Double Bill for Craterian Fans

George Brent and Josephine Hutchinson have leading roles in Somerset Maugham's dramatic story of a man who fell in love with his brother's wife, "The Right to Live," coming to the Craterian theatre tomorrow as the screen feature on the same program with the Purple Sage Riders on the stage.

The Purple Sage Riders, composed of film and radio stars from such well-known programs as the Happy-Go-Lucky Hour, Beverly Hill-Billies, Hollywood Hill-Billies, and other talented players, has been booked for a one day engagement after their extremely successful appearance here last season. Diversified talent, presented in a novel manner that won them much applause, made the unit unquestionably one of the most popular stage shows of its type ever to play here.

As a special added attraction, the show has Texas Tommy and his wonderful horse "Baby Doll," whose astounding tricks have been seen in several motion pictures, in addition to a world's champion trick roper.
