

PORTLAND BUTTER MARKET WEAKER THAN ELSEWHERE

PORTLAND, Ore., April 23.—(AP)—Weakness in the butter market appeared far more severe at Portland than elsewhere along the coast.

Late session of the produce exchange showed a further loss of 1/4 lb. each for extra and standard and 1c for prime first and first. The exchange set the price to retailers on prints at a loss of 1/4c for extras and 1c for standard.

What made the decline in butter look a trifle out of line was the fact that no reduction was made in the buying price on butterfat.

While quotations were unchanged a slightly easier feeling was suggested in the market for eggs. Increased offerings were showing and some of the storage operators were less keen about taking hold.

Strong tone was showing for live chickens with a full cleanup of supplies over the Easter holiday. Sales of both medium and colored hens were being made a fraction higher.

While there was a merely steady tone for top block hogs, heavy weights and sows were scarce and in firm request. Sales of heavy were around 12 1/2c with sows 14c.

Rather easy trade continued in the market for country killed calves but tops were unchanged at 12 1/2c but heavy stuff as well as mediums were meeting with favor.

Slower tone was showing for country killed yearling lambs around 10-11c with ewes weak at 4-6 and spring lambs generally 14-15c.

First onions of Texas Bermuda onions of the season was brought in by United brokers and was priced by the trade at $3.75-3.85 per 50-lb. bag. Quality was reported good.

California Garnet potatoes were a trifle easier at 7 1/2c as are the Hawaiian.

Old potatoes were firmly priced. Hazelton-Irion asparagus was offering 90c to $1 for 12s.

Shirley Adds Year, One Inch, Seven Pounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Shirley Temple fans now get one inch and seven pounds more of their little favorite each time they see a Temple film than they did when first the curly-headed baby star made the world stand up and cheer.

For Shirley is "growing up." On April 23, which incidentally is Shakespeare's "birthday," too, she will be six years old, and at Fox studio, where she is giving Will Rogers a race for top box office honors in 1935, there will be a birthday party as there was last year when Shirley was only five and not quite so famous.

At six, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Temple of Santa Monica can look back upon greater fame and success than many actors attain in a lifetime. It began three years ago, when the Temples let her sing and dance in short films because she seemed to enjoy singing and dancing and the movies wanted her.

Earnings: $52,000 and Up
Fox found a spot for her in "Stand Up and Cheer" and she danced and sang away with the picture. Following the whole film world was following the title's suggestion—for Shirley Temple. She got a raise from $150 to $1,000 a week, with about one-fourth that figure extra as compensation for her mother, who is in constant attendance. So Shirley three months from now, on completion of her first year at this weekly wage, will have to her credit approximately $52,000 with interest. Her father, branch manager of a bank, is investing her earnings for her.

How much Shirley will have earned before she is "through" in pictures is uncertain. Jackie Coogan was making pictures through his twelfth year, and so is Jackie Cooper, 12 now. When Shirley was on the verge of her present fame her mother, known in Hollywood as a sensible woman, said Shirley would remain in films as long as she enjoyed them. Today she has the same attitude. When the time comes, Shirley will be sent to finishing school. Other than that, there are no plans for her future.

Still "Unspoiled"
The studio-parental campaign to keep Shirley "natural and unspoiled" has been successful or appearance deceives. The child, who has her own star bungalow, is not excited by seeing pictures of herself, and by now when she sees her name in lights she spells it out only so far as S-H-I-R-E before she says, "Oh, that's my name," and drops the subject as if in disappointment that the sign developed into nothing more interesting.

When she received the applause of all Hollywood with her academy statuette of honor recently, she accepted her mother's explanation for the acclaim without question. "They're giving you this, Shirley, her mother said, "because you've worked hard and helped to make many people happy, just as all the people here tonight have worked hard."

She gets as many as 6,000 fan letters a week, and has a doll, a dress, a book, and a flower—a gladiolus—named after her. She gets a percentage of the profits on the first three, the flower being purely honorary tribute.

Judging from these pictures, the only thing that kept Shirley Temple from being the "darling of cinema-land" from her toddling days up was her failure to appear before a movie camera until she was five years old. The picture at the left shows Shirley at 8 months, when movieland, although just over the hill from her Santa Monica home, was still far away. At the right, she was "just two," and ready to start her education for a career as an actress. The center picture shows Shirley of today, much as she will appear at the big studio party April 23, celebrating her sixth birthday, and nearly the end of her first year as Hollywood's youngest reigning queen.

Wall St. Report

NEW YORK, April 23.—(AP)—Bullish sentiment for the metals and rats kept the stock market's chin up during most of today's session, notwithstanding some of the recent leaders slipped at times under profit taking. The list pushed up in the final half hour and the close was firm. Transfers approximated 1,250,000 shares.

Industrial news, earnings reports and dividend declarations continued to exert a pleasing influence on traders, but wheat broke about three cents a bushel at Chicago and New York cotton lagged.
