"Mississippi" Opens at Craterian

Combining melody with uproarious comedy, "Mississippi" starring Bing Crosby, with W. C. Fields and Joan Bennett in the principal supporting roles, opens a three-day run at the Craterian theater today.

Crosby plays the role of a romantic youth in the old south who sings, duels and charms the ladies with equal ease. Fields is the commodore of a Mississippi showboat, who admits himself to be the world's champion callopie player.

The story follows Crosby's career from the time he first arrives to claim the hand of his lady love, his disinclination to fight for her, and his joining Commodore Johnson's showboat troupe.

Under the Commodore's tutelage, he develops into the river's most notorious gambler and pugfighter but, when prepared to return for his light of love, discovers he has fallen for another charming Dixie belle who, contrarily, doesn't like her man the fighting type.

Taken from the famous play by Booth Tarkington, the picture has several new song numbers, sung both by Crosby and the Five Cabin Kids, a group of colored youngsters.

The only woman ever legally hanged in North Carolina was executed at Morgantown in 1822 for the murder of her husband.

Now at Roxy

Greta Garbo is at the Roxy theater for today and Monday in the picturization of Somerset Maugham's gripping story, "The Painted Veil." Beginning in the dreary home of an Austrian scientist, and following the star's marriage to, and young British doctor, the story ascends to most vivid episodes of love, hatred and
