SENATE BALKS AT ANY REVIVAL OF L. OF N. QUESTIONS

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP)—Veering away from a proposal that he said might raise the "league" issue again, Chairman Pittman of the senate foreign relations committee today predicted speedy approval of two other measures intended to safeguard American neutrality.

Pittman's committee will take up next week the Nye and Clark resolutions to impose a virtual embargo on private loans to warring nations and to keep American citizens out of war affected zones by refusing them passports. Pittman (D., Nev.) saw little to prevent a quick and favorable report of both.

Other legislators, meanwhile, were preparing measures that would empower the president to declare outright and general embargoes on munitions shipments. Among them was a resolution to authorize such embargoes in agreement with other countries, directed at "aggressor nations."

Pittman said he saw little possibility the latter would be enacted. He predicted it would raise once more the whole question of the League of Nations and of avoidance of foreign entanglements.

Despite direct pressure, Mr. Roosevelt was unable to obtain senate approval this session for American adherence to the world court.

LITTLE BUSINESS ASKS MORE NRA

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP)—A chorus of small business voices pleading for extension of the recovery law formed the prelude today for a grand finale next week in the senate's NRA inquiry, with Hugh S. Johnson, former administrator, slated for the star role.

Spokesmen who said they represented thousands of little business men today told the senate finance committee that NRA instead of oppressing them had been their salvation.

As the fifth week of the investigation closed, Chairman Harrison announced the hearings would end next Thursday with the colorful Johnson as the last witness.

More Pay, Less Work

OLYMPIA, Wash., April 13.—(AP)—Six lumber and plywood companies here today had been served with formal demands by union workers for pay increases and shorter working hours.

THOUGHT CARRIED DIRECT TO PAPER FROM MANS BRAIN

Needles In Flesh Act As Telegraph Poles In Harvard Scientists Tests—Body Fatigue Also Shown

DETROIT, April 13 — (AP) — Thought was transferred silently and directly from the human brain to paper by electric wires here today.

The substance of these thoughts could not be read on the paper. But they recorded their passage through the brain with startling distinctness.

With a similar hook-up also the muscles of the human body telegraphed an electric record of their fatigue and wrote it on paper.

Both experiments were shown by Harvard scientists to the Federation of American Societies for experimental biology. In both cases the body supplied all the electric current, energies of a few millionths of a volt which naturally flow uninterruptedly throughout life.

Fine needles thrust into the flesh painlessly with aid of anesthetics acted as telegraph poles. Wires attached to the needles carried the body's electrical messages.

For thought recording one needle was in the scalp, the other in the part of the ear used for earings. The brain messages were amplified enough to move a pen.

The experiment began with a man sitting still, his mind and body both at rest. The needle traveled a wavy line, with about nine waves a second.

"Close your eyes," he was told.

As he did so, instantly the waves became larger, and a trifle slower. Their rhythm showed even a more restful brain with eyes shut than open, probably because the eyes were no longer busy seeing objects in the room.

"Now multiply in your head 21 by 32," he was commanded.

Almost instantly the waves ceased. In their place the ink line became smooth, as if pressure were placed on it.

In a moment the man spoke the answer, "672."

As he did so, the waves came back to the electric current produced by his brain.

Then a surprise. The waves stopped abruptly—the smooth line came back. Then the man said:

"Yes—672—that's right."

He had been checking his result. The needle recorded this check—thought before he could speak it.

As he finished the check, the waves came back.

BRIDGES, FRISCO AGITATOR, SEEKS STRIKE CONTROL

SEATTLE, April 13.—(AP)—Pacific coast shipping had a new case of the "jitters" today as attention centered on the meeting here Monday of the council of marine crafts and the anticipated fight for control of the session.

E. B. O'Grady, council president, has been quoted as saying that "if control is wrested from him a marine strike is inevitable."

Six hundred union leaders from seaports of three states will attend the meeting, among them the militant Harry Bridges of San Francisco, representing his International Longshoremen's association.

Called the flag-bearer of the left-wingers, Bridges is one of the sponsors of the league of twenty-six maritime unions formed to present a "united front" of organized water-front and marine workers.

Conservatives say they are afraid he will direct a revolt and march toward another strike.

Meanwhile, the oil tanker seamen's strike was at a standstill, the strikers awaiting the outcome of the meeting today. Mike Lotter, seaman, was recovering from buckshot wounds received last night in a clash between striking seamen and officers at a pier where a tanker was unloading gasoline, with the aid of non-union workers.

CODLING MOTHS ENEMY OF APPLES

WASHINGTON—(UP)—The codling moth is Public Enemy No. One of the nation's apple eaters.

Lee A. Strong, chief of the Agriculture Department's Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, reports that the moth has become more destructive, despite the fact that growers have spent enormous sums in combatting the pest.

Strong believes the greater age of apple trees, abandonment of orchards and weather favorable to moth development are responsible for increased activity of the insect.

He said that by destroying cocoons in crevices beneath the loose bark of trees, in coarse trash on the ground, in containers used for wormy fruit, and in packing sheds, while the moths are inactive "the ounce of prevention that is worth, many times over, the pound of cure in the form of insecticides," could be instituted.

