EVANS VALLEY, March 27.—(Spl.)—Evans Valley P.-T. A. met Tuesday evening at the school house with a large attendance. The two lower rooms of Miss Davies and Miss Beatty presented a very good program including a short two-act play; reading, Master Donald Christopherson; harmonica solos, LeRoy Coo; song, Betty Ann Daugherty and Jacqueline Moore; folk dances by six little girls and a reading by Elmer Baker. During the business session Mrs. Inch, rural supervisor, gave a very interesting talk on "Tests." George McClure was elected captain of the Boy Scouts patrol with Mrs. Purrier for the Girl Scouts. The local Girl Scouts will go to Rogue River Wednesday evening to meet with scouts there for a social evening.

Saturday evening friends and relatives of Mark Neathamer gathered at his home to help him celebrate his birthday, spending the evening with cards and general conversation. At midnight a sumptuous lunch was served to the 24 guests.

Enterprise Grange met in regular session Friday, beginning with a potluck supper for Grangers. An enjoyable lecture hour opened the meeting, which included songs by Grangers, roll call response of news events, solos by Miss Coleta Johnson and Emma Darland, and reading by J. H. Ralston. As this was the nearest meeting to St. Patrick's day the latter part of the hour was devoted to appropriate numbers, including a short talk on "Potatoes" by Inez Ralston and the legend of St. Patrick by Emma Darland. During the business session Kenneth Barneburg was initiated into the third and fourth degrees.

Remodeling of the Grange hall has gone forward rapidly, the new dining room being built and the partition between the main room and the old dining room torn out for the dance Saturday night. This almost doubles the floor space for dancing. Sunday the members met and while the ladies prepared dinner the men laid the new floor in the dining room and other needed finishings. Plans are being made for a hard times dance for next Saturday night with prizes for best costumes.

Mrs. Gene Moore has been seriously ill in the Josephine general hospital for the past week, but is now improving so that she may be moved home this week.

Sewing, conversation and music occupied the afternoon, at the close of which the ladies exchanged hot pads made during the session. Next meeting will be April 4 with Mrs. Mabel Mack present to give instructions in menu planning No. 2. These are very interesting lessons and all women of the valley are urged to attend and bring a covered dish for noon lunch.

UPSIDE DOWN STOMACH TO BE CORRECTED FOR SAN JOSE YOUNGSTER

SAN JOSE, Cal., March 27.—(AP)—Youthful Jimmy Neilson, cheered by hopes of restored health, sped eastward by train today for a delicate operation to right his "upside down" stomach.

The prospect of weeks in a hospital failed to daunt the spirit of the 13-year old boy as he traveled toward Fall River, Mass., where Dr. Philemon Truesdale has promised him an operation gratis.

Jimmy left here last night with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Neilson, after a successful city-wide campaign to raise $1,000 expenses.

Just before the lad boarded his train, he was handed a $33 check by Don George, student body president of his school. Jimmy's eyes filled with tears as he offered thanks for the money contributed by his schoolmates.

The case came to Dr. Truesdale's attention when the boy wrote a letter to Alyce Jane McHenry, wishing her a speedy recovery and revealing he suffered from a similar ailment. Shown the letter, Dr. Truesdale offered to help the boy.

BABY REGISTERING DRIVE SUCCESSFUL

SALEM, Ore.—(UP)—The state-wide drive to effect full and complete registration of all babies born in Oregon has been unusually successful, said Dr. Frederick D. Stricker, state health officer.

Similar campaigns have been carried on in 23 states under the direction of the federal census bureau and the SERA. Of this number, Oregon, with 97 per cent efficiency, stands in second place.

"Nothing could be more reassuring for the future of our state and country than to give children the best possible start in life," said Dr. Stricker. "This looks like a new deal for babies."

"If parents and physicians will recognize the importance of reporting births within ten days, as required by law, there is no need for any registration difficulties."

Last year, Morrow, Polk and Sherman counties all had 100 per cent registration of births. Multnomah, with 99.6, Marion with 98.8, Coos and Harney with 98.6 and Lane with 98.4 were other high ranking counties. Malheur, with 82.2, was the lowest county in the point of birth registration efficiency.

