First M. E. Church Ladies To Present Playlet On Sunday

Next Sunday morning at the First Methodist Episcopal church the ladies of the Women's Foreign Missionary society will present the interesting playlet "Clinic of a Missionary Specialist," and the pastor, Rev. Joseph Knotts, will preach a special sermon using for his theme "Determine Women."

The several episodes of the playlet not only abound in wit and humor, but the teachings are pointedly effective. The ladies recently gave this playlet at a meeting of their society and are repeating it for the benefit of the evening congregation by request.

There will be special music under the direction of Olaf Severson. Mrs. Lucille Schoppert will preside at the organ.

At the morning service Rev. Knotts will preach his first of a series of sermons leading up to Easter, taking as his theme "Judges." Don Huckabee, organist and choir director, will play the following organ numbers: Prelude, Beethoven's Moonlight Sonata; offertory, Transcription of an old Hymn; postlude, Fanfare in G.

Ronald Coleman In 'Clive of India' At Craterian Theatre

The overworked superlatives seem futile indeed when one comes to estimating the merits of "Clive of India," which brought the personable and popular Ronald Colman to the Craterian theatre yesterday.

But, until a better term is coined we must be content to tag it "great," "magnificent" and "stirring" entertainment.

It is a new Colman—a star of unsuspected power, whom you will see in this presentation.

The true story of Robert Clive, who

Screen Lawyer

"The Case of the Howling Dog," baffling mystery murder drama, is now at the Rialto, with Warren William and Mary Astor in the stellar roles.

Not only is the picture one of the strangest mystery plays screened, but it is climaxed by a sensational murder trial in which a beautiful society woman faces the hangman's noose, charged with the killing of her husband.

Low and McLaglen at Rialto

Edmund Lowe and Victor McLaglen are up to their old habit of trying to outdo the other at the Rialto theater, where their newest co-starring picture, "Under Pressure," plays today and Saturday.

Cast as a couple of roughneck "Sand Hogs" as the tunnel men of the river are called, the two rivals find themselves in one thrilling adventure after another, both on the job and in their playtime chase of girls.

Included in the supporting cast are Charles Hickford, Florence Rice and Marjorie Rambeau.

more effective than ever—in a word, to give the greatest performance of his career.

Loretta Young, too, evidences new powers and gives an unforgettable portrayal of the lovely English girl to whom Clive wrote, proposing marriage, after seeing her picture in her brother's locker—the girl who arrived in India to accept him, only to find her poor clerk magically risen to heroic heights through having bodily taken charge of the army and quelled a rebellion.

Nevada Kid

The roaring days of the early west, when the local sheriff's forces were unable to cope with outlaws and bandits and citizens formed vigilante committees are vividly brought to the screen in Bob Steele's starring western, "The Nevada Buckaroo," now playing at the Studio theater.

conquered an empire at 16—who rose, by his own faith and genius and daring, from a poor clerk in the East India company to become England's greatest hero, fits Colman like the proverbial glove, and he takes full advantage of every opportunity to be more dashing, more spirited and

Coming Sunday

When Lu, the movie soubrette heroine of "The Good Fairy," comes Sunday to the Craterian theater, embarked on her career of doing good deeds for others, she little thought that she would be forced to the extremity of picking a husband for herself out of the telephone book!

But when she introduced herself to an enormously wealthy wealthy gentleman, from whose golden board she fondly hoped to scatter riches, honors and happiness about the world, she soon discovered that, for her own protection, it would be necessary to provide herself with a husband to present to the impatient millionaire. So she passes herself off as a married woman of the fashionable world as a defense against his advances. She has no husband, but she gibbly tells her admirer that her husband is a lawyer. To further his suit, the millionaire offers to give this lawyer all of his legal business.

Margaret Sullavan plays Lu, while Herbert Marshall is the struggling lawyer and Frank Morgan the rich "big, bad wolf." Others in the cast are Reginald Owen, Alan Hale, Beulah Bondi, Cesar Romero, June Clay-worth, Matt McHugh and Anne Darling.
