code with every other code. We must simplify procedure."

The president left to congress the definition of policies and standards for the new law.

"I recommend," he said, "that the policies and standards for the administration of the act should be further defined in order to clarify the legislative purposes and to guide the execution of the law, thus protting by what we have already learned."

He said detailed recommendations covering the various subjects outlined in his message were available to congress at the various departments and agencies charged with executing NRA.

the jail sentence will be suspended, however.

There have been several complaints on this charge lately, according to state police, who have decided to "clamp down" on those found with illegal meat in their possession.

Lumbermen to Meet

TACOMA, Feb. 20.—(AP)—The annual convention of the Western Retail Lumbermen's association will open here tomorrow with a prospective attendance of 800.

SOMETHING DOING IN MEDFORD

Say, man, have you been down to the Church of the Nazarene to hear that man Gandy? How does he do his stuff?" you say. Boy! I'll tell you he doesn't save you over, he takes a lance and cuts deep right in the sore place. He just lays you out with a gospel anesthetic, and goes to work. You will probably have a bad feeling for a day or two, but when you come back to have your wounds dressed, you will be able to take it.

Say, he's a clever artist too. He spent five years studying art and received a salary of $200.00 a week as an artist.

You say, "A Man's a fool to give up such a salary to preach the gospel." Well, that's all owing to how you look at it. Don't forget this: "What shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" Mark 9:36. Suppose we use the other side of our brains while God shows us a photograph of a fool. "The Fool hath said in his heart, 'There is no God.'" Ps. 14:1. This gives us the low down on the philosophy of a fool.

The thing I like about Gandy is that he's a square shooter. He doesn't mince words nor spare the sinner, be he lawyer, doctor, professor, merchant or laborer.

Gandy talks like this:

"Is it nothing to you that the depression is the striking of God's clock, calling a God-forgetting world to repentance?"

I'm telling you, there's no use talking. The people that go down to that altar come away changed with a joy in their hearts. I've seen it myself. I don't wonder they shout, they look so happy.

Meet you there tonight.

BOWLING

The senior Active club bowling team, except the "Alley Cats," were too much for the Standard Roofers in their City Bowling League match last night at the smoke House, and took all three games and high pin total. The Active club "Pole Cats" were not so fortunate, however, losing by the same margin to the Forest and Park team.

ST. MARY'S QUINT ADDS CCC CAGE OUTFIT TO STRING OF VICTORIES

The Saint Mary's All-Stars, blazing their way across the independent basketball league firmament, last night walloped the CCC headquarters company five 61-37, in a rough and tumble match that at times looked more like football than basketball, as players smacked head-on repeatedly on the tiny girl's gym at the senior high school.

The Saints completely outclassed the "brush marines," scoring almost at will, with Trill starting instead of Dick Lewis, unable to play because of a hand injured with an ax last week.

In the preliminary, the St. Mary's high school had a more difficult time with the headquarters second string, noosing out a 27-24 win in a fast and exciting game. Dick Sakrada, for the Girls, chalked up 20 of the 27 points, for high honors.

On Friday night, in a wild walk-away, the All-Stars lost the Prospect town team in the shuffle to the tune of 62-39, at Prospect, with Curtis, All-Star forward, accounting for 18 points, and Lewis and Landley each ringing the bell for 14.

Tonight the All-Stars first and second squads meet the Gold Hill team's first and second outfits at the Gold Hill. A good crowd from this city, anticipating a fast game, have declared their intention to be an hand for the encounter.

PERFECT PINOCCHLE HAND DEALT DURNO

Dr. Edwin R. Durno attained the heights in pinocchle playing last week when he held the perfect hand—18-1, 18-1, 18-1, 18-1, 18-1. In a friendly game with Justin Smith and Dr. B. L. Lageson, holding the perfect hand in pinocchle is what the "hole-in-one" is to golf, the home-run to baseball and the 300 game in bowling. It seldom happens.

Messrs. Smith and Lageson, eye-witnesses to the phenomena, and victims of it were most completely "flabbergasted."

ROGUE STEELHEAD ENJOYING HOLIDAY

Several local Isnak Waltons are still under the false impression that it is legal to fish in the Rogue river for steelhead, and other trout, according to state police. The Illinois river, from its confluence with the Rogue to that point on the Illinois known as the Illinois river falls, is open for steelhead and other trout over 10 inches in length, and will be until the last day of February, but the Rogue is open only for salmon fishing, the salmon to be over 20 inches long.

Given is a quotation from the official Oregon fishing laws, regarding the two rivers.

"Steelhead are classified as trout in the Rogue river and all laws regarding trout are there applicable to steelhead."

"Open season in the Rogue river and its tributaries April 5 to December 31, inclusive; provided further, there shall be an open season for the taking of trout over 10 inches in length in that part of the Illinois river, exclusive of their tributaries, during the month of January of each year, and there shall be an open season for the taking of trout over 10 inches in length in that part of the Illinois river, exclusive of tributaries, from its confluence with the Rogue river to a point upstream known as Illinois river falls, during the month of February of each year."
