BROADWAY ACTOR READY TO PROVE MAE IS HIS WIFE

Frank Wallace Asks Milwaukee Register for Photostatic Copy of Marriage License Issued in 1911

MILWAUKEE, May 3. — (AP) — Whether it would change the "Wall Street betting" odds, he didn't know, but the register of deeds here today was willing to fill the request of a Broadway actor for a copy of the license the actor said he obtained here in 1911 when he married movie Mae West.

To Register of Deeds George A. Bowman, who held down a humdrum job until the Wallace-West license turned up here ten days ago, came a letter from Frank Wallace, 325 West 45th street, New York City, reading: "No Evidence Needed."

"Kindly advise me of proper steps necessary to obtain a photostatic copy of my marriage license to Mae West on April 11, 1911. Let me know what evidence or information you require."

Bowman said evidence and information was unnecessary, but a 50 cent fee would be needed. "Everybody who knows me on Broadway believes I was Mae West's husband," said Wallace in New York. "Why, Wall Street is betting 4 to 1 on me."

The actor said he still has his 1911 copy of the license, but "it's where I can't get it right now, in a secret place." He said he also had in a trunk in another "secret place" the letters from Mae who denied marrying this Wallace, a dead Wallace and several less fully identified husbands.

Mae in Long Denial Miss West recently told at length her reasons for remaining a spinster. Wallace said he had kept quiet through the years "because I didn't want to pull Mae down."

"But when I saw the story in the papers," he continued, "it was like a great light dawning and I saw no reason to deny it any longer."

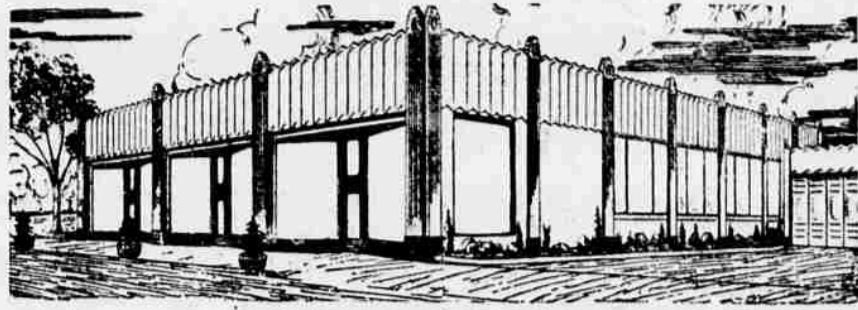

Wallace said James Timoney, Miss West's manager, obtained a divorce for him and the movie queen in 1916. "I didn't even have a chance to read it. I was in ill health and went right to the hospital after that," said Wallace.

Fluhrer's "Honey Krushed" Bread Is Latest Offering of Modern Bakery

With its latest product, Honey Krushed Bread, on the market and definitely "sold" to housewives of southern Oregon and northern California, the Fluhrer Bakery of this city has taken another step forward among the leading plants of its kind on the Pacific coast.

The phenomenal sale of Honey Krushed bread since the Fluhrer Bakery first introduced it to grocery men and housewives indicates that local consumers agree readily that "With Medford Trade is Medford Made." This fine bakery, completely and modernly equipped, is a large factor in Medford trade, having grown steadily for ten years, outgrowing its quarters twice before moving into the present structure at Sixth and Holly.

Before the advent of the Fluhrer establishment the wisdom of trading with local bakeries has been brought home to local food dealers, and as a result, the bakery now has a payroll of 80 people the year around. Thus a substantial sum of money is contributed each week to Oregon business, proving the soundness of the "Buy Oregon Goods" campaign. Maintaining a branch bakery at Yreka, Cal., and daily truck service to points as far south as Dunsmuir, Cal., the Fluhrer Bakery serves more than 500 food dealers. The modern headquarters for this remarkable service are always open to visitors for inspection.

Ancient Bible Exhibited MEAFORD, Ont. — (UP) — F. B. Knight has placed his 342-year-old family Bible on display here. The book, printed in 1591 by one John Wolfe, at London, England, is in splendid condition. It is believed to be the oldest Bible in Canada.

Pigeon Mattered Hen's Eggs HEIDENHEIMER, Tex. — (UP) — A dependent pigeon in the barn of Mrs. E. Brightwell here brightened considerably with the development of the "mother instinct." The pigeon was found "setting" on hen's eggs in a pasteboard box in the barn.

SILVER JUBILEE OF KING GEORGE WILL DEFY RAIN

Procession Monday Will Be in Closed Cars if Weather Man Unkind — Chain of Lights to Girdle Realm

By Oscar Leiding Associated Press Foreign Staff LONDON, May 2. — (AP) — Rain or shine, the big show of King George's silver jubilee—the procession to St. Paul's cathedral next Monday—will go forward.

An official announcement today that the weather would not be permitted to interfere with the great event stilled discussion of what would happen if May showers should make an unwelcome contribution to the occasion.

The only difference in the plans will be that in the event of unfavorable weather King George, Queen Mary and their retinue will ride in closed instead of open state landaus. Indians to Appear The picturesqueness and opulence of the East will be represented in the procession by four distinguished Indians, the Maharaja of Jammu and Kashmir, the Maharaja of Bikaner, the Maharaja of Patia and Nawab Malik Sir Umar Hayat Khan.

The majority of the ruling princes of Great Britain's eastern possessions have decided to remain in their own states to pay homage to the vicerey and take part in various durbars celebrating Accession day.

The day's events in Great Britain will include the lighting of a chain of 1,750 beacons illuminating the realm from land's end to John O' Groats. King George himself at the end of the day of thanksgiving will ignite the first of the chain by pressing a button in Buckingham Palace. An electrical impulse thereupon will set ablaze a conical beacon 20 feet high in Hyde Park.

Not a point in the country will be out of sight of an answering blaze. It has been planned. The ring of fire around England, Wales and Scotland will be answered by a corresponding girdle of flames around the six counties of northern Ireland.

Those in charge of the elaborate spectacle are prepared to keep their tinder dry so that the plans may be carried out even if it rains.
