

EUROPEAN SANITY STILL HOLDS SWAY MAJORITY BELIEVE

No Immediate Danger of War But Another Armageddon Coming Unless National Security Solved

By FRANK H. KING (Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press) LONDON, Eng., March 20.—(AP)—A consensus of official and public opinion gathered from European capitals today is that there is no immediate danger of war, although the old world is headed eventually for another Armageddon unless the problem of national security is solved.

Despite the ominous situation, the opinion was that sanity holds the upper hand in Europe. Major Alfred Duff Cooper, financial secretary of the treasury, in a speech yesterday said the recent event clarified the position, "making plain what many have been thinking and believing, but there is no cause for despair."

He did not minimize the situation as the most dangerous since 1914, but asserted "four great European countries who desire peace—Great Britain, France, Italy and Russia—should stand solid together for peace and make it plain to the world that they intend for peace to be continued."

It remained for the London Times, "The Thunderer," calmly to point out that Sunday—the day when the impact of Adolf Hitler's proclamation was most violently felt—a German football team played a French team in Paris before a crowd of 45,000.

War, in French public opinion, depends entirely upon Germany. It was declared authoritatively that no one in France had any intention of going to war because of Hitler's denunciation of military clauses in the Versailles treaty.

To the extent that German rearmament increases her power and thus may produce territorial demands, it is felt the present situation holds danger for the future. The great problem, therefore, it was declared, is "how far will Germany go?"

French officials have demanded that Hitler prove his desire for peace through deeds rather than words, and asserted thus far "his deeds" have destroyed the reassuring tone of his words.

German public does not question the passionate, pacific assurances from the lips of Der Fuehrer, or his aides—"so long as others leave us alone."

General Werner von Bomberg, minister of defense, said Sunday Europe is too small a battlefield for another world war, which must be avoided for the sake of coming generations.

INCOME TAX RETURNS CITED AS PROOF THAT DEPRESSION IS OVER

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—Speaker Byrns scanned today a treasury forecast indicating about a 20 per cent jump in March income tax collections, as compared to a year ago, and then said: "We're out of the depression. As soon as business begins to find that out, our troubles will be over."

"There's nothing that gives a better indication of the true condition of business than tax payments. When they drop, look out; when they rise, that's a very healthy sign." He said, however, that to encourage business and the whole country "congress ought to finish up its job and go home as soon as possible."

Other democratic leaders expressed the view that the tax figures indicated congress may escape having to levy new taxes at this session. One Rep. Sam Hill (D., Wash.), went so far as to venture that even the $98-500,000 initial outlay in the social security program could be financed without increasing taxpayers' load.

DYNAMITE VICTIM JOSEPH LOUIS IS INQUEST VERDICT

That a man identified as Joseph Louis, a transient about 40 years of age, committed suicide Friday, March 8, by blowing himself to bits with 400 pounds of dynamite in an explosion near Lake Creek, Ore., was the decision of a coroner's jury in an inquest held here late yesterday afternoon.

Investigation by state police led to the belief that Louis broke a padlock from a tool chest near the dynamite cache, and procured dynamite caps wherever he set off the explosion, according to Coroner Frank Perl, who conducted the inquest. There is little doubt that the victim of the blast was Louis, as testimony of Lake Creek ranchers linked together to form a complete chain of evidence that Louis was in the neighborhood immediately preceding the explosion, and that he was in a restless state of mind.

William Chapman, one of the ranchers who testified, said a man identified as Louis spent the night at his house, where he was given food. Chapman said the transient talked hardly about having been "run out" of Medford, and being afraid to return. When asked where he was going, the transient referred to the Klamath Indian reservation, but a thorough check-up by state police failed to establish further identity at the reservation.

Chief of Police Claitous McCredie reported that a man answering Louis' description and giving that name had been lodged in the city jail March 4 on a vagrancy charge, and had been turned out the following morning with orders to "float." He had been arrested on the streets of Medford and seemed in a bewildered condition.

"Hap" Nygren of Lake Creek was reputedly the last to see Louis alive. He said he passed the latter on the McAllister Springs road 20 minutes before the explosion, and said the transient was headed toward the dynamite cache. State police traced footprints directly to the scene of the explosion, which left a gaping hole 10 feet deep.