BRIGHT SENIORS OF IDAHO THINK MAYOS FILM TEAM

MOSCOW, Idaho, April 13.—(AP)—If Huey Long is a lightweight boxer, and Fiorello La Guardia is the dictator of Spain, two senior students at the University of Idaho got "100" in their quiz on current events.

Prof. Lawrence Chamberlain, a political science instructor at the university, turned these and other answers over to the press today.

One student came closer on the La Guardia question by saying that the mayor of New York, whose ancestors were Italians, is the Ambassador from Italy.

Bernard Baruch, New York capitalist who made headlines recently on his testimony in the senate munitions quiz, was identified variously as an orchestra leader, a professional baseball player, a radio singer, a motion picture director.

Gertrude Stein, the author who writes poetry and prose that few people can understand, is, according to three students, a social service worker, a communist deported for seditious writings, and a famous German contralto.

And the Mayo brothers, widely known surgeons of Rochester, Minn., are a team of movie actors, one student said.

NATION PESTERED BY ITS THEORISTS, FUN CLUB CLAIMS

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP)—The Gridiron club tonight celebrated its fiftieth anniversary with caustic satire on the New Deal, European diplomacy, and the gold question.

President Roosevelt was its guest of honor and, contrary to precedent, participated personally in one of the skits, that leading directly into his own speech, traditionally, with no reporters present.

The fun-poking ranged from a Barnum side show, with cabinet members as the freaks, to a new version of the Pied Piper of Hamlin in which the country was portrayed as plagued by Senators Long, Overton and Schwellenbach, Father Coughlin, Dr. Townsend and Gov. Olson.

The Pied Piper skit found the burgomaster informing the guests that the country was under a plague.

"We are gathered tonight," he said, "to free ourselves from the truculent therapeutics of Aesculapian idiots, from the doleful dietetics of disaster, from the precarious paregoric of preachers of pediculous prescriptions, from the cataleptic ipecac of chiropractic economists, and from the quasi-scientific sassafras of self-seeking saps. To win and to witness—Dr. Long, Senator Coughlin and Father Townsend."

OREGON STOCKMEN ASK MARKET AID

ONTARIO, Ore., April 13.—(AP)—Declaring the problem of financing the livestock industry critical, 100 stock raisers from eastern Oregon and southern Idaho completed organization of the Western Livestock Producers' Association, Inc., here today.

A legislative committee was named to start action immediately on drafting and steering legislation which will help ranchers finance their flocks and herds until marketing time.

T. N. Stanfield of Baker, Ore., was elected president of the organization. John Medlin of Harper, Pete Gandiago of Mountain Home, Ida., and A. Ballantyne of Caldwell, Ida., were named vice-presidents. Jesse B. Adrian of Ontario was elected secretary and treasurer.

END OF STREET CARS FORECAST

CLEVELAND (UP)—The electric street car will be a thing of the past within only five years, believes Peter Witt, nationally known traction expert and adviser to the Van Sweringen brothers.

Witt based his forecast on development of the Diesel engine. In five years, he believes, nobody will travel long distances except by plane.

"The Diesel engine, with its consumption of cheap oil and the wide cruising range it gives any vehicle it powers, is the engine and power producer of the future," Witt said.

Its present weight, now its major handicap, will be overcome by discovery of a new light, but tough metal that will bring it to a weight making possible its use exclusively in airplanes and automobiles, he said.

"We've moved so fast that at least one-third of the people in the United States are working at jobs now that were unknown 35 years ago. Just take the automobile, radio and airplane, with their allied groups, as instances."

AMERICAN LEAGUE BOSS SEES CLOSE RACE, TEAMS EVEN

By WILL HARRIDGE
President, the American League
(Written Especially for the Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, April 13.—(P)—To predict in early April what will be the outcome of the championship race in late September, with eight ball clubs participating, is merely guesswork. The uncertain thing, which is always liable to happen in baseball, might upset any early predictions.

I hope and am sincere in the belief that the American league will enjoy the best race we have had for years. There does not appear to be a single "pushover" in the league. Detroit is starting the season with their championship club of 1934 intact and may repeat. A poll of the newspaper writers has given Cleveland the edge, but the New York Yankees are confident, with the return to good physical condition of Combs, Dickey, Walker, Allen and Van Atta, that they will be the winners.

Boston has been greatly strengthened by the acquisition of Manager and Shortstop Joe Cronin and, should Pitcher Bob Grove show a return of his 1933 form, the Red Sox will be first place contenders.

Connie Mack spent 1934 in developing a new pitching staff, which now appears ready to go places, and if Jimmy Foxx develops the coaching ability Mr. Mack looks for the Athletics are going to be verey dangerous.

Washington handicapped by an unprecedented epidemic of accidents in '34 should again have its full strength on the field, and, if it has the pitching, will be fighting for a first division berth.

The St. Louis Browns, under the leadership of Rogers Hornsby, made a very enviable showing on their spring exhibition trip and will give a good account of themselves.

The Chicago White Sox have shown terrific batting punch in their spring exhibition games, and with two or three young promising pitchers to replace the fading veterans might be the surprise of the league.
