REYNOLDSTOWN, A 25 TO 1 SHOT, IS AINTREE WINNER

Prince was second and John Hay Whitney's American owned Thomond 2nd, third.

Golden Miller, the heavy choice and winner last year, fell the first time around the course after being up with the leaders during the early stages of the race.

Reynoldstown, which needed in the waiting during the last few days, was never far off the pace, as Uncle Batt, a rank outsider, showed the way to the half-way mark. Blue Prince, also an outsider, is owned by Lady Lindsay.

Thomond Falls Near End Thomond 2nd, third also last year, led over the final jump, but failed badly in the final 300-yard dash to the finish line. Reynoldstown pulled away after the final fence to win by three lengths, while Blue Prince was eight lengths in front of the American owned horse.

On the second time around the two-mile course, Reynoldstown took the lead from Thomond 2nd at Beachers Brook with Blue Prince third. Whitney's jumper moved to the front again at the canal turn, however, and apparently had the race well in hand when he weakened in the final dash. Reynoldstown carried 138 pounds, 11 more than was packed by Blue Prince, one of the lightweights of the field of 27. Thomond 2nd had 167 pounds in the saddle with Jockey Speck handling the reins. Blue Prince closed at 40 to 1 and Thomond 2nd at 9 to 2.

Six Finish Only six finished the course. Lazy Boots was fourth, Uncle Batt fifth, and Bachelor Prince sixth. The four other American-owned entries, including Castle Irwell, owned and ridden by George H. (Pate) Bostwick, fell either the first or second time around the course.

Nobody in the main stand knew when Golden Miller went down but thousands gasped in disappointment when he failed to appear the first time past the judges' stand. The bookmakers danced with joy.

The Bostwick-Castle Irwell combination looked great the first time around, running a strong second to Uncle Batt. The American sportsman dropped out of competition quickly, however, as Thomond 2nd, Blue Prince and the winner moved to the front.

The three leaders took the next to the last hurdle almost together and then Thomond 2nd forged to the front by a narrow margin. He was unable to stand the pace, however. When the first three horses crossed the line no other horse was in sight.

Favorite Falls Early Golden Miller fell at the first fence after Valentine's Brook on the first trip around the course. Reynoldstown was clocked in nine minutes and 21 seconds, one second slower than the record established by Golden Miller last year.

Clear, sparkling weather gave the spectators the finest visibility in many years for the famous steeplechase.

The Prince of Wales witnessed the race from the royal box at canal turn.

Great Britain declared a holiday. This was the most gruelling steeplechase in the world—four miles, 856 yards, with 30 jumps.

The field was the smallest since 1920, when only 24 started the hazardous trip.

The Grand National course consists of 16 jumps, all but two of which are taken twice in a double swing around the circuit.

Most famous and dangerous of the obstacles is Becher's Brook. This is a thorn fence five feet high and three and one-half feet wide with a brook five feet 3 inches wide on the far side.

Another spot that annually takes its toll of contenders is the canal turn, a dangerous jump with a brook on the take-off side.

Some New Beverages With A Pineapple Juice Base

By Jane Rogers

OF all the natural fruit juices none is more palatable than that of prime ripe pineapples. It is delicious, zestful and appetizing without the addition of another ingredient, although some add ice in serving it. The epicures, though, will tell you that a better way to make it cold is to chill it in the refrigerator while it is still in the tin, and then serve as soon as possible after opening.

Delicious though it is as a straight drink, as a prelude to meals, or as a pick-me-up when fatigued, the natural unsweetened juice of the delectable fruit from Hawaii is an excellent base for a wide variety of mixed and fancy beverages. Here are some tested recipes that you will want to keep on hand once you have tried them:

Delight Cocktail

1 cup Hawaiian pineapple juice
1 cup tomato juice
Juice of 2 lemons

Mix the pineapple juice and tomato juice with the lemon juice, chill and shake well before serving.

