out of the country. Already several have sued. One Frank Wallace, said to have known Mae either personally or even more closely, was reported dead.

In New York, Jack Linder, producer of Mae West's "Diamond Lil" on Broadway in 1928, declared: "Sure Frank Wallace is dead. He died a year and a half or two years ago up in the Bronx. He had tuberculosis, you know."

Linder said he didn't know much about Wallace's personal affairs, but added that Wallace had been given a job in "Diamond Lil" at Miss West's insistence as a singing waiter at $35 a week.

Mae at first denied ever hearing of Wallace, but later remembered he had worked in the show.

She said she didn't recall his "front name" and only placed him when Jack Lurie, Hollywood actor also in the West play, recalled him to her mind.

Linder produced an old scrapbook with a photograph showing Mae, Wallace and others in the cast in the famed Bowery saloon scene.

EASTER ADDRESS BY REV. BARTLAM AT ROTARY MEET

One of the outstanding programs of the year for the Medford Rotary club was presented at today's luncheon meeting in the basement banquet hall of the Hotel Medford by Rev. E. S. Bartlam.

The enjoyable entertainment, featured by a special Easter talk by Reverend Bartlam, included a splendid musical program in which some of Medford's finest talent participated.

"Easter gives the key to life; it holds out rich promise of a wonderful, bright future beyond the narrow confines of our present existence." Reverend Bartlam told the Rotarians and guests. He entertainingly and forcefully pointed out that man, in his present, limited knowledge and restricted vision, cannot foresee the future, yet his development here will enable him to achieve greater things in life beyond this sphere.

Reverend Bartlam told the Rotarians and guests. He entertainingly and forcefully pointed out that man, in his present, limited knowledge and restricted vision, cannot foresee the future, yet his development here will enable him to achieve greater things in life beyond this sphere.

Reverend Bartlam's talk, especially appropriate for the first Rotary meeting following Easter Sunday, was enthusiastically received by the capacity audience.

Introducing the musical program, James Stevens delighted the Rotarians and guests with two vocal numbers. Sebastian Apollo accompanied Mr. Stevens. The leading male role in the opera "Eva Diavolo" to be presented at the Craterian theatre May 8, will be in the capable hands of James Stevens.

Following Mr. Stevens' numbers, Harold Brown, business manager for "Eva Diavolo," told those who attended today's Rotary meeting briefly about the coming production and listed the capable leads in this anticipated musical treat.

Appropriate to the Easter program, a quartet comprising Mrs. Elsie Carlton, soprano; Mrs. R. C. Donohue, tenor and Robert Wright, bass, gave an outstanding musical presentation of F. Schilling's "Christ Our Passover in Sacrificed for Us." Miss Dorothy Burgess accompanied on the piano. This excellent feature completed one of the Medford Rotary club's finest programs of the year.

Here Wednesday

Trans-Atlantic Merry-Go-Round, sparkling comedy drama with melody, mystery and romance, staged aboard a palatial ocean liner, comes to the Craterian theatre tomorrow.

A great cast of screen and radio stars is headed by Jack Benny, Nancy Carroll and Gene Raymond.

Benny is seen as a genial master of ceremonies, broadcasting from the high seas, while Nancy plays Sally Marsh, the star of his troupe, and Raymond is seen as a young Raffles who falls in love with her.

Among the famous screen and radio personalities who take part in Benny's broadcast are Mitzi Green, in her first grown-up role, Frank Parker, the Boswell Sisters, Patry Kelly, Jean Sargent and Jimmy Grier and his orchestra. Benny's famous satire, "Grand Hotel," is a high point of the program.

The passengers aboard the liner include Sydney Howard, who is known as England's Chaplin, playing a happy, harmless drunk; Sid Silvers as Raymond's comic confederate working as a steward; Sidney Blackmer as Lee Lother, a scoundrel Broadway racketeer who is pursuing Sally; Shirley Grey as a married woman who is infatuated with Lother; Ralph Morgan as her suspicious husband; and William Boyd as an escaped gunman who is stowing away aboard the liner.

The mystery deepens when Lother is found dead in Sally's cabin. Suspicion falls upon each in turn, and it takes a second murder to solve the first.

On the same program, the Craterian will have a "Walt Disney Cartoonland Revue," with six of the most popular Mickey Mouse and Silly Symphony cartoons. They include "Gulliver Mickey," "Grant Land" and "Camping Out" as the Mickey Mouses, and "The Big Bad Wolf," "Funny Little Bunnies" and "China Shop" as the Silly Symphonies.

Wallace Beery in Picture At Roxy

"The Bowery" will be the attraction for today and Wednesday at the Roxy theatre. It stars Wallace Beery, Jackie Cooper, George Raft, Fay Wray and Pert Kelton appearing in the principal roles.