ACTIVES TO SEND BOY TO JAMBOREE

John Niedermeyer was spokesman for the Boy Scout committee at the regular meeting of the Active club at Hotel Medford last night, addressing the membership on sending a Boy Scout of troop 16, sponsored by the club, to the national Boy Scout Jamboree to be held at Washington, D. C., August 21 to 31, inclusive.

The club went on record as favoring the sending of a boy to the jamboree. The Scout will be selected from troop 16 by the Boy Scout committee, which is composed of Earl Sims, chairman, Jack Butler, John Niedermeyer, Dr. Dwight Findley and Kenneth Anderson.

The following new members were accepted: John Jensen, Eugene Dowling, Harry Eldon, Dick Applegate and Paul Eidegaard, all of whom took the oath.

It was announced that the attendance contest sponsored by the club ended last night, the team captained by Chester Hubbard losing to the team captained by Jack Butler.

HIGHER BUTTER BOOSTS OLEOMARGARINE SALES

SALEM, Ore.—(UP)—Oleomargarine sales have shown a large increase again since the butter price has been worked back to a reasonable standard, said J. D. Mickle, head of the division of foods and dairies of the Oregon department of agriculture.

In 1934, the oleo sales advanced 20,517,235 pounds over those of 1933 in the whole United States, reported Mickle. With the price of butter at such a phenomenal low during the depression the country drifted away from the artificial product and now, with the rising prices is returning to it to a considerable degree.

A new organization, the Institution of American Fats and Oils, is boosting the sale of oleomargarine, said Mickle.

VENEREAL DISEASE SENATE FAVORS TAKES LARGE TOLL AIDING SCHOOLS

SALEM, Ore.—(UP)—More than 8 per cent of the population of Oregon is afflicted with some sort of venereal disease, reported the state board of health.

Only a third of this number is under treatment, and less than a quarter of the cases are ever reported to health authorities, said the board. "It is definitely known," said State Health Officer Frederick Stricker, M. D., in a report, "that from 10 to 15 per cent of all cases of insanity is due to syphilis. The disease also causes 20 per cent of heart diseases. Gonorrhoea causes 60 per cent of blindness of the newborn and 10 per cent of all blindnesses."

Venereal diseases cost the state $1,000,000 a year, half the amount in medical treatment and the other half in loss of wages. They rank next to measles and common colds as the leading communicable diseases.

MORE DOG FOOD THAN MILK SOLD IN CANS. SALEM, Ore.—(UP)—Sales volume of canned dog foods, a comparatively new product, has surpassed that of canned milk reported Dr. W. H. Lytle, chief of the division of animal industry of the state department of agriculture.

So new is the practice of selling ready-made dog rations that many unreliable brands are on the market, warned Dr. Lytle. Dog owners can make their own canine rations quite cheaply, Dr. Lytle's report said. Raw meat, skimmed milk, carrots, spinach, tomatoes, bran, rice polishes and a little commercial cod liver oil form a substantial diet for any dog, when properly proportioned.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—The senate today adopted an amendment to the $4,800,000,000 relief bill earmarking $40,000,000 for allocation to states to maintain public schools for the remainder of the present school year.

Senator Cutting (R., N. M.), who offered the amendment, said a preliminary survey had shown unless federal aid is given 3,000,000 pupils will have to quit school in 26 states April 1, when 42,000 schools with 102,000 teachers would be forced to close.

S. O. OSTEOPATHS MEET IN G. PASS

A regular meeting of the Southern Oregon Osteopathic society was held Monday night at Grants Pass, at the home of Dr. Elaine Pruitt.

On the program were moving pictures of recent experimental work in the medical profession, and also on operative technique. Dr. W. J. Crandall of Ashland was the principal speaker, with "Indications for Refraction of Eyes" his subject.

Refreshments were served by the host and hostess and the 100 per cent membership agreed that the evening was both educational and enjoyable. The next meeting will be held in Medford the third Monday in April.

WITHDRAWS CANDIDACY FOR HIGHWAY BOARD

MARSHFIELD, Ore., March 20.—(AP) Withdrawal of his candidacy for a position on the state highway commission was announced today by Roy G. Currier of Lakeside, who had been endorsed by most of the civic organizations along the southern coast.

Currier said Governor Martin "has shown such deep interest in southwestern Oregon, as well as for the state at large, that I do not think it expedient or fair that he be called upon to appoint a man from this district for this important post."
