LAZINESS KEEPS TURKEYS TENDER
SALEM, Ore.—(UP)—The turkey business is one place where laziness is a big asset, says C. C. Deter, Mollala county turkey grower.

"The more exercise a turkey gets the tougher the meat," stated Deter, who sold 2700 birds in a two-week period last month. My turkeys are separated into small lots and never allowed to run. I want them to grow fat and lazy. The lazier they get the more tender their meat."

Deter's turkeys are allowed to roam and eat in clover, later fattening on wheat and oats and finally corn. This spring he intends to plant alfalfa for his birds, which are cared for in large part by a little black water spaniel that rounds up turkeys much as shepherd dogs round up sheep.

One of Deter's ideas which has brought him some little success in marketing has been to pass up the Thanksgiving and Christmas day trade and ship his birds east when the supply is smaller.

Coming Thursday

"Clive of India," starring Ronald Colman in what is said to be one of the outstanding pictures of screen history, makes its local bow at the Craterian theater tomorrow, where it starts a three day engagement.

The true story of Robert Clive, who conquered an empire at 26—who rose, by his own faith and genius and daring from a poor clerk in the East India Company to become England's greatest hero, is one of the most powerful roles Colman has ever had. And, from all advance reports, he has taken advantage of every opportunity to be more dazzling, more spirited and more effective than ever.

Loretta Young plays the leading feminine role opposite Colman and has been receiving her share of the critics' plaudits.

Starting a moving love story against a stirring action background, "Clive of India" graphically shows in thrilling, spectacular style how this one man made India a British domain.

Some of the most exciting episodes show Clive's "mad army" avenging the massacre of "The Black Hole of Calcutta"; the charge of the elephants at the battle of Plassey; and a charging army crossing swollen rivers in the teeth of a wild monsoon.

Now at Roxy

Elissa Landi and Adolphe Menjou merge as one of the screen's really great acting teams by virtue of their scintillating performances in "The Great Impersonation," from Gergory Ratoff's amusing story, which opened today at the Roxy theater.

It is a shrewdly written, handsomely mounted and intelligently directed film that purports to reveal the private lives of a famous professional couple.

Has 200-Year-Old Watch. MEAFORD, Ont.—(UP)—Peter R.

Outcast Lady

"Outcast Lady," which opened this afternoon at the Studio theater, presents a pair of lovers in one of the strongest emotional dramas ever written for stage or screen.

Constance Bennett and Herbert Marshall make an unforgettable pair in the picture version of Michael Arden's story.

The picture deals with the love of Iris and Napier, interrupted by the opposition of Napier's father.

"Sweet Adeline" Is Entertaining Film
After a record 63 weeks run on Broadway, it was only natural that eventually "Sweet Adeline" would find itself in motion pictures and, opening yesterday at the Rialto theater, with Irene Dunne in the leading role, proved to be a thoroughly entertaining musical romance of the gay nineties.

HARRY FLETCHER Presents
ON OUR STAGE IN PERSON
"PURPLE SAGE RIDERS"
The screen version retains the best of the original to which has been added much that is new including two songs written particularly for this production.
The story is laid in the gay nineties, and concerns the proprietor of a Hoboken beer garden and his daughter, who not only wait on tables but sing for the customers. Adeline, the role enacted by Miss Dunne, is in love with a poor song plugger and writer, and is in turn, courted, for purposes other than matrimony, by gay blades of various degrees. The girl lands both on Broadway and before the altar, but only after a series of thrilling adventures and romantic interludes that hold the audience breathless with suspense when it is not roaring itself with laughter.
It had almost been forgotten that Irene Dunne had a voice of Metropolitan Opera quality, and that she had once been under contract to that organization.
There are four comedians, Hugh Herbert, Ned Sparks, Joseph Cawthorn and Nydia Westman. If a funnier quartette exists, it has not been charted on the theatrical map.
