NEW ZEALAND BUTTER THREAT DEMORALIZES MARKET IN PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 20.—(AP)—Butter prices were smashed again during the late session of the produce exchange, completing unsettling both wholesale and retail trading. On the exchange there was a general cut of 2c lb. in cubes with lower of first score at a loss of 2 1/2c lb.

The cut in prices follows a scare thrown into the trade with talk of very liberal offerings of New Zealand butter in the east, as well as additional stocks to come to the coast. Butterfat prices showed a loss of 2c again for the day.

There was a loss of 1c in the price on special eggs during the late session of the produce exchange which shows no higher price for that stock than for smaller eggs.

Increased strength continued to be reflected for live chickens and especially light-medium leghorn hens. Buyers were seeking the latter more extensively.

While there was a shade of uneasiness in the hog market, other lines continued to reflect strength with prices well held for veal, lambs and for beef.
