

GRAPPLING SHOW TO BE FEATURED BY NEW TALENT

After seeing for the last several weeks a more or less ghoulish series of wrestling matches, Medford followers of the grunt and grime are anticipating tonight at least one session of hard, fast grappling—when Joe Hubka, flashy ex-athlete from University of Nebraska, tangles with Jim Nealy of San Francisco, a highly-souted newcomer, in the main event of a two-billy card.

Although Nealy comes to Medford as a dark horse, promoter Mack Lillard says he could have found no better opponent for the popular Nebraskan. Newcomers are usually good drawing cards and during the last several seasons have resulted in several excellent "fights."

When Newcomer Nealy takes his corner at the armory tonight, fans will be prepared for anything from clean, scientific wrestling to an exhibition of fists and temper, for which the Nebraskan, a native of Czechoslovakia, gets his "dander" up. It takes a good man to stay in the ring with him. Hubka, however, has always controlled his temper in local matches, contenting himself with applications of his many colorful holds, and his specialty for fancy leg work.

Having been trained and managed by Joe Stecher, former claimant to the world's heavyweight championship, Joe prides himself in a thorough knowledge of the profession. He likes to use his legs in taking falls, and is especially adept at clamping on a front body scissor, then tumbling over in a backward somersault to pin his opponent.

Louis Bacagalupi, who has a reputation of being an uncouth individual, will make his first appearance here tonight, in a semi-final bout with popular Don Wagner, an ex-football star who climbed into the athletic limelight at O. S. C. Bacagalupi, known as the "terrible Italian," will probably be a hard assignment for the big Oregon Stater, although the latter has come out on top in most of his local big-fests.

Wagner is one of those wrestlers who puts every ounce of his energy into a contest, and with his big, angular frame, is a hard man to throw. He also is capable of uncouth grappling, and will probably stand for little maltreatment from the 225-pound son of Italy.

Pitman Ray Pringle will referee.

SHELLENBACK NEW HOLLYWOOD PILOT

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Hollywood's Stars will go after the coast league pennant this season with a new manager at the helm who makes his debut at a time when it appears baseball is due to perk up with a red hot race in the offing.

Frank Shellenback, pitching veteran of the Stars, finds himself honored this year after faithful service by the added duties of manager. "Shelly" intends to assign himself mound work regularly.

As he already holds the league record for pitching victories, there is much reason to believe he may boost the total to where it will be out of reach of rivals for many years to come.

Shellenback, who broke in with the old Vernon club in 1920 and has been spit-balling in the league ever since, replaces Oscar Vitt. He does not inherit much in the way of material.

MAT PROGRAM LATER ACCOUNT HOOP GAME

In order to allow as many sport fans as possible to attend the double-main event wrestling program tonight at the armory, promoter Mack Lillard announced the curtain raiser will start a few minutes later than usual, so that those who plan to attend the S. O. N. S.—Union Oil basketball game at the senior high school will be able to take in both. With the opening tip-off scheduled for 7:30, the basketball game should be over shortly after 8:30, allowing wrestling followers to go to the armory in time for the first grip and grime.

Sons Cage Stars in Benefit Tilt Tonight

SONS DEFEATED BY OILERS, SEEK REVENGE TONIGHT

In a double header benefit game in Klamath Falls last night, the Southern Oregon Normal school varsity and freshman basketball teams both went down to defeat, the varsity losing to the Union Oil independent team from Portland, 23-24, and the frosh dropping a hot contest to the Klamath high school, 22-21.

The Normal five simply couldn't get started, misting setups, and their long shots rolling off the rim for no tally. The Hobsonites still hold an advantage of two out of three games, having defeated the Oilers twice earlier in the season. An idea of how far off the SONS were last night is given by the fact that Howell, usually a dead shot on foul offerings, missed five out of six last night.

A contributing factor, probably to the Normal defeat was the boozing of the huge crowd, over a thousand, that jammed the Klamath gymnasium. It was the largest crowd ever to witness a basketball game in that city, and most of them were rooting for the Portland team.

The Ashland outfit has vowed revenge for tonight, when the teams again meet in the high school gym here at 7:30, and the game is apt to be fast and rough. The off night in Klamath Falls will in all probability not be repeated, and the Normalites are expected to come back with all the brilliance of which they are capable.

The game is a benefit affair, all the proceeds of which are to go toward sending the Ashland team to the national championship games in Denver. A huge crowd will be on hand tonight to witness the encounter, many from Ashland having declared their intention to be present. Advance tickets on sale downtown in this city have gone like wildfire, and the game is threatening to be a sell-out.

Arthur, as referee, and Crossdale, as umpire, have both volunteered their services for the benefit and both officiated in the game at Klamath Falls last night.

The summary for last night's game, and probable starting lineup for tonight is given: Union Oil: Sons Thomas (4), F. (6), Patterson Robertson (10), P. (5), Howell Greiner (4), C. (4), Jewell Cairney (13), G. (2), McLean Grayson (3), G. (2), Joeksch Substitutes—Union Oil: O'Connell, Innish, Normal school: Courtney, Bradlock, Scott, Hughes.

BOWLING

The City Meat Market team returned to the winning column by taking two out of three in their match with the Richfield Service bowling quintet at the Elks club last night. Eds Transfer and Mason Ehrman rolf tonight.

INDIAN GRAPPLER SUBDUES BAD BOY

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Portland fans who take their wrestling villains seriously had a new hero today, Jules Strongbow, 275-pound Oklahoma Indian who last night subdued the Boston bad boy, 240-pound Jack Washburn.

