HOLMAN HAS PLAN TO SAVE STATE COIN

SALEM, Ore., April 25.—(AP)—Confronted with the problem of depositing state funds to earn 2 per cent interest at a time when state deposits decline to accept interest-bearing money beyond a specified amount, Rufus C. Holman, state treasurer, today proposed a plan which would save the state $40,000 a year by the purchase of a million dollars PWA coast bridge bonds.

Holman said the highway commission now has outstanding in the hands of the federal public works administration for coast bridges bearing interest at 4 per cent. He stated he was advised the government was willing to surrender these bonds upon payment of par value.

The state treasurer has on hand at this time more than $9,000,000 in cash, of which about $5,000,000 does not earn interest because banks have refused to pay the 2 per cent. With this situation existing Holman suggested that the state highway commission sell to the state at least $1,000,000 of these bonds with 2 per cent interest for a period not to exceed four years.
