

POLICE CAPTURE ALLEGED PLOTTER OF ESCAPE

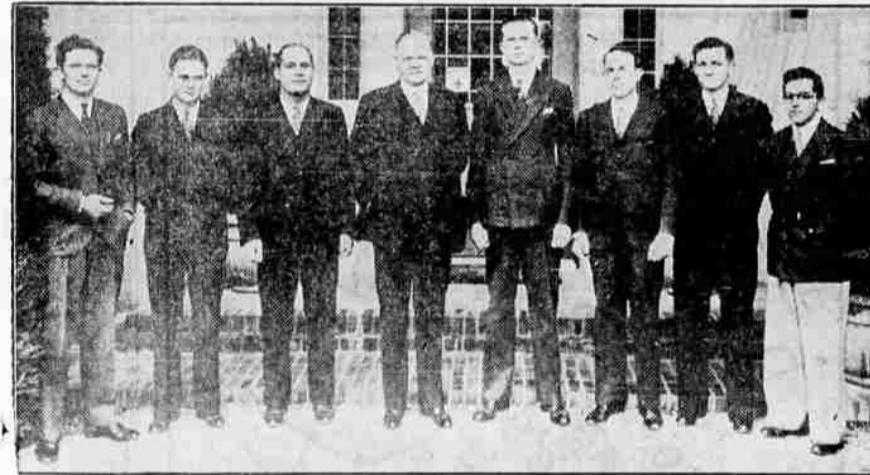

In a raid on Sherman island on the Sacramento river near Antioch, Cal., police from San Francisco captured Clyde Stevens (center) and companions. Stevens was wanted for bank robbery and was alleged to have supplied the guns four prisoners used in escaping from San Quentin. Arrested with Stevens were Mrs. Babe Leese (inset) and Albert Kessell (left) who was wounded. Detective Fred Butts is shown at right. Eugene Marracini and Stewart Leese were also arrested. (Associated Press Photos)

IL DUCE CALLS ITALIAN RESERVES TO ARMS

Italian troops similar to these pictured here were among those mobilized by Mussolini as the African situation became intense. Italy may send thousands of soldiers to Italian Somaliland because of recent clashes with Ethiopian regiments. The mobilization of two divisions and recall of the class of 1911 was announced by Mussolini. (Associated Press Photo)

A transcontinental debate team of Stanford university will leave on a tour which will embrace 40 colleges in the United States. The traveling debaters will uphold the negative of the question, "Resolved, that this house favors the new deal." Members of the team who were received by former President Hoover at his home on the campus, are (left to right) John P. McFarland, Robert Grantler, Prof. Leland T. Chapin, faculty adviser; Mr. Hoover, Robert R. Gros, Fred Bold, Andrew Bright and David Mellinkoff. (Associated Press Photo)

BEAUTIFUL—BUT NOT DUMB

Two prominent woman educators cite these pretty college girls in refutation of the "beautiful but dumb" idea. Mildred Stewart (left) is an outstanding University of Indiana scholar. Fritzie Prigozky (top right) was a Phi Beta Kappa at New York university last year. Virginia R. Shipley (center, right) and Edna Mae Dietz, (lower right) rank high scholastically in Ohio State university and the University of Pennsylvania, respectively. (Associated Press Photos)

Protects Goal

Lawrence "Hop" Findlay is one of the reasons Southern California leads the southern division of the Pacific Coast Conference in basketball. He's a guard for Troy. (Associated Press Photo)

These pretty Venice, Cal., girls used a huge heart to express their feelings about a Valentine beach party they are going to hold. Left to right: Dorothy Colclater, Dorothy Mahoney, Norine Stora and Phyllis Gidney. (Associated Press Photo)

Millard "Dixie" Howell, All-American of Alabama, who created a sensation in the Pasadena, Cal., Rose Bowl, was given a screen test by a Hollywood studio. The gridiron ace went to the film colony secretly and returned immediately after the test. Left to right: Eole Galli, Test Director Jack Foley, Supervisor Henry Mac Rae and Howell. (Associated Press Photo)

Cattle, valued at $1,000,000, were killed during a severe cold spell along the Gulf of Mexico. Some of the 25,000 to 30,000 head are shown strewn along the unprotected beaches. (Associated Press Photo)

Probe His Collapse

On the possibility that Young Joe Firpo, Philadelphia boxer shown here in a hospital bed, may have been drugged before he was scheduled to enter the ring against Frankie Saglio at Cicero, Chicago suburb, the Illinois state athletic commission ordered a thorough investigation. Firpo collapsed in his dressing room and was taken to a hospital. (Associated Press Photo)

TWO BINDLE STIFFS? NO!!

While being heralded as the pace setter for men's fashions, Clark Gable (left), movie star, was going around like this working on his newest film at Mt. Baker, Wash. His "brother bum" on the right is Jack Oakie. (Associated Press Photo)

GARBO-DIETRICH PLOT THICKENS

Rivalry between two of Hollywood's glamorous stars, Greta Garbo (left) and Marlene Dietrich approached a possible climax with the Swedish actress' recent public appearance after her consistent aloofness. Observers suggested Garbo may be inspired by the public attention her rival has attracted by adopting male garb. Interchanges of directors and leading men have added complication to this Hollywood real-life drama. (Associated Press Photos)

ROCKEFELLER IS FINGERPRINTED

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., (shown in center) was one of several prominent men who were fingerprinted for identification purposes in New York under the supervision of J. Edgar Hoover, head of the federal bureau of identification. (Associated Press Photo)

COURT BARRICADED DURING TRIAL

National guardsmen behind a sandbag fortification, guarded the courthouse at Cleveland, Miss., as James H. Coynor, giant negro grave robber, was tried for the murder and mutilation of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Turner. Coynor was sentenced to death. Some of the guardsmen are shown ready for action. (Associated Press Photo)

SHARPSHOOTING KILLS KIDNAPER

Edward Dews (right), Glenview, Ill., constable, spoiled kidnap plans against Louis Kaplan (right) by fatally shooting Tony Pina and wounding Vito Messina as they allegedly tried to abduct Kaplan. (Associated Press Photo)