ANOTHER CRISIS FACES HITLER ON EVE OF BIRTHDAY

An Austrian customs inspector, Hitler rose without wealth, without influence, to become in turn an immigrant, house painter, a World War private, and in 1919, the leader of a group of seven, nucleus of the national socialist party.

Wanted All or Nothing.
In 1932 he ran for the presidency, lost to Von Hindenburg, but polled 14,500,000 votes.

He turned down Von Hindenburg's offer of the vice-chancellorship in June, 1932, demanding all or nothing. On January 30, 1933, he was named chancellor.

PALM MEMORIAL DEDICATION HELD IN CITY PARK

held at Kenton, Ohio, on the 3rd day of March, 1861.

"They moved to this city in the early spring of 1860. Medford, at that time, was merely a village with a population of about 200. Practically all of the business buildings were on the east side of the Southern Pacific railroad. There was not a foot of paved street or even a cement sidewalk in the entire village. Bear creek furnished the only source of water supply and was used not only as a protection against fire but for most domestic purposes as well. Some of the drinking water, however, was derived from shallow wells scattered throughout the town.

"Filled with strength and vigor, this young couple established their home in the midst of these surroundings and both lived to see Medford grow to a prosperous and thriving metropolitan city.

"By the exercise of good judgment, thrift and unceasing effort they succeeded in acquiring considerable property in this city and county, from which investments they later realized a substantial and comfortable income.

"Having fully enjoyed nearly fifty years of actual and continuous residence in Medford, and having met with success in their prudent investments, Mr. and Mrs. Palm naturally felt that they would like to leave to the citizens of this city and valley, present and future, some fit and suitable token of their esteem. With that aim in view, they spent much time and thought to that worthy and worthwhile object.

"Before their plans were fully matured, however, death overtook Mr. Palm, who passed away in this city on the 17th day of June, A. D. 1933, leaving Mrs. Palm and a host of friends to mourn his departure.

"Undaunted by her great loss, through the death of a loving husband, Mrs. Palm determined to complete alone the plans she and Charlie had so long worked upon, and which each had hoped to see accomplished before death overtook either.

"Considerable correspondence and negotiations were carried on with the heads of the departments of art of the universities of Oregon and Washington, and Mrs. Palm personally visited several institutions of art in the larger cities of the United States in quest of information or suggestions which might aid her in choosing the most useful and suitable design for the desired purpose.

"After thoroughly considering the many suggestions made, and examining models submitted, Mrs. Palm chose the design, considered largely by herself, and now fittingly embraced and included in this beautiful and useful structure which she and Mr. Palm now take pride in presenting to the people of this city.

(Statue unveiled at this point.)

"Lovers of all mankind, the great out-of-doors, animal life in general, and dogs and birds in particular, Charles and Callie Palm have here sought to provide for the comforts and amusements of each.

"As you observe from your survey of this structure, the prevailing and outstanding figure is that of youth, strong, happy and hopeful, represented by this figure of the boy just budding into manhood.

"At the westerly end of the structure a drinking fountain has been provided where men, women and children may freely refresh themselves by drinking the pure and sparkling mountain spring water from Medford's million dollar water system, a fit and worthy substitute for the putrid waters of Bear creek.

"Surrounding the statue will be observed a spacious pool of this same pure spring water, restful and refreshing to the citizens who visit our park daily in quest of rest and quiet, for whose convenience also, seats at the sides of the pool have been provided. In the pool water lilies have been planted which will later blossom, giving an additional beauty to the pool and its surroundings.

"By the side of the boy you will observe two beautiful dogs, fit and loving companions to every worthy while boy or man. Show me a person who has never loved a dog, and I will show you one who has failed to grasp one of life's greatest pleasures.

"U. S. Senator George G. Vest once made use of this beautiful tribute to continue affection and fidelity: "Ladies and Gentlemen: The best friend a man has in this world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son and daughter, that he has reared with loving care may become ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name, may become traitors to their faith. The money that a man has he may lose. It flies away from him when he may need it most. Man's reputation may be in a moment of ill considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees and do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw the stone of malice when failure settles its cloud upon our heads. The one absolutely unselfish friend a man may have in this selfish world, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is the dog.

"Ladies and gentlemen, a man's dog stands by him in prosperity and poverty, in health and sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground when the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he may be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer. He will lick the wounds and sores that come in encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince.

