

FARMERS SWITCH TO G. O. P. IS SEEN BY PARTY LEADER

Revolt Against Bureaucratic Interference With Business Holds Hope of Return to Old Bandwagon

NEW YORK, March 19.—(AP)—Revolt of the farmers against a bureaucracy that directs their business and their return to the Republican party were predicted today by John Hamilton, general counsel of the Republican National committee and national committeeman for Kansas.

Speaking before the school of politics of the Women's National Republican club on "the party and the west," Hamilton said:

"I know you will question that statement on my part, having in mind the results of the last election, but if you were to take the vote as it was then cast and analyze it, I think you would come to an astounding conclusion, for you would find that in district after district Republican candidates materially increased their votes over 1932 in rural communities, only to find themselves defeated in the cities where governmental patronage, in one form or another, was a controlling factor."

To reclaim the farmers, he said, the Republican party must recognize its obligation to them. Their recent bolting from the Republican party followed their discovery that local governments favored special privilege to industry at the expense of their rights. The same conditions that bred the populist party, Hamilton said, created the non-partisan and farmer-labor groups.

The depression began for the farmer, not in 1929, but in 1920, Hamilton explained, continuing:

"There was talk of increased tariffs, co-operative associations, farm boards, all of which were considered and some were given trials. Yet there was no substantial relief and we swung into the campaign of 1932 with farm prices at their lowest ebb . . . Disgusted and dissatisfied, the Republican farmer had come to the state of mind where he was willing to abandon his party and ready to turn to anyone who would promise him relief."

It's so convenient to keep a package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the kitchen. Serve it as a cereal. Use it also as a healthful ingredient in your cooking. For muffins, breads, omelets, waffles, etc.

ALL-BRAN brings your family the "bulk" that is so helpful in correcting common constipation.

Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. In severe cases, with each meal. How much better than risking patent medicines!

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" and vitamin B to aid regular habits. This "bulk" is similar to that in leafy vegetables. ALL-BRAN is also rich in iron for the blood.

Special processes of cooking and flavoring make Kellogg's ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable than ordinary raw bran.

And because it is all bran—with only flavoring added—it brings you more "bulk" than part-bran products.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

You find me the welcome third. I am always the same, always mild, mellow, fine-flavored, friendly to your throat. I am made of center leaves, only. Those small, sticky top leaves are sharp and bitter. Sand and grit destroy the flavor of the bottom leaves. But the choice center leaves grow to mellow ripeness, preserving every bit of fragrant tobacco flavor. I am made from these fragrant, expensive center leaves. I do not irritate your throat. This gives me the right to sign myself "Your best friend."

TALENT CITIZENS STUDY IMPORTANT MATTERS OF DAY

Organizing under the title "Talentophiles" (a combination of Talent and the Greek word Adolphian, meaning brotherly, or pertaining to brothers) a group of adults interested in the study of new projects of local and national interest have banded together for afternoon and evening classes in Talent.

O. K. McCurtain has been elected president of the club, with Jack Kelly as vice-president and Mrs. Effie Thurston as secretary and afternoon instructor. Karl Baylor has been named educational instructor.

The initial impetus was given to the club when Mrs. Alice O'Byrne, in February of last year, was given one of the Talent school rooms for a government sponsored class in civics. At the end of the term so many of the members were reluctant to give up the work that it was decided to carry on privately, meeting at the homes of the members. Constitution and by-laws were adopted, officers elected, and the name "Talentophiles" chosen.

The motto of the club is "With Our Youth We March On." Qualification for membership is high ideals, belief and practice of the Golden Rule, with no class distinctions. The meetings are open, and visitors are welcome, and the club appreciates comments and criticism.

The study-club plans of Chicago and Des Moines were combined into a form best suited to the Talentophiles' own needs. Since its inauguration, the club has studied and reported on various phases of the national administration, subjects pertaining to school work, banking problems, and problems of purely local interest. Classes in English, Spanish and applied psychology have been formed for study in the afternoon sessions, meeting once a week.
