PORTLAND COUPLE BANDITS HOSTAGES IN WILD CAR RIDE

CHICAGO, March 27.—(AP)—The two persons whose car was commandeered and who were held as hostages on last lap of Mauston, Wis., bank bandits' wild flight to Chicago were disclosed today as Ella G. Brodie, 30, a traveling salesman of Portland, Ore., and his wife, Birdie.

Brodie, a division sales manager of the Spring Cushion Egg Carton company, was returning with his wife to Chicago from a business trip to Minneapolis when the three bandits, flourishing revolvers, crowded their car into a roadside ditch near Janesville, Wis.

Mrs. Brodie said one bandit held a pistol to her side the entire distance. "As they crossed the Illinois-Wisconsin line," she said, "they let out whoops of joy and began to sing. One of them thrilled through 'The Isle of Capri.' They sang other songs, too. I didn't think much of their singing and the pistol, but otherwise they were courteous."

Captured after a flight during which they kidnaped six hostages and evaded the police of two states, three young men were said by police today to have confessed the attempted robbery late Wednesday of the State Bank of Mauston, Wis.

Emmett Mouton, assistant state's attorney, said the three had signed extradition waivers and would be started back to Wisconsin this afternoon.

The men held are Michael Monczynski, 21; Edward Cudecki, 22; and Thomas Stopa, 21, all of Chicago.

After Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan, Moyrinhart and Sheriff Rieder last questioned the prisoners until almost dawn, they announced that the three had made a confession.

The prisoners face possible charges of attempted bank robbery, kidnaping, auto theft, and assault to kill. One of the bank employees was wounded slightly by the raiders.

Mrs. Brodie is a sister of Dr. E. D. McDaniel, president of the Portland Automobile association.

DRAFT NRA BILL IN ATTEMPT TO AVOID STRIKES

and they knew it, but they're trying to keep it alive by bulldozing the little fellow. And this Alabama man who defied every part of it was allowed to tell 'em where to go."

The bill was presented to the senate shortly after William Green, president, had thrown the American Federation of Labor's support back of an extended NRA and demanded also enactment of the Black 30-hour week bill.

Basis for Discussion.

Harrison emphasized to newspapermen, as he introduced the bill, that it was purely a basis for discussion and probably would be subjected to further changes, particularly the section dealing with the anti-trust laws.

He explained he was introducing the bill to ameliorate as much as possible the uncertainty which he said was disturbing business over the future of NRA and the government's policy toward business and labor.

The measure, he said, retained the labor section of the old law, section 7-A, without change, and provided for two kinds of codes—voluntary for most industries and limited codes to be imposed on the natural resource industries.

He said he believed the bill would eliminate all intra-state industries, such as the service trades, from operation of the law.

The testimony of Green refuted reports that labor had abandoned the 30-hour week plan in order to get NRA extended.

The leader of organized workers read a prepared statement condemning the recovery program as "the only plan which is available to us at this time for the rehabilitation of our economic system."

TOUVELLE SLATED FOR APPOINTMENT ROAD COMMISSION

File of Corvallis, state representative from Benton county; A. G. Marsters of Roseburg, and A. E. Peascoe of Medford, although the latter has declined to consider the position.

Governor Martin was understood to have taken the position that the commissioner from the first district should come from southern Oregon in order that he may be thoroughly familiar with the proposed improvement of the southern portion of the Pacific highway, one of the next big projects on the state highway program.

The only other suggested contender for Scott's place from the third congressional district has been H. B. Vanduzer, former member and chairman of the commission under four governors. Scott was appointed by Governor Meier in Van Duzer's place when the latter resigned.

Van Duzer has persistently refused to even consider accepting an appointment.

Father to Pac. Highway

Touville is known as one of the "fathers" of the Pacific highway in southern Oregon and as county judge during the early days of its construction had an active hand in the project. It was during his incumbency in office that Jackson county bonded itself for $500,000 for the improvement. He was one of those instrumental in pushing construction of the Siskiyou grade, which was graded by the county, and during his term the first pavement on the Pacific highway, that between Central Point and Medford, was laid.

Contrary to general opinion there is no provision in the law relative to the political affiliations of appointments to the highway commission and Governor Martin has stated that politics will not enter into his selections. The law only provides that there shall be one commissioner from each of the three congressional districts.

There was no indication that the proposed changes in the commission would result in any shake-up within the highway department. It was expected R. H. Baldock would be retained as highway engineer, and C. B. McCullough as assistant engineer in charge of bridge construction.

CROP LOAN BLANKS AT AGENT'S OFFICE IN NEXT FEW DAYS

Application blanks for emergency crop loans will be available within the next few days at the office of Robert G. Fowler, county agent, advised from Spokane said today.

The applications are practically the same as for the past three years, it was announced, with a per-acre allowance of $3 for general farm crops, $3 for irrigation, $25 for orchard materials, $12 for truck crops, and $8 for fertilizer on the truck crops.

This information is tentative, and may be changed. Fowler is awaiting advice from Washington on the matter at the present time.

The loans are to cover such expenses as seeds, fertilizer, spray and dusting materials, irrigation, tractor fuel and oil, and possibly a small amount for livestock used in producing the crops.

Interest on the loans has been set at five and a half per cent, payable on or before August 31, 1935. There is no charge for the application, but the borrower is to pay the notary expenses.

Anyone applying for one of the loans should be equipped with a complete legal description of his property, and must also produce figures to show the amount of yield for his acreage for the past two years.

Further information on this subject may be obtained by telephoning County Agent Fowler's office, but not before Saturday, it was announced.

A MESSAGE FROM W. K. KELLOGG

EVERY ONE is interested in the country's improvement. We will have found economic recovery only when every one does his share.

As we see it our duty is threefold: first to provide the American farmer with a fair market for his crop; second to give employment to as many people as possible; and finally to supply a wholesome food at a low cost.

When we introduced the original Corn Flakes nearly thirty years ago they were spontaneously received. They were crisp and tasted good and they were ready to serve. Year by year we enlarged our factory, hired more workers, bought more premium corn from the farmers.

Two years before NRA we adopted a six-hour working day for our twenty-six hundred employees at good pay. This meant four shifts of six hours and enabled us to give employment to twenty-five per cent more people than in pre-depression times.

Kellogg's Corn Flakes are enjoyed daily by millions of people—far more than any other ready-to-eat cereal on the market. We appreciate your preference and will try constantly to give you a better product at greater value. Today you get twice as much in Kellogg's at one-half the price you paid for corn flakes before the war, 1903 to 1914.

Meanwhile both package and product have been steadily improved. Special processes—exclusively our own—keep Kellogg's Corn Flakes oven-fresh and flavor-perfect right to your table. You can buy them at grocers anywhere with full confidence in their guaranteed purity and quality.

We make only one brand of Corn Flakes—Kellogg's—in the red-and-green package.