"When all other friends desert, he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens. If fortune drives the master forth an outcast into the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him, to guard him against danger, to fight against his enemies, and when the last scene of all comes and death takes his master in its embrace and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends forsake their way, there by his graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws and his eyes open in alert watchfulness, faithful and true even to death."

"At the easterly edge of the pool a fountain has likewise been provided at which man's faithful friend, the dog, may also enjoy the refreshing coolness of pure mountain springs, while at the base of the statue will observe a bird bath, in which the birds of the air may take their morning dip.

"Nearly a year ago, the Oregon Granite company of this city took the contract for the completion of the structure and the work has progressed from that time until completion, under their management, and under the general supervision of T. K. Flynn of the Flynn Electric company of this city, who also installed the electrical appliances in connection with the structure.

"An examination of the finished product is a strong recommendation of efficiency on the part of each of these firms, and I am pleased to state that the work progressed to completion without any dissension or misunderstanding of any nature.

"Outside of the statue itself, and the sculpturing thereof, all material used in the structure is of Jackson county origin, and all work was performed by local labor.

"The marble used in the statue is the white imperial Italian marble from the Carrara marble quarries at Carrara, Italy, and the sculpturing was done there. As you will observe, it is of the very highest quality. The Oregon Granite company, in securing the statue, worked through the H. A. Whiteacre company of New York city.

"On the granite base of the statue you will observe this simple inscription: "Dedicated to the city of Medford by C. W. and Callie Palm, 1934."

"At this time, Mr. Mayor, gentlemen of the council and citizens of Medford, I take great pleasure in introducing to you Mrs. Callie Palm, widow of the late Charles W. Palm, who has graciously provided this beautiful improvement to our park, and comfort to our citizens, and who at this time presents to you the title to this memorial.

"Accept it, care for it as its high qualities merit, and preserve it for the present and future use and benefit of the people of our city and valley. May they derive as much pleasure and satisfaction from its use as Mrs. Palm has experienced through presenting it to them; is the fervent wish of our mutual friends, Charles W. and Callie Palm.

"I thank you."

This was followed by the acceptance address from Mayor Porter: "My dear Mrs. Palm, it is indeed a pleasure to me as mayor of this city to accept from you, this very beautiful and useful gift to the people of this city and valley. I wish to thank you most sincerely, and to assure you that the members of the city council, and our citizens generally, greatly appreciate your thoughtfulness in providing this beautiful structure for the use and enjoyment of the people of this city. I can assure you that it will be maintained by the city in the future, in its present state of beauty and usefulness, and that it will be cherished as coming from two of the oldest and most respected citizens, of this city, yourself, and Mr. Palm, whom we knew and greeted as Charlie.

"I have known both you and Mr. Palm very well for more than forty years, and I can never forget the pleasant associations which I had in my boyhood days through visiting at your home, and associating with Charlie, and the ponies and dogs which he kept, not only for his own gratification, but for the use and enjoyment of the young boys of this city generally.

"Both you and Charlie were a source of great inspiration to the young boys and girls during my early childhood days, and I see among those present, many who, like myself, are now turning gray, but who look back upon those happy days spent at the Palm home in pleasant association with the pets kept by you and Mr. Palm, as some of the happiest days of our lives.

"I wish to congratulate you upon the effort and thoughtfulness displayed in the creation of this beautiful statue and pool. It certainly shows much thought, and is emblematic of the life spent by you and your estimable husband in this city, for you have here incorporated the ideals which you and he entertained throughout your entire life, for the boy, the man, the dog and bird life, all so beautifully and appropriately embraced in this magnificent gift which you have made to our city and people.

"For years to come this monument will stand as a token of love and respect entertained by Charlie and yourself for the people of this community, and I can assure you that the gift is accepted by the people of this city as a fit and suitable token of your love for them, and their high regard and esteem for you and your late husband.

"Therefore, Mrs. Palm, as mayor of this city, and as councilman of the city of Medford, we hereby gladly accept from you this beautiful, fit and useful gift to the citizens of this city and valley, and publicly acknowledge our most sincere gratitude to you, and the late Charles W. Palm for this magnificent structure. Be assured it will be preserved and maintained in its present condition of loveliness, beauty and usefulness for the future enjoyment of our citizens.