Hawaiian Frappe

1 1/2 cups sugar
1 pint water
1 cup orange juice
1 quart Hawaiian pineapple juice

Boil sugar and water together for 5 minutes. Add orange juice and pineapple juice and cook, strain and freeze to a mush. Serve in sherbet glasses.

Bridge Cocktail

2 cups Hawaiian pineapple juice
1/4 cup orange juice
4 teaspoons lemon juice
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons powdered sugar

Mix all ingredients and sweeten to taste. Serve ice cold with one maraschino cherry in glass.

Four Fruit Juices

1 cup fresh Hawaiian pineapple juice
1 cup orange juice
1/2 cup grape juice
1/2 cup lemon juice

Mix and thoroughly chill the fruit juices. Serve in glass cups or cracked ice.

Honolulu Frappe

1 quart Hawaiian pineapple juice (finely crushed ice)
Fill frappe glasses 3/4 full of crushed ice and pour over pineapple juice to fill glass, garnishing with a strawberry, maraschino cherry, or mint leaves, or a bit of crushed pineapple. Arrange glasses on small plates and accompany each with a teaspoon.

Serve as first course at a luncheon or dinner.

MRS. BEBB WILL SING IMPORTANT PART IN OPERA FRA DIAVOLO

Roberta Ward Bebb will sing the part of Lady Aliceah in the forthcoming production of the opera "Fra Diavolo" which is to be presented by St. Mark's Altar Guild shortly after the end of the Lenten season.

Mrs. Bebb is well known to Medford and Rogue River valley audiences both for her accomplishments in musical activities and her many appearances in local plays. In Fra Diavolo the part for which she has been chosen will give her full range to her delightful mezzo soprano voice which admirably fits the character and will also call for the skillful acting of which she is fully capable.

Before coming to Medford, Mrs. Bebb studied at the National Academy of Music in Carnegie Hall and after graduation continued her musical education at the Institute of Musical Art of the Juilliard School of Music, also of New York, to which latter school she returned in 1923 for an extended summer course. Her vocal studies were under the tutelage of Maestro Alfredo Martino of New York and later studies were pursued with Fraser Lange, head of the voice department of Peabody Conservatory, Baltimore.

As a member of the Junior Players Club in New York Mrs. Bebb was identified with the staging of their productions and in her three years' association with the organization gained an enviable reputation as an accomplished actress.

BANQUET TONIGHT TO MARK ANNIVERSARY OF PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

This evening at 6:30, the Presbyterian congregation will be seated at their banquet tables celebrating their 80th birthday.

On March 29, 1855, the local church was founded. It is expected that at least 300 members of the congregation will be present and plans have been fully made to serve this number. The ladies of the church are working hard assembling the food for the dinner. Through the kindness of the Methodist Episcopal church extra tables, chairs and dinner service have been secured.

The program features a whistling solo by Miss Catherine Gribble and a vocal solo by Dr. W. W. Howard. The Chamber of Commerce will be represented by A. H. Banwell who will give a message of greeting. Rev. G. P. Kabele, president of the Methodist Ministerial association will bring congratulations from that body. The Presbytery of southwest Oregon will send its best wishes by Rev. A. Theodore Smith, D. D., pastor of First Presbyterian church, Klamath Falls. Letters will be read from Mrs. E. P. Geary and Walter Pore, charter members.

bera. Mrs. Geary is the widow of Dr. E. P. Geary, a pioneer physician of this community. Rev. Weston P. Shields will preside during dinner and the program of the evening.

"Coffee-Floating" golfers get out of rough

NED GREEN'S breakfast-par was two cups—of coffee! But he hadn't made it for a long time. This morning, Ned set down his half-emptied cup and looked at Nellie. "I think we've been in the rough long enough on this business of coffee," he said. "What do you say we stop floating around from one kind to another, and get back on the fair-way with Hills Bros.?"

"I'll tell you, Nellie, coffee is like a putt. You don't know whether or not it's good, until it's actually in the cup. What we've been drinking is just a water-hazard, as far as I'm concerned."

"In other words," Nellie laughed, "Hills Bros. is a cup-winner. I'll get some today."

He hadn't made a par for a long time
