

ROOSEVELT LEADS NATION'S TRIBUTE TO WASHINGTON

some occasional good; that they may now and then recur to moderate the fury of party spirit, to warn against the mischiefs of foreign intrigue, to guard against the importures of pretended patriotism."

These counsels included: The unity of government . . . is the main pillar in the edifice of your real independence.

Respect for its authority, compliance with its laws, acquiescence in its measures, are duties enjoined by the fundamental maxims of true liberty.

The alternate domination of one faction over another, sharpened by the spirit of revenge, . . . is itself a frightful despotism.

But this leads at length to a more formal and permanent despotism.

The disorders and miseries, which result, gradually incline the minds of men to seek security and repose in the absolute power of an individual; and sooner or later the chief of some prevailing faction more able and more fortunate than his competitors, turns this despotism to the purposes of his own elevation, on the ruins of public liberty.

The habits of thinking in a free country, should inspire caution, in those entrusted with its administration, to confine themselves within their respective constitutional spheres, avoiding the exercise of the powers of one department to encroach upon another.

Of all the dispositions and habits which lead to political prosperity, religion and morality are indispensable supports.

As a very important source of strength and security cherish public credit.

Use it as sparingly as possible. Timely disbursements to prepare for danger frequently prevent much greater disbursements to repel it.

Avoid accumulation of debt. Discharge the debts which unavoidable wars may have occasioned, not ungenerously throwing upon posterity the burden which we ourselves ought to bear.

Observe good faith and justice towards all nations. Permanent inveterate antipathies against particular nations, and passionate attachments for others should be excluded.

The great rule of conduct for us, in regard to foreign nations, is to extend our commercial relations, to have with them as little political connection as possible.

Europe has a set of primary interests, which to us have none, or a very remote relation. Our true policy is to steer clear of permanent alliances, with any portion of the foreign world. Our commercial policy should hold an equal and impartial hand; neither seeking nor granting exclusive favors or preferences.

I hold the maxim no less applicable to public than to private affairs, that honesty is always the best policy.

MRS. M. PARKS PIONEER OF WEST DIES, AGED 84, IN BEAGLE RESIDENCE

Mrs. M. A. Parks, known as Grandma Parks to all her friends, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Eda Boyles, at Beagle, at noon Thursday at the age of 84 years. Death was due to a general decline in health in advanced age.

Martha Ann Dinwiddie was born August 13, 1850, in Salt Lake City, Utah in a room off the general store owned by Brigham Young. She was the daughter of Andrew Warrick Dinwiddie, captain of an emigrant train enroute to California from Virginia, and Martha Hayes Dinwiddie, a direct descendant of the brother of President Rutherford B. Hayes. In the spring of 1851 the family moved on to California settling at Knights Landing.

The deceased spent practically her entire life in California until 1923 when she moved to Oregon to make her home. She was united in marriage to James Franklin Williams (now deceased) in March 1896, and to this union eleven children were born, ten of whom grew to mature manhood and womanhood. In 1902 she was married to H. B. Parks who passed away some years ago. At an early age Grandma Parks accepted her Savior and was baptized into the Methodist church when a young woman, and has been a devout Christian since. When her health permitted, she attended the Friendly Neighbor meetings held at Beagle and took an active part in the meetings until two years ago when her failing health made it impossible for her to attend regularly.

Besides a host of friends she leaves three sons and three daughters, C. R. Williams and J. H. Williams of Beagle, W. J. Williams of Corona Del Mar, Cal., Mrs. Nora Hinds of Tule, Wash., Mrs. Josephine P. Barnick of Portland, who came to Medford to be with her mother, and Mrs. Clara Edna Boyles of Beagle, also sixteen grandchildren and nine great grandchildren, and a nephew, Ralph Day of Yreka, Cal., who was reared by Mrs. Parks.

Funeral services will be held at Conger funeral chapel Saturday, Feb. 23, at 1 p. m., with Rev. D. E. Millard in charge. Interment will be in the I. O. O. F. cemetery beside her son, A. B. Williams, who passed away in July, 1933, and her daughter, Mrs. R. H. Seegmiller, who passed away last December.

A live-at-home campaign conducted among North Carolina farmers has led to a marked increase in the demand for milk cows in that state.

FIRST SHOW TONIGHT OF COWARDS COMEDY AT ASHLAND NORMAL

A departure from past Alpha Tau productions will be seen when Noel Coward's sophisticated comedy, "Hayfever," is presented in the Southern Oregon Normal school auditorium tonight and Saturday night.

