

FORESTER PLANS EXPENDITURE OF PWA ALLOTMENT

PORTLAND, Feb. 20.—(P)—An ambitious program by which recreational facilities of streams and forests of Oregon will be extended, and wild life plans will be advanced, is being prepared by the federal forest service here in anticipation of congressional approval of the new $4,880,000 public works allotment.

Oregon and Washington can count on receiving twice the $6,521,485 given the two states in the previous PWA appropriation, C. J. Buck, regional forester, said.

Recreational houses are planned for the increasingly popular national forest camp grounds. There will be better facilities for bathing in the streams on which the camps are located. Fish life conditions in Oregon's streams will be improved and wild life, in general, will benefit. Range fences will be built so livestock can be better controlled.

Buck said he plans a $350,000 federal building in Portland in which all the offices of the forestry department would be housed. These offices now are scattered in three buildings. Another suggestion is that homes, to cost from $4,000 to $5,000 be built for forest service officials so that when supervisors and other officials are transferred from one post to another they can move without incurring personal loss.

CCC camps will be doubled in number in Oregon before July 1, Buck said.

COUNCIL ORDERS $78,000 SEWAGE BOND ISSUANCE

Owen Complaints
Represented by his attorney, Porter J. Neff, James H. Owen made a complaint to the council about the condition of the roadway in front of his residence in Slakiron Heights.

He said the entrance to his driveway is more difficult and dangerous than before the S-curve at the end of East Main street was eliminated. In that a bank has been left where the former driveway turned off. Mayor Porter referred the complaint to the streets and roads committee. Who with Superintendent Scheffel, will meet with Mr. Owen to straighten the matter out.

Little other business was taken up, other than passing of the ordinance defining the licensing of taxi cabs. Under this regulation taxi drivers must pay a $20 license fee every six months, instead of $40 yearly.

A motion was passed that the collection of these fees be enforced to the same extent that collection of automobile license fees is enforced. In making the motion, Councilman J. F. Pfeigal said he believed collections could be made from the taxi drivers before every January 1 and July 1, just as automobile license fees are now collected the first of the year.

ROXY ANN GRANGERS HEAR PENSION DEBATE

RELIEFERS STAGE PARADE IN SHEETS

PORTLAND, Feb. 20.—(P)—Last week Mr. and Mrs. John F. Williams of Portland staged a bed-sheet parade through the city streets in protest, they said, against discrimination by the Multnomah county relief administration.

Today the relief committee took time out to present its own case. The Williams, it was pointed out, have received since last November, more than $5 in work relief; more than 81 pounds of staple groceries, as well as the two sheets, two pillow cases and two towels in which they paraded. They had protested that when they asked for food they were given sheets, but the relief committee today declared the sheets had been requested.

The committee concluded "There was some apparent misunderstanding."

VALE HOT SPRINGS MAY HEAT HOMES

ONTARIO, Ore., Feb. 20.—(P)—The city of Vale, near here, is making plans to heat city homes and business offices with boiling water piped from the many hot springs on the edge of the town.

The proposal will be submitted to the federal work relief administration. Thousands of gallons of the boiling water are wasted each hour, although some of it is used in a stratum for medicinal purposes. The water gushes from the ground at boiling temperature. It is unusually soft and not unpleasant to the taste.