Washburn's knees, elbows and fists failed to dent the massive Indian who however employed the same tactics with telling effect on Washburn, and then fell on him for two straight falls.

Ted Cox, 220, Lodi, Cal., scripted the ancient art of wrestling and used hair yanking and all manner of punishment jabs to gain two of three falls from Hal Bumbarger, Spokane, Wash. Bumbarger's fall came from a series of shoulder butts.

Ted Thye, 200, Portland, returned to the ring after an absence of more than a year, and showed Mike Storch, 215, Hollywood, just how a fall is gained with shoulder butts.

CCC MITT ARTISTS READY FOR ACTION ELKS CLUB ARENA

Plans have been completed for the final Elks-CCC elimination smoker to be staged at the Elks temple tonight. Fighters from all over the district will compete for the right to enter the district championship card early in March.

The fighters arrived in Medford this morning and were weighed in by Captain William C. Ryan, district athletic officer. The card was nearly completed early in the afternoon although one or two changes may be made before evening to assure evenly matched contests.

Castellano, 130, Oak Knoll, was pitted against Alf, 132, Granite Pass in the opener. Myerhofer, 139, Spring Flat and Logan, 163, Carberry Creek, were slated for the second event. Zack Moore, 145, Indian Creek, and Mazurivick, 147, Grants Pass, were paired for another event.

Williams, 164, Indian Creek and Champagne, 162, Seiad, were paired for one of the feature events. The main event was not definite but Captain Ryan promises something out of the ordinary. Lieut. Henry Phelan, Treks promoter, has a delegation of outstanding lighters Lieut. Geary, of Carberry, promised a pair of "dark horses" who would upset Phelan's apple cart, were due in Thursday afternoon from the Applegate country.

The boxing card will be followed by beer and a feed.

Flowers for Jack Rose

The Jack Rose cocktail is just about fool-proof. Even an amateur can't quite ruin this delicious glass. But what an old timer—with Hildick's Applejack—can make of it!

INJURIES, ILLNESS DIM TIGERS' HOPE IN FRIDAY CLASH

Gloom is draped heavily about the Medford high school basketball encampment today, with Smith, Tiger guard, and one of the best runs at guarding that the squad possesses, possibly out of the lineup against Ashland with an injured hip, which prevented him from dressing last night. The hip joint was hurt in practice Wednesday evening, when Smith collided with Ayres, and a twist sustained when the big guard slipped on a rock while limping home about finishes the job.

Smith has had trouble with the hip before, an old injury sustained in a baseball game some time ago having been giving him considerable pain ever since. He may get in the game, but certainly not for long, and may not see action at any time tomorrow night.

Adding to the depressed prospects of a Medford win is the fact that Luman, star forward, is suffering from the flu and, though arising from bed yesterday afternoon to practice with his teammates, Burgher sent him home before he dressed. He may not start the game, but will probably see action.

The rest of the squad are in good physical condition and planning for the battle of their lives, in an effort to wrest a win from the fast-breaking Ashland Grizzlies tomorrow. The feud which has existed between the two schools, often times culminating in fist and egg fights, is giving indications of being even bloodier this year than before, although the action will be confined to the floor instead of the adjacent empty lots. The two teams have apparently outgrown their childish proclivities for carrying the

WOMAN TO TAKE TRAIL WITH DOG DRIVERS IN ANNUAL ASHTON DERBY

ASHTON, Idaho, Feb. 21.—(AP)—A woman's voice crying to a string of panting sled dogs to "mush on" will echo across the windy reaches of northwestern Idaho tomorrow as sweating drivers urge their strings of canine racers along a 24 mile course in the 19th running of the annual American dog derby here.

ST. MARYS ALL-STARS TRAMPLE GOLD HILL TOWN CAGERS, 83-11

The record-answaring St. Mary's last night added another victim to their long list, when they tromped the Gold Hill town team into submission in the first quarter, to race away with the rest of the game, leaving the townies in the dust, 83-11, at Gold Hill. Lindley, All-Star guard, had little difficulty in rinning the going at will, and amassed 26 points, with Hammock accounting for 16, and Harris only one point behind that, with 15.

In the preliminary, the Saint subs also swished out a win, dropping the Gold Hill second team by the closer margin of 32-28.

The Saint Mary's All-Stars have announced that they are ready and willing to take on all opposition, and have issued a particular challenge to Russ Brown's Heavyweights.

Summary for last night's main event: All-Stars Harris (15), Curries (10), Hammock (16), Lindley (26), Trill (6), Substitutions: St. Mary's, D. Lewis (10); Gold Hill Carrol (4), Gardner (3), Kellogg (2), Hogan (1), Coy (1).

Attractive Thula Geelan of the mountain-locked lake town of McCall, in north central Idaho, is the woman who will take to the trail. She's a veteran at dog racing and the men who will compete with her respect her ability to manage dogs. In 1930 she placed second in the race which this year will yield $400 to the winner, $200 for second place, $100 for third and $50 for fourth. There's plenty of competition afield this year. Miss Geelan will match wits and dogs with Ray Peterson of St. Anthony, Idaho; Don Cordingly of Ashton; Delbert Groom of Rigby, Idaho; Charley Martin, 64 year old musher of Island Park, Idaho; Jack Neil of Jackson Hole, Wyo.; Van Sickle of Ashton; Harry Whitehead of Idaho Falls; Lee Lewis of Teton, Idaho, and Whitey McNair of Ashton.