Coward himself has said that he prefers "Hayfever" to his other comedies, the play being liked enthusiastically by all who have read it or seen rehearsals.

The story is unique, the action breezy, and each act climaxes in a gassy situation. The nine students who have been practicing for the past month and a half on the production include veterans and novices in Southern Oregon Normal school dramatics.

Among the veterans are George F. Smith of Ashland, who directed and announced the weekly radio broadcasts advertising the play over KEMD; Don Darnelle of Medford; Violet K. Walters of Bend, and Bob Steiman of Phoenix, who directed much of the preparation of the scenery, a modern house setting which prevails throughout the play.

Novices in the production who have the challenge of fulfilling the promise they showed in tryouts when, despite competition with many who have been in past Bowmer productions, they were awarded roles in the current play, include Marion Frost of Ashland, Helen Edulston of Medford, Dorothy Jackson of Roseburg, Wanda Widrich of Gile, and Jarvie Thompson of Phoenix.

The curtains will rise each night at 8:20. Tickets are on sale in Medford at The Toggery.

The "Old Anson Road," a highway built by Lord Cornwallis during the Revolutionary war, can still be seen in Chatham county, North Carolina.

HOPPE DRAWS BIG BILLIARD GALLERY

Crowds had to be turned away from Browns' billiard parlors last night, so great was the interest in the free exhibition given by Willie Hoppe, world's premier billiard expert, who gave a demonstration of the game to the large audience.

Maru, local billiard expert, was paired against Hoppe in the 13-2 ball game, but only had one chance at the ivory before the champion ran the game out. In three-cushion billiards, Dinty Moore was paired with Hoppe, and held his own against the expert for the first half, being behind only one point, 16-17 at that time. Hoppe drew away after that period, however, but only after stiff competition from Moore.

After the exhibition, Hoppe demonstrated several fancy shots, and then instructed a class of 28 in the rudiments and fine points of the game.

It has been estimated that over 500 were in the billiard parlors, and many crowded on the sidewalk outside to watch the maestro at work. Considerable interest is being shown in the game, and many more experts will appear here at two week intervals for exhibitions and demonstrations.

WOULD EXEMPT SOME FROM PAYROLL TAX

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP)—The House ways and means committee voted today to exempt all churches, schools, hospitals and colleges not operating for a profit from the proposed 3 per cent unemployment insurance tax on payrolls.

That change was written into the pending social security bill as an elaboration of the amendments approved yesterday exempting farmers, domestics and employers with fewer than 10 employees.

Buildings constructed of adobe brick following the design of early missions are being constructed by SERA labor for the San Joaquin county fair at Stockton, Cal.

Safeway Featuring Northwest Foods

Special emphasis will be placed on Northwest food products in Safeway stores, tomorrow and Monday, according to J. F. Haws and A. G. Anderson, local Safeway managers. Mr. Haws says: "We continually advertise and display the fine food products from the Pacific northwest but during this special promotion, which is the closing event of our February money saving campaign, we are offering these foods at unusually low prices."

Many of these foods have won national recognition for their high quality.

CALUMET BAKES BETTER BECAUSE IT'S REALLY TWO BAKING POWDERS IN ONE.

A QUICK ONE FOR THE MIXING BOWL—ITS ACTION SET FREE BY LIQUID. IT STARTS THE LEAVENING PROPERLY.

A SLOWER ONE FOR THE OVEN. ITS ACTION SET FREE BY HEAT. IT PROTECTS THE BATTER OR DOUGH ALL THROUGH THE BAKING.

"That's why your baking is bound to be better with Calumet's Double-Action. And notice! Just one level teaspoon to the cup of sifted flour. Calumet goes farther—it's thrifty! You'll like this Perfection Sponge Cake Recipe—try it!"

PERFECTION SPONGE CAKE (3 eggs)

1 1/2 cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
1 1/2 teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 egg yolks, unbeaten
1 teaspoon lemon juice

1/2 cup cold water
1 1/2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
1 1/2 cups sugar
3 egg whites, unbeaten

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. To egg yolks, add water and lemon rind, and beat with rotary egg beater until very light and foamy (increase to 1 quart or more in volume). Add sugar gradually, beating well after each addition; then beat in flour, continuing with rotary egg beater. Beat egg whites until foamy throughout, add lemon juice and beat until stiff enough to hold up in peaks. Fold into flour mixture. Turn into ungreased tube pan; bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 1 hour, or until done. Invert pan 1 hour, or until cold.