Adapted from the novel, "Chuck Connors" by Michael L. Simmons and B. R. Solomon, "The Bowery" is a romantic comedy-drama of New York's giddy East Side thoroughfares in the giddy days of the wicked old 'eighties and the gay 'nineties. The characters in the story are taken from real life, including such famous figures as Chuck Connors, known as the "Mayor of Chinatown," Steve Brodie, who jumped Brooklyn bridge; Swipes, a newsboy; Carrie Nation, reformer; and John L. Sullivan, pugilist.

They do such things, and they say such things... but it makes swell entertainment!

Buildings destroyed were the Kelley establishment, the old stage terminal, Pete Schmidt's shoe shop, Kotter's Print shop, the "Duck" or "Swallow" restaurant, the Portland-Silverton Truck line and Webb Transfer, the Railway Express, Lester Gear Sign Painting shop, Brandt's second-hand store and a cleaning establishment.

Several trucks belonging to Albert Webb were saved. Two buildings on the northeast corner of the block escaped destruction.

Al Adams, owner of the Palace theater, and Webb were the heaviest losers. The theater was partially covered with insurance and the remainder of the block was meagerly insured. Mr. and Mrs. Adams, occupying apartments above the theater, were routed by the fire, and lost most of their personal effects.

Upper Rogue Grange held its first meeting in the McLean Log cabin the evening of April 18. Twenty-one candidates were initiated by the Eagle Point drill team, with more to follow. About 100 people were present for the meeting.

Rialto Stars

Tullio Carminati, who made such a hit with Grace Moore in "One Night of Love," comes to the Rialto theatre for tomorrow and Thursday, co-starred with Lillian Harvey, petite continental star, in "Let's Live Tonight."

Victor Schertzinger, who directed the Grace Moore picture, also was the guiding hand behind this new film play that uses music to enhance the romance.

It tells the story of an eager young American girl, summing in Monte Carlo, who falls in love with a man she believes to be a poor but honest gigolo. When she discovers him to be a wealthy man of the world preferring to love often but not too strongly, she is disheartened and encourages a younger and more romantic suitor, only to discover he is the brother of the desired Don Juan.

Edwin was indicted jointly with Solinsky and pleaded guilty. Donough charged that Solinsky ordered Edwin, over his protests, to sign false hiring cards at the park, and to cash checks made out to fictitious names during May, June, July and August, 1932. Donough said proceeds were turned over by Edwin to Solinsky, and the latter as superintendent approved all the payments.

Sixty-five government witnesses and 50 defense witnesses were excluded from the courtroom today.

ACQUIT BERRANG IN NON-PAYMENT OF DOG LICENSE

J. C. Berrang of Phoenix, charged with non-payment of a dog license was found not guilty, by a jury in justice of the Peace William R. Coleman's court this morning.

The jury, first reported with four of their number voting "not guilty," and one "guilty." The jury was ordered to return for further deliberation, and shortly returned with a verdict, all members agreeing.

The case was heard before a jury of five members, by agreement between state and defense counsel. The jury was composed of D. T. Lawton, William Smith, Robert Taylor, Frank Bellinger and George Walker.

District Attorney George A. Coddling said this afternoon he would call a conference with the Dog Control board composed of L. A. Salade, Jr., of Central Point, Theodore Fish, Jr., of Phoenix, and Dolph Phipps of Medford, to consider what action would be taken in the remaining dog cases.

Berrang, who won considerable publicity ten years ago, by driving a pair of oxen from Connecticut to Phoenix, in his defense, plead financial inability to buy a dog license, and that he was a breeder of dogs, and that the dogs did not run at large. He was represented by Attorney E. E. Kelly.

It was the second dog case in the past week, to result in a not guilty verdict, by a justice court jury.

PAYROLL PADDED TO BUILD CRAFT CLAIMS EX-AIDE

charges against E. C. Solinsky, deposed superintendent of Crater Lake National park, was selected Monday and opening arguments cleared the way for first government witnesses today.

Beside the defendant in Judge James A. Fee's court sat his attractively gowned wife and daughter, former leaders in Medford, Ore., social life, who came from their home in Berkeley, Calif., where Solinsky surrendered.

Solinsky was indicted on 14 counts including conspiracy to defraud the government by padding payrolls and presenting false claims. The total pecuniations, the government charges, were $2300.

United States Attorney Carl Donough in his opening statement said the principal witness against Solinsky will be A. R. Edwin, former chief clerk at the park.

GREENVILLE, Tex., April 23.—(AP)—Grand jury investigation was planned today in the case of Jackie Glen Harden, eight-year-old boy accused of slaying his mother while walking in his sleep.

S. P. Darden, the boy's father, said he was awakened before dawn yesterday by the discharge of a shotgun.
