

COLUMBO TAMES ROUGH HEALY IN ARMORY GRAPPLE

If the going gets tough for Jim Healy, pugnaucious grappler from San Francisco, things begin to happen, and they did in the headline bout last night at the Armory when the belligerent San Franciscan found himself outclassed by Casey Columbo, rubbery wrestler from Hollywood. Healy made the canvas seethe, but despite his roughness, Columbo was always one jump ahead, and the supple gentleman mauler eked out the winning fall via a shoulder butt and a body press.

Both weighing 218 and both surprisingly light on their feet, the match looked even-up when Timekeeper Viv Beach dusted off the goat. But when the bout had progressed a few minutes, the clever Columbo went to the back as he had won the first fall. Healy, finding that he had been tricked, started right then to tear Columbo limb from limb, but through-out the match the happy-go-lucky Casey was too quick and clever.

In eight minutes Columbo won the first fall with flying mares and a body slam. After that Healy went native in a big way and kicked Columbo into a pulp, taking the second fall in three minutes with a body slam and proving that he was a big, bad boy by kicking his foe in the ribs after Columbo was down. The last period saw plenty of fireworks, with both grapplers playing hide-and-go-seek behind the posts.

The first bout was a battle of legs. Joe Hubka, "Iron Man" from University of Nebraska, proving the better man by winning two straight falls from aggressive Glen Wade, Corn-buster from Winslow, Neb.

Although he was outwheeled 11 pounds by the 215-pound Wade, Hubka had an edge in speed that enabled him to keep Glen in a hot-box most of the time. At first the man from Winslow worked persistently on Hubka's famous educated legs, tying them in knots that plainly hurt.

Between the matches, which were refereed by Fireman Frisbie, music was furnished by Donney Heather's orchestra.

Promoter Lillard is negotiating to bring "Baron" Ginsberg here next week for a match with Columbo, who was the outstanding man on the card.

Results of the intensive practice sessions of the past several weeks are evident in the recent rehearsals of the opera. Fra Diavolo which have been held on the stage of the high school auditorium. Except for a few rough "spots" the show is ready for production right now, but Ralph Burgess and Wilson Wait, the stage and musical directors, are determined to present only a finished performance of the highest professional type.

Principals and chorus have the same feeling and as a consequence everyone is working to give the ensembles and action that polish which will rank the production as the outstanding musical event of the year. The three or four sessions between now and next Wednesday will be devoted to these finishing touches which is assurance that the capacity crowd anticipated will see and hear one of the most interesting operas competently done.

FURTHER CUT IN PRICE OF BETTER RESULTS IN PORTLAND COMPLAINTS

PORTLAND, May 3.—(U.P.)—Further cut in the price on butter during the late season of the produce exchange in face of a very good and satisfactory demand upon the open market. Has caused much complaint from operators and has caused the price on butterfat to show a loss of 1c pound all around.

Market for eggs was stronger with no change in general quotations but a weaker demand was showing. Offerings continued limited with a strong call for storage.

Increasing supplies have cut the price on small spring chickens commonly termed leghorns or white broilers. These were finding buyers around 16c, which is 1c less than previously.

While there was a surplus at the moment of small broilers, a scarcity of medium, light and heavy hens continued to be shown. Prices in these lines were held fully steady to firm.

Prices were being well held in the market for asparagus. Local stock was in fair best demand.

Two more cans of strawberries are reported in, one each from Fresno and Florida and more are due tonight for Saturday trading. Prices were steady and especially for the Fresno stock.

HOLLYWOOD JOINS SEALS, ANGELS IN RACE FOR SECOND

By the Associated Press.

Stockholders of the Pacific Coast League, to whom it's a case of the more the merrier, noted symptoms of convalescence in the still sickly circuit today as Hollywood joined San Francisco and Los Angeles in the battle for second place.

The Stars defeated Gabby Street's Missions, 6-3, to sweep the series and tie the Seals for the second berth.

Los Angeles, which took second place away from the Seals Wednesday, after losing it to them the day before, relinquished it a second time when the San Franciscans downed them, 6-4.

Despite their own seven errors, the Oakland Aacorns proved unable to outbaffle Pitcher Dick Barrett, who practically forced them to defeat Seattle, 4-3.

Portland got only five hits off Bill Hartwig, against Sacramento's "Hot" Carson, but managed to down the Solons, 3-1.

The guests present were Cecil Evans, representative of the Klamath Falls 20-30 club; Stanley Boggs and True Runyon.

"Jerry" Jerome took an active part in the meeting by acting as judge in a trial of members for alleged skipping of a date at the Jacksonville project, which is cleaning up the Jacksonville cemetery. Each club member who had failed to make an appearance was fined 50 cents.