VAST DRAINAGE PLAN LEAVES LAND TOO DRY

NORWALK, Ohio — (UP) — Several years ago, thousands of dollars were spent to drain surplus water from the vast celery marsh tracts at Celeryville, near here.

Now it has developed the draining was overdone. The marshlands are going dry. Celery growers said the water table has fallen to such extent that crops have matured only with the greatest difficulty, because of aridity.

Celery field owners, to prevent their interests from being wiped out by lack of water, are planning construction of an eight-acre lake with a 12-foot depth. Federal aid for irrigation also may be sought.

FARMERS' UNION LAYS PLANS FOR EXTENDED FIGHT

Hopes to Join Forces With American Federation of Labor Eventually — Many 'Wants' On Program

By VALCO LYLE
United Press Staff Correspondent.

TYRONZA, Ark.—(UP)—Although the Southern Tenant Farmers' Union sprang up in northeastern Arkansas to defend sharecroppers against alleged illegal evictions by landlords, the union has long-range plans.

The union, organized here in July, 1934, eventually wants to unionize southern farm tenants like industrial workers have been organized. It hopes some day to have a union organized strong enough to be recognized by the American Federation of Labor.

Other "wants" include a minimum wage scale of 30 cents per hour for a 12-hour day and time and a half for overtime, better living quarters and schooling for their families, definite agreements with landlords regarding making crops and labor, and fair treatment in various government plans to control crop production.

No Recourse.

"We want to share in writing the cotton acreage reduction contracts," Ward H. Rodgers, 24-year-old former FERA instructor and union executive committeeman, told Gov. J. M. Futrell of Arkansas in an interview.

"We have no recourse when a tenant is summarily evicted under the present contracts. A case is on appeal to the state supreme court now, but before the court can act everybody will be evicted who is going to be and the cotton will be planted," Rodgers complained.

Rodgers predicted unless the governor or other authorities intervened to stop the alleged evictions, "trouble will break out."

Right to Meet.

Governor Futrell said the union had a right to meet and discuss union plans without molestation, but said there was nothing he could do about it.

"Civil authority," the governor explained, "is vested in the courts and the county officers. It cannot do anything to remove them, and I cannot send National Guardsmen into their country to enforce the law, unless the county authorities request it."

"The courts and the county officers are controlled by the planters," Rodgers suggested.

Governor Agreed.

"I suspect that is true," the governor agreed.

The union at present is in an embryonic stage. It includes only about 4000 to 5000 members, mostly in Crittenden, Cross, Poinsett and Mississippi counties—in the rich Mississippi delta and tributary cotton-planting sections of Northeastern Arkansas.

H. L. Mitchell, 29-year-old executive secretary, told the United Press the union had about 25 locals in the four counties, two near Potage, Mo., and seven or eight in and near Muscogee, Okla.

UNIQUE TIMEKEEPER 150 YEARS OLD NOW DOING REGULAR DUTY

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill.—(UP)—A timekeeping masterpiece made 150 years ago in Switzerland and handed down to Mrs. Grace Rathell Oliver of this city, has been overhauled and again is telling time in its unusual and accurate manner.

Not only does the clock strike the hour, but on the hour the 12 Apostles come through a door at the base of the clock and receive a blessing from Christ, who appears at a center door. A music box plays "Stabat Mater" as an accompaniment, while a monk tolls the number of hours by striking a bell with a hammer.

Another bit of hand-carved pageantry enacted by the clock shows 20 gay Swiss couples swinging along behind a piper while the music box plays Mendelssohn's "Wedding March."

At the top, in a painted reproduction of a Swiss mountain landscape, a "sun" moves across the sky and changes its position according to the time of the day recorded on the clock. Below is a dial on which arrows point to the days of the week, the days of the month, the month of the year, approaching church holidays and the signs of the zodiac.

Another dial indicates every fourth year as Leap year. The correct season of the year also is indicated by another arrow.
